Land Reform In Ukraine The First Five Years:

Land Reform in Ukraine Csaba Csáki,Zvi Lerman,1997-01-01 This study summarizes the first five years 1991 96 of agrarian reforms in Ukraine presenting the results of a farm level survey conducted in 11 provinces between January and March 1996 The findings show that the growth of private farming has slowed do

Land Reform in Ukraine Csaba Csáki,World Bank,Zvi Lerman,1998-07 This study summarizes the first five years 1991 96 of agrarian reforms in Ukraine presenting the results of a farm level survey conducted in 11 provinces between January and March 1996 The findings show that the growth of private farming has slowed down after a vigorous start and that the number of independent family farms appears to have stabilized at around 33 000 Distribution of land and asset shares has been completed in roughly half the farms surveyed Ukrainian agriculture remains dominated by large collective structures and the failure of large farms to adapt to new economic conditions has resulted in a distinct deterioration of their financial performance The survey suggests that land reform in Ukraine is in danger of stagnation and that the government must create the necessary institutional and market conditions to invigorate reforms

Two Roads Diverge Christopher A. Hartwell,2016-09-26 The dramatic events of Maidan in February 2014 shone a spotlight on the immense problems facing Ukraine At the same time that Ukraine was undergoing turmoil its western neighbor Poland was celebrating twenty five years of post communism with a rosy economic outlook and projections of continued growth How could two countries who shared similar linguistic cultural economic and political heritages diverge so wildly in economic performance in such a short span of time The main argument of this book is that institutions and more specifically the evolution or neglect of the particular institutions needed for a market economy explain the economic divergence between Ukraine and Poland This book discusses the evolution of key institutions such as property rights trade and the role of the executive branch of government to explain the recent relative performance of the two countries

Russia's Agro-Food Sector Peter Wehrheim,Klaus Frohberg,Eugenia Serova,Joachim von Braun,2012-12-06 This book analyzes the transition of Russia s agro food sector from a centrally planned system to a market oriented one The chapters set out to explain the initial conditions of transition describe the measures undertaken survey the current situation and offer perspectives on how best to continue with the reform Hence the book not only provides insights into Russia s food economy it also gives very valuable information about the process of transition and the question What next Within the Russian context the food economy is of special importance due to the relatively high share it represents in the economy and its importance for employment Furthermore the privatization and the restructuring of the country s agro food sector is one of the most controversial issues in the ongoing domestic political debate about the reform process Russia is also important in that its reintegration into the world economy is at stake Russia s Agro Food Sector Towards Truly Functioning Markets should increase the understanding of the issues causing the cumbersome implementation of reform measures and in so doing might provide scholars and policymakers with advice on how to improve the transition process In fact one of the most important lessons from the book is that markets will continue to malfunction as long as institutions are not functioning properly

Making Transition Work for Everyone World Bank,2000 Annotation This book brings together the latest findings on the nature and evolution of poverty and inequality in the region

The Political Economy of Independent Ukraine H. van Zon,2000-11-30 The Political Economy of Independent Ukraine analyses the reasons for the abysmal economic performance of Ukraine during the 1990s The main thesis is that economic development was blocked by a set of parasitic mechanisms at all levels of the economy that prevented the development of value added economic activities These parasitic mechanisms already developed under Soviet rule beating the system by redistributing goods and services while disregarding formal rules became a widespread practice

Ghana Shiyao Chao,1999-01-01 Ghana is an extremely diverse country ethnically culturally ecologically and economically Women and men play different roles undertake different activities and face different constraints Gender based differences in their activities and practices result from existing gender inequalities Because these gender differences are often fundamental to men and women s livelihoods understanding them is essential to designing policies and projects that will effectively reduce gender inequalities and promote sustainable development A growing body of literature indicates that reducing gender inequalities and increasing women s access to productive resources greatly improves both welfare and economic productivity Despite recent gains in some areas significant gender inequalities continue to limit women s capabilities and constrain their ability to participate in and contribute to Ghana s economy This report examines key gender inequalities and gender based differences in economic activities opportunities and constraints focusing on two broad areas the links between gender economic productivity and poverty and the development of human capital It is the result of the World Bank s recognition of the need to understand gender issues in order to develop strategies to deal with them and support the government s program to develop a gender strategy In addition it is intended to further the dialogue between the Bank the government other donors and nongovernmental organizations NGOs on how to reduce or eliminate gender specific constraints on economic development in Ghana

