How Far She Went Mary Hood,2011-03-15 Mary Hood s fictional world is a world where fear anger longing sometimes worse lie just below the surface of a pleasant summer afternoon or a Sunday church service In A Country Girl for example she creates an idyllic valley where a barefoot girl sings melodies low and private as a lullaby and where you could pick up one of the little early apples from the ground and eat it right then without worrying about pesticide But something changes this summer afternoon with the arrival at a family reunion of fair and fiery Johnny Calhoun everybody s kind and nobody s kin forty in a year or so and wild in the way that made him worth the trouble he caused The title story in the collection begins with a visit to clean the graves in a country cemetery and ends with the terrifying pursuit of a young girl and her grandmother by two bikers one of whom had the invading sort of eyes the woman had spent her lifetime bolting doors against In the story Inexorable Process we see the relentless desperation of Angelina who hated many things but Sundays most of all and in Solomon s Seal the ancient anger of the mountain woman who has crowded her husband out of her life and her heart until the plants she has tended in her rage fill the half acre The madder she got the greener everything grew

Southern Writers Bear Witness Jan Nordby Gretlund,2018-07-15 Fourteen Southern storytellers reveal their influences methods and daily routines and struggles with the writing process Jan Nordby Gretlund has been studying the literature of the American South for some fifty years and his outsider s perspective as a European scholar has made him an intellectually acute witness of both the literature and its creators Whether it is their language and reflexive storytelling or the craft and techniques by which writers transform life and experience into art that fascinates Gretlund elements of their fiction led to his interviews with the fourteen storytellers featured in Southern Writers Bear Witness Gretlund believes a good interview will always reveal something about a writer's life and character details that can inform a reading of that writer's fiction. The interviewer's task according to Gretlund is to supply the reader with some of the sources and experiences that inspired and shaped the fiction. Through his conversations Gretlund also occasionally elicits the subjects' reflections on other writers and their work to discover affiliations, lines of influence and divergences, and he also emphasizes the enduring power of their work. His interviews with Eudora Welty and Pam Durban uncover strong family and community experiences found at the core of their fiction. Gretlund also turns conversations to the craft of writing: writers' daily routines and specific problems encountered in their work such as Clyde Edgerton's struggle with point of view. In other exchanges he investigates distinctive elements of a writer's work such as violence in Barry Hannah's fiction and religious faith in Walker Percy's. Still other conversations such as his with Josephine Humphreys touch on the pressures and opportunities of publishing and its influence on the writer's work. Taken together these authors' insights on life in the South provide a fascinating window into the creative process of storytelling as well as the human experiences that fuel it.

A foreword by Daniel Cross Turner, author of Southern Crossings: Poetry, Memory, and the Transcultural South and co-editor of Undead Souths: The Gothic and Beyond in Southern Literature and Culture and Hard Lines: Rough South Poetry is also included. Featured authors: Pat Conroy, Pam Durban, Clyde Edgerton, Percival Everett, Kaye Gibbons, Barry Hannah, Mary Hood, Josephine Humphreys, Madison Jones, Martin Luther King Sr., Walker Percy, Ron Rash, Dori Sanders, Eudora Welty.

