Emerson, 2024-09-12 Remediation of Legacy Hazardous and Nuclear Industrial Sites provides an overview of the key elements involved in remediating complex waste sites using the Hanford nuclear site as a case study Hanford is one of the most complex waste sites in the world and has examples of most if not all characteristics of the complex waste sites that exist globally This book is aimed at a non technical audience and describes the stages of remediation based on general RCRA CERCLA processes from establishing a strategy that includes all stakeholders to site assessment waste treatment and disposal and long term monitoring Features Informs a non technical audience of the important elements involved in complex waste site remediation Employs the Hanford Site as a case study throughout to explain real world applications of remediation steps Connects the human element to the technical aspects through interviews with key current and retired individuals at the Hanford Site Includes discussion of stakeholders and the engagement process in remediation Demonstrates how all elements of complex waste site remediation from demolition of buildings to groundwater management are interrelated Focuses on broader technical and sociopolitical challenges for remediation of a contaminated site Aimed at a broad audience this book offers approachable guidance to technical and non technical readers through a series of real world examples that cover each important step in the complex waste cleanup process The Apocalypse Factory: Plutonium and the Making of the Atomic Age Steve Olson, 2020-07-28 A thrilling narrative of scientific triumph decades of secrecy and the unimaginable destruction wrought by the creation of the atomic bomb It began with plutonium the first element ever manufactured in quantity by humans Fearing that the Germans would be the first to weaponize the atom the United States marshaled brilliant minds and seemingly inexhaustible bodies to find a way to create a nuclear chain reaction of inconceivable explosive power In a matter of months the Hanford nuclear facility was built to produce and weaponize the enigmatic and deadly new material that would fuel atomic bombs In the desert of eastern Washington State far from prying eyes scientists Glenn Seaborg Enrico Fermi and many thousands of others the physicists engineers laborers and support staff at the facility manufactured plutonium for the bomb dropped on Nagasaki and for the bombs in the current American nuclear arsenal enabling the construction of weapons with the potential to end human civilization With his characteristic blend of scientific clarity and storytelling Steve Olson asks why Hanford has been largely overlooked in histories of the Manhattan Project and the Cold War Olson who grew up just twenty miles from Hanford's B Reactor recounts how a small Washington town played host to some of the most influential scientists and engineers in American history as they sought to create the substance at the core of the most destructive weapons ever created The Apocalypse Factory offers a new generation this dramatic story of human achievement and ultimately of lethal hubris The Organic Machine Richard White, 2011-04-01 The Hill and Wang Critical Issues Series concise affordable works on pivotal topics in American history society and politics In this pioneering study White explores the relationship between the natural history of the Columbia River and the human history of the Pacific Northwest for both whites and Native Americans He concentrates on what brings humans and the river together not only the physical space of the region but also and primarily energy and work For working with the river has been central to Pacific Northwesterners competing ways of life It is in this way that White comes to view the Columbia River as an organic machine with conflicting human and natural claims and to show that whatever separation exists between humans and nature exists to be crossed

Unmaking the Bomb Shannon Cram, 2023-10-10 Unmaking the Bomb investigates the politics of waste exposure and cleanup at the Hanford Nuclear Reservation a former weapons complex in Washington State Once the heart of American plutonium production Hanford is now engaged in the nation's largest environmental remediation effort managing toxic materials that will long outlast their regulatory containers This book blends ethnographic research with personal narrative to examine cleanup's administrative frames and the stories that exceed them It describes how the body at risk became a waste management tool and how reckoning with contamination informs the very definitions of health and hazard in the United States

Hanford Remedial Action, Comprehensive Land-use Plan, Hanford Site in the Pasco Basin of the Columbia Plateau, 1999 Critical Masses Russell J. Dalton, 1999 This book investigates how citizens in the United States and Russia have used the democratic process to force their governments to address the horrendous environmental damage caused by the nuclear arms race It is the first in depth comparative study of environmental activism and democracy in the two countries Critical Masses focuses on two crucial areas the Hanford Reservation in Washington State and the Mayak Complex in Russia that were at the heart of their nations nuclear weapons programs examining how the surrounding communities were affected It explores nuclear weapons production how both governments concealed environmental and health dangers from people living nearby and how Russian and American citizens think about environmental issues And it provides insights into the process of democratization in Russia and the limits of democracy in the United States as well as the development of nuclear policy in the post Cold War era

The Bomb Gerard DeGroot, 2011-09-30 Before the Bomb there were simply bombs lower case But it was the twentieth century one hundred years of almost incredible scientific progress that saw the birth of the Bomb the human race's most powerful and most destructive discovery In this magisterial and enthralling account Gerard DeGroot gives us the life story of the Bomb from its birth in the turn of the century physics labs of Europe to a childhood in the New Mexico desert of the 1940s from adolescence and early adulthood in Nagasaki and Bikini Australia and Siberia to unsettling maturity in test sites and missile silos all over the globe By turns horrific awe inspiring and blackly comic The Bomb is never less than compelling