Economic Growth with Equity K. J. Langford,Christine L. Forster,Duncan M. Malcolm,1999 Latin America and the Caribbean Region Viewpoints Many articles have been written about the causes of financial crises in emerging market Much less attention has been devoted to the effectiveness of alternative policy responses and the ensuing process of recovery of the real economy This paper analyzes the adjustment process in the aftermath of speculative attacks in six countries Argentina Brazil Mexico Indonesia Korea and Thailand As implied by the title the main question to be addressed is whether the tales of adjustment in these Latin American and Asian economies were similar This comparison is interesting for several reasons The six countries came under the aegis of adjustment programs supported by international financial institutions and the associated policy prescriptions have been at the center of attention Of the six cases one is an example of a successful defense of the currency while another exemplifies a temporarily successful defense followed by an incomplete adjustment program The others experienced dramatic currency devaluations This small sample of episodes of adjustment also offers variety in the magnitude of the ensuing economic decline While the Mexican and Argentine crises of 1995 and even the Brazilian adjustment after the October 1997 attack against its currency were certainly costly the Asian crises have been deeper and the recovery of the real economy has been slower The paper draws policy implications for reducing the costs of the macroeconomic adjustment after currency crises Also available English edition 1999 52 pages Stock no 14541 ISBN 0 8213 4541 9 From Marx and Mao to the Market Johan F.M. Swinnen, Scott Rozelle, 2006-01-26 This book is the first effort to analyze the economics and politics of agricultural reforms by comparing the reform processes their causes and their effects across this vast region The authors draw on a vast set of studies and new data which compare reforms and economic impacts in more than 25 countries A series of conclusions and implications on the role of economic reforms in growth and the importance of initial conditions and political constraints in explaining the choices that were made and their effects are discussed throughout the book