A Clear View of the Southern Sky Mary Hood, 2015-07-30

A Clear View of the Southern Sky reveals women in the twenty-first century doing what women have always done in pursuit of life, liberty, and happiness. In each of the ten tales from southern storyteller Mary Hood, women have come by circumstances and choice to the very edge of their known worlds. Some find courage to winnow and move on; others seek the patience to risk and to stay. Along the way, hearts, bonds, speed limits, fingernails, and the Ten Commandments get broken. Dust settles, but these women do not. In the title story, a satellite dish company promises that happiness or at least access to its programming requires just a TV and a clear view of the southern sky. The short story itself reveals the journey of a Hispanic woman whose mission is to assassinate a mass murderer, an agenda triggered by post-traumatic stress wrought by seeing the murderer's cynical grin on a news program. We follow her into the shadow of an enormous satellite dish on a roof across the street from the courthouse and ultimately into a woman's prison. English as Second Language class where she must confront her life. She has slept but never dreamed, and now she wakes. In other stories, Hood introduces us to a kindergarten teacher stunned by a student's blurted-out question as she discovers her deepest vocation and the mystery of its source. We meet a widow who befriends a young neighbor only to realize they must keep secrets from each other and hold fast to their hope. A woman trucker discovers the depth of her love as she imagines her cell phone calls and her sweetheart's own messages winging their way tower to tower along her interstate route. Two stories deal with one man and two of his wives and how they learn the lessons only love can teach about the reach and limitations of ownership and forever The collection concludes with the novella Seambusters in which a diverse cast of women workers in a rural Georgia mill sew camouflage for U S soldiers in Afghanistan The women are part of a larger purpose and they know it When the shadow of death passes over the factory each woman and the entire community find out what it really means to have American Pride New York Times best selling writer and Story River Books editor at large Pat Conroy provides a foreword to the collection essays introduces a new group of fiction writers from the American South. These fresh voices like their twentieth century predecessors examine what it means to be a southerner in the modern world. These writers' works cover wide ranging subjects and themes: the history of the region, the continued problems of the working class South, the racial divisions that have continued the violence of the modern world, and the difficulties of establishing a spiritual identity in a modern context. The approaches and styles vary from writer to writer, with realistic place centered description as the foundation of many of their works. They have also created new perspectives regarding point of view, and some have moved toward the inclusion of magic realism and even science fiction in their work. The nineteen essays in Twenty First Century Southern Writers feature a handful of fiction writers who are already well known, such as National Book Award winner Jesmyn Ward, Tayari Jones, Michael Farris Smith, and Inman Majors. Others deserve greater recognition, and in many cases, works in this anthology will be the first pieces of analysis dedicated to writers and their work. Twenty First Century Southern Writers aims to alert scholars of southern literature as well as the reading public to an exciting and varied group of writers while laying a foundation for future examination of these works.

New York Magazine, 1994-09-19. Flannery O'Connor. R. Neil Scott, Irwin H. Streight, 2009-05-07. Despite Flannery O'Connor's brief life, her work comprising novels, short stories, essays, and articles has had a great impact on American literature and to some extent popular culture of the twentieth and twenty first centuries. Her writing has become well loved, well read, and often studied. This book reprints complete book reviews and excerpts from review essays on the works of Flannery O'Connor that appeared in newspapers and periodicals during the author's writing life, 1945-64, and after her early death. The more than four hundred edited reviews are prefaced with a substantial Introduction that situates O'Connor within the critical milieu of post war American letters and Southern literary tradition and provides an overview of contemporary critical responses to her collected stories, novels, and occasional pieces. An important resource for scholars of O'Connor and of Southern literature generally, this volume reveals much about her early reception and the continuing relevance of her work.

Postcolonial Nostalgias. Dennis Walder, 2010-11-17. This book offers an original and informed critique of a widespread yet often misunderstood condition: nostalgia, a pervasive human emotion connecting people across national and historical as well as personal boundaries. Often seen as merely escapist, nostalgia also offers solace and self understanding for those displaced by the larger movements of our time. Walder analyses the writings of some of those entangled in the aftermath of empire, tracing the hidden connections underlying their yearnings for a common identity and a homeland and their struggles to recover their histories Through a series of comparative reflections upon the representation in literary and related cultural forms of memory he shows how admitting the past into the present through nostalgia enables former colonial or diasporic subjects to gain a deeper understanding of the networks of power within which they are caught in the modern world and beyond which it may yet be possible to move Considering authors as varied as V S Naipaul J G Ballard Doris Lessing W G Sebald and Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie as well as versions of Bushman song Walder pursues the often wayward ambiguous paths of nostalgia as it has been represented beyond but also within Europe so as to identify some of those processes of communal and individual experience that constitute the present and by implication the future All the Days of My Life: An Autobiography The Red Leaves of a Human Heart Amelia Edith Huddleston
