Land and Agrarian Reform in Zimbabwe Sam Moyo, Walter Chambati, 2013-05-13 The Fast Track Land Reform Programme implemented during the 2000s in Zimbabwe represents the only instance of radical redistributive land reforms since the end of the Cold War It reversed the racially skewed agrarian structure and discriminatory land tenures inherited from colonial rule The land reform also radicalised the state towards a nationalist introverted accumulation strategy against a broad array of unilateral Western sanctions Indeed Zimbabwes land reform in its social and political dynamics must be compared to the leading land reforms of the twentieth century which include those of Mexico Russia China Japan South Korea Taiwan Cuba and Mozambique The fact that the Zimbabwe case has not been recognised as vanguard nationalism has much to do with the intellectual structural adjustment which has accompanied neoliberalism and a hostile media campaign This has entailed dubious theories of neopatrimonialism which reduce African politics and the state to endemic corruption patronage and tribalism while overstating the virtues of neoliberal good governance Under this racist repertoire it has been impossible to see class politics mass mobilisation and resistance let alone believe that something progressive can occur in Africa This book comes to a conclusion that the Zimbabwe land reform represents a new form of resistance with distinct and innovative characteristics when compared to other cases of radicalisation reform and resistance The process of reform and resistance has entailed the deliberate creation of a tri modal agrarian structure to accommodate and balance the interests of various domestic classes the progressive restructuring of labour relations and agrarian markets the continuing pressures for radical reforms through the indigenisation of mining and other sectors and the rise of extensive albeit relatively weak producer cooperative structures The book also highlights some of the resonances between the Zimbabwean land struggles and those on the continent as well as in the South in general arguing that there are some convergences and divergences worthy of intellectual attention The book thus calls for greater endogenous empirical research which overcomes the preoccupation with failed interpretations of the nature of the state and agency in Africa

Labor and the Chinese Revolution S. Bernard Thomas, 2020-09-23 In the two decade period from 1928 to 1948 the proletarian themes and issues underlying the Chinese Communist Party's ideological utterances were shrouded in rhetoric designed perhaps as much to disguise as to chart actual class strategies Rhetoric notwithstanding a careful analysis of such pronouncements is vitally important in following and evaluating the party's changing lines during this key revolutionary period The function of the proletariat in the complex of policy issues and leadership struggles which developed under the precarious circumstances of those years had an importance out of all proportion to labor's relatively minor role in the post 1927 Communist led revolution 1 2

Revolution and Counterrevolution in China Lin Chun,2021-09-28 Over recent decades China has experienced massive change and development China is the world s fastest growing economy and has become a global superpower once again But this development has thrown up a number of seemingly intractable contradictions both political and economic In this panoramic study of Chinese history in the twentieth century and its place in the development of global capitalism Lin Chun argues that the paradoxes of contemporary Chinese society are not simply the product of the development of capitalism or modernity in the country They are instead the product of the contradictions of its long revolutionary history as well as the social and political consequences of its post socialist transition Published to coincide with the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Chinese Communist Party Revolution and Counterrevolution in China charts China s epic revolutionary trajectory in search of a socialist alternative to the global system and asks whether market reform must repudiate and overturn the revolution and its legacy World Agriculture ,1920