BOOK JACKET Trade, Global Policy, and the Environment Per Fredriksson, 1999-01-01 QUOTE We live in an increasingly interconnected world Trade flows worldwide are growing rapidly and global production patterns are shifting as countries follow their comparative advantage in production via trade At the same time however there is growing concern about potential adverse environmental impacts from increasing trade QUOTE John A Dixon Lead Economist The Environment Department World Bank Interest in the trade and environment debate has intensified as a result of international trade agreements and because many proposed solutions to the climate change problem have potential implications for the global trading system Clearly more empirical work is needed to inform the debate guide policymakers toward solutions and help set priorities This volume is an attempt to further our understanding of the empirical links between trade and the environment Thirteen chapters which were presented as papers at a World Bank conference in April 1998 focus on three main themes 1 Effects of trade liberalization and growth on the environment 2 The QUOTE pollution haven QUOTE hypothesis 3 Economic instruments for resolving global environmental problems The papers address a number of different issues within each of the themes offering new data or new questions and approaches They are devoted to deepening our understanding and empirical knowledge of the various effects of trade liberalization Only through a firm understanding of the linkages involved can well founded policy advice be formulated Market-based Instruments for Environmental Policymaking in Latin America and the Caribbean Richard M. Huber, H. Jack Ruitenbeek, Ronaldo Seroa da Motta, 1998 To preserve the environment with the lowest possible cost to the social sector means that private costs should be aligned with social costs Many governments in the Latin American and Caribbean Region are doing this now using market based instruments MBIs This publication investigates the use of MBIs in the Latin America and the Caribbean LAC context The investigation covers a sample of eleven countries in the region and a cross section of environmental issues in an urban setting Fostering Competition in China's Power Markets Nouredine Berrah, Ranjit Lamech, Jianping Zhao, 2001-01-01 This book compares the recent evolution of the structure of inputs and expenditure in Armenia's general education with international norms and practice In the context of the government's sectoral reform strategy it also outlines various proposals for restructuring the system The purpose of this study is to clarify what the inefficiencies might mean for future costs and performance of the system highlight the trade offs involved and identify measures needed to overcome constraints to rationalization Choices in Financing Health Care and Old Age Security Nicholas Prescott,1998 In November 1997 the World Bank and Singapore's Institute of Policy Studies sponsored a conference Financing Health Care and Old Age Security to assess and identify potential solutions to these concerns It addressed a topic of concern to nearly every country developing and industrial that is how to deal with the implications of financing medical care and income security for rapidly aging populations The issues identified and the solutions proposed can provide insight and guidance for policymakers researchers and others interested in addressing these challenges now Of special interest are the contributors analyses of Singapore's unique integrated approach to managing social risk which is based on mandatory individual savings accounts Case-by-case Privatization in the Russian Federation Harry G. Broadman,1998 Since the advent of reform in 1992 the Russian authorities have made substantial strides toward creating a market economy through privatization Recently Russian authorities have established an institutional framework for a case by case approach that ensures transparency and competition through the use of independent financial and other advisers This paper contains the principal presentations made at a World Bank workshop on the lessons of international experience in case by case privatization Democracy, Populism, and Neoliberalism in Ukraine Olga Baysha,2021-12-24 This book explores the reasons behind the unexpected rise to power of Ukraine's President Volodymyr Zelensky a former comedian with no political background and offers an in depth analysis of the populist messages he delivered to the Ukrainian people via his TV show Taking a discourse analysis approach the author draws on two main arguments of critical scholarship the populist explosion of the recent decade came as a reaction to the inequalities and injustices of the global neoliberal order and the success of neoliberalism can be explained by its ability to mask itself under attractive progressive covers Developing these lines of argument the book demonstrates not only how the populist explosion can lead to further neoliberalization but also that the euphemizing effect can be achieved by mixing the virtual and the real as in the case of Zelensky This first of its kind study will resonate with any scholar or upper level student working on populism neoliberalism political communication media studies political science European studies Ukrainian studies and discourse analysis Evolution of Agricultural Services in Sub-Saharan Africa Venkatachalam Venkatesan,Jacob Kampen,1998-01-01 This paper traces the evolution of World Bank support to agricultural services particularly agricultural extension and research in Sub Saharan Africa It describes the Bank's experience with the implementation of national programs in agricultural extension and research and how these are evolving to face the problems of the future The paper concludes that participation of the beneficiaries in the design and implementation of programs is critical and will ensure the programs convergence towards rural development World Bank HIV/AIDS Interventions Julia Dayton,1998-01-01 The AIDS epidemic is one of the greatest development challenges of the 20th century Since 1986 the World Bank has supported member countries efforts to fight the epidemic in many ways including committing over US 550 million to HIV AIDS prevention and mitigation efforts This paper the first comprehensive study of all World Bank HIV AIDS related activities assesses the appropriateness of Bank interventions from the perspective of public economies and reviews the economic evaluation and implementation of projects Managing the Real and Fiscal Effects of Banking Crises Daniela Klingebiel,Luc Laeven,2002 This volume provides two recent analyses of government responses to financial crises they have been developed in the light of the recent East Asian crisis but also draw on experiences from other regions Issues discussed relate to the tradeoffs involved in public policies for systemic financial and corporate sector restructuring and the use of cross country evidence to determine whether specific crisis containment and resolution policies effect the fiscal costs of resolving a crisis The book also presents information on 113 systemic banking crises that have occurred in 93 countries since the 1970s as well as 50 borderline or non systemic banking crises in 44 countries during the same period Trade and Transport Facilitation John Raven,2001-01-01 The report focuses on transport facilitation in developing countries in order to help promote trade in exports and economic growth Each country has its own set of special characteristics including significant border entry and import points This report provides an analytical tool for those working in the field complemented by practical suggestions in order to identify facilitation problems and create effective remedial action plans This report is an expanded version of the publication Trade and Transport Facilitation An Audit Methodology ISBN 0821347195 published by the World Bank in 2000 Facets of Globalization Shahid Yusuf,Simon J. Evenett,Weiping Wu,2001-01-01 Since 1985 national economies have become increasingly integrated into a global network At the same time both population and production in developing countries are becoming concentrated in urban regions This in turn has generated demands for more local autonomy shifting more decision making to sub national levels Globalization is expected to continue leading to greater openness and international mobility of capital and people There are few reasons to believe that these trends will abate if anything they are likely to intensify the focus on cities and sharpen competition among these for international and local resources This volume underscores the transformative role of globalization and urbanization and shows the interplay between the two forces
