Ladys Ranch Life In Montana:

A Lady's Ranch Life in Montana Isabelle Randall, Richard L. Saunders, 2004 A faithful and unvarnished Record of a Settler's Life is how Isabel Randall described her letters when they were first published in 1887 Many foreign travelers published accounts of their visits to the American West but Randall was one of the few European women to write about the western experience from the inside In 1884 Randall and her husband settled on a ranch in Montana hoping to make their fortune in the livestock boom Randall's letters home to England describe the practical affairs of daily life rural social interactions and the natural world around her Her letters are cheerful but they also suggest why the Randalls ultimately failed to achieve financial success In this new edition of A Lady's Ranch Life in Montana Richard L Saunders supplements Randall's letters with notes and an extensive introduction drawn from a wealth of primary sources He sketches the Randalls lives before and after their western adventure describes the stock industry that drew them to Montana places Isabel's letters in the context of English attitudes toward Americans and discusses her neighbors reactions to her criticisms of local society

A Lady's Rancho Life In Montana I R (Isabelle Randall), 2023-07-18 Randall's vivid memoir captures both the beauty and the hardships of life in the late 19th century West With engaging detail she recounts her experiences living on a remote Montana ranch with her husband and young son navigating the challenges of homesteading and the joys of frontier life This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant

Nothing to Tell Donna Gray, 2012-05-01 Sitting at the kitchen tables of twelve women in their eighties who were born in or immigrated to Montana in the late nineteenth or early twentieth century between 1982 and 1988 oral historian Donna Gray conducted interviews that reveal a rich heritage In retelling their life stories Gray steps aside and allows these women with supposedly nothing to tell to speak for themselves Pride nostalgia and triumph fill a dozen hearts as they realize how remarkable their lives have been and wonder how they did it all Some of these women grew up in Montana in one bedroom houses others traveled in covered wagons before finding a home and falling in love with Montana These raw accounts bring to life the childhood memories and adulthood experiences of ranch wives who were not afraid to milk a cow or bake in a wooden stove From raising poultry to raising a family these women knew the meaning of hard work Several faced the hardships of family illness poverty and early widowhood Through it all they were known for their good sense of humor and strong sense of self

Westering Women and the Frontier Experience, 1800-1915 Sandra L. Myres, 1982 Contains letters journals and reminiscences showing the impact of the frontier on women's lives and the role of
