String Figures Caroline Furness Jayne,1906      String Figures as Mathematics? Eric Vandendriessche,2015-01-02 This book addresses the mathematical rationality contained in the making of string figures It does so by using interdisciplinary methods borrowed from anthropology mathematics history and philosophy of mathematics The practice of string figure making has long been carried out in many societies and particularly in those of oral tradition It consists in applying a succession of operations to a string knotted into a loop mostly using the fingers and sometimes the feet the wrists or the mouth This succession of operations is intended to generate a final figure The book explores different modes of conceptualization of the practice of string figure making and analyses various source material through these conceptual tools it looks at research by mathematicians as well as ethnographical publications and personal fieldwork findings in the Chaco Paraguay and in the Trobriand Islands Papua New Guinea which all give evidence of the rationality that underlies this activity It concludes that the creation of string figures may be seen as the result of intellectual processes involving the elaboration of algorithms and concepts such as operation sub procedure iteration and transformation An Introduction to String Figures Walter William Rouse Ball,1920 Contemporary Environmental and Mathematics Education

Modelling Using New Geometric Approaches Susan Gerofsky,2018-07-09 This book takes a fresh approach to using educational tools to solve profound problems in societies The authors bring perspectives from curriculum studies mathematics education environmental education and Indigenous epistemologies to a new consideration of geometries to think with These tools reveal the wealth of resources and interrelationships in our world that have the potential to reconfigure and revitalize education The transdisciplinary nature of the chapters and authors emphasizes the need for thinking beyond boundaries while respecting the wisdom inherent in intellectual disciplines and traditions String Figures and How to Make Them Caroline F. Jayne, This book may be regarded as an introduction to the study of String Figures games which are widespread among primitive peoples and played by weaving on the hands a single loop of string in order to produce intricate patterns supposed to represent certain familiar objects I have gathered together the facts already known concerning these games and adding my own studies and the unpublished records of other observers I have here described and illustrated the methods whereby about one hundred string figures are made My purpose has been twofold to interest other students in the subject in order that additional figures and their methods may be collected among various tribes and races and to reach a still larger public that more people may share in the fascinations of the games themselves The games are certainly fascinating appealing as they do to young and to old and to those debarred from all pastimes demanding physical exertion Moreover they are not unduly difficult and capable as they are of infinite variations their charm ought to be inexhaustible Savage Kin Margaret M. Bruchac,Melissa Fawcett Tantaquidgeon Zobel,2018-04-10 Illuminating the complex relationships between tribal informants and twentieth century anthropologists such as Boas Parker and Fenton who came to their communities to collect stories and artifacts Provided by publisher
