Korea in the New World Order Kevin Magill, Diana Pritchard, Chris Rhodes, Hazel Smith, 2016-07-27 This book offers several perspectives on the contemporary position of North Korea It examines in the context of the post Cold War order US European Union and British foreign policy to North Korea and North Korean responses It investigates the tensions that could develop in North Korean state and society as the country faces an increasingly market oriented capitalist world and identifies the historical political and ideological foundations of North Korean society and culture The book is the work of a multidisciplinary team of scholars from Britain and the United States who work in the fields of anthropology economics history international relations social geography and sociology most of whom have conducted first hand research in North Korea The book also contains contributions from policy makers who have helped to form western policy towards North Korea

North Korea's Military-Diplomatic Campaigns, 1966-2008 Narushige Michishita, 2009-10-16 This book examines North Korea's nuclear diplomacy over a long time period from the early 1960s setting its dangerous brinkmanship in the wider context of North Korea's military and diplomatic campaigns to achieve its political goals It argues that the last four decades of military adventurism demonstrates Pyongyang's consistent calculated use of military tools to advance strategic objectives vis vis its adversaries It shows how recent behavior of the North Korean government is entirely consistent with its behavior over this longer period the North Korean government's conduct rather than being haphazard or reactive is rational in the Clausewitzian sense of being ready to use force as an extension of diplomacy by other means The book goes on to demonstrate that North Korea's calculated adventurism has come full circle what we are seeing now is a modified repetition of earlier events such as the Pueblo incident of 1968 and the nuclear and missile diplomacy of the 1990s Using extensive interviews in the United States and South Korea including those with defected North Korean government officials alongside newly declassified first hand material from U S South Korean and former Communist bloc archives the book argues that whilst North Korea's military diplomatic campaigns have intensified its policy objectives have become more conservative and are aimed at regime survival normalization of relations with the United States and Japan and obtaining economic aid

Kuypers, 1997-08-26 Kuypers combines rhetorical theory and framing analysis in an examination of the interaction of the press and the president during international crisis situations in the post Cold War world Three crises are examined Bosnia Haiti and the North Korean nuclear capability issue Kuypers effectively demonstrates the changed nature of presidential crisis rhetoric since the end of the Cold War Kuypers employs a new historical critical approach to analyze both the press and the Clinton administration's handling of three international crisis situations Using case studies of Bosnia Haiti and the alleged North Korean nuclear buildup in 1993 he examines contemporary presidential crisis communication and the agenda setting and agenda extension functions of the press The importance of this study lies in its timeliness President Clinton is the first atomic age president not to have the Cold War meta narrative to use in legitimating international crises Prior studies in presidential crisis rhetoric found that the president received broad and consistent support during times of crisis Kuypers found that the press often advanced an oppositional frame to that used by the Clinton administration The press frames were found to limit the options of the President even when the press supported a particular presidential strategy This is a major study that will be of interest to scholars and researchers of the press the modern presidency and American foreign policy

Primitive Selves E. Taylor Atkins, 2010-08-25 This remarkable book examines the complex history of Japanese colonial and postcolonial interactions with Korea particularly in matters of cultural policy E Taylor Atkins focuses on past and present Japanese fascination with Korean culture as he reassesses colonial anthropology heritage curation cultural policy and Korean performance art in Japanese mass media culture Atkins challenges the prevailing view that imperial Japan demonstrated contempt for Koreans through suppression of Korean culture In his analysis the Japanese preoccupation with Koreana provided the empire with a poignant vision of its own past now lost including communal living and social solidarity which then allowed Japanese to grieve for their former selves At the same time the specific objects of Japan's gaze folk theater dances shamanism music and material heritage became emblems of national identity in postcolonial Korea
