Literature's Elsewheres Annette Gilbert, 2022-04-05 An examination of a series of diverse radical and experimental international works from the 1950s to the present What is a literary work In Literature's Elsewheres Annette Gilbert tackles this question by deploying an extended concept of literature examining a series of diverse radical experimental works from the 1950s to the present that occupy the liminal zone between art and literature These works by American Artist Allison Parrish Natalie Czech Stephanie Syjuco Fiona Banner Elfriede Jelinek Dan Graham Robert Barry George Brecht and others represent a pluralized literary practice that imagines a different literature emerging from its elsewheres Investigating a work's coming into being its transition from text to work as a social object and pragmatic category of literary communication Gilbert probes the assumptions and foundations that underpin literature including the ideologies and power structures that prop it up She offers a snapshot from a period of recent literary and art history when such central concepts as originality and authorship were questioned and experimental literary practices ranged from concrete poetry and Oulipo to conceptual writing and appropriation literature She examines works that are dematerialized site specific unique copies of other works and institutional critiques Considering the inequalities exclusions and privileges inscribed in literature she documents the power of experimental literature to attack these norms and challenges the field's canonical geographic boundaries by examining artists with roots in North and South America East Asia and Western and Eastern Europe The cross pollination of literary and art criticism enriches both fields With Literature's Elsewheres Gilbert explores what art can't see about the literary and what literature has overlooked in the arts

M. H. Bozorgnia, 1998-03-19 Tracing the monetary history of Europe this study explores the impact of change in the availability and use of bullion in the form of money on the economic evolution of Europe The Romans fostered economic prosperity through the accumulation of bullion and circulation of accredited currency Over time shortages of species rendered the Roman coinage worthless As a result commercial activities contracted causing the breakdown of the Roman economic and political systems Lack of liquidity in the early Middle Ages limited commercial activities and promoted conditions sustaining dependency on land thereby enabling feudalism to flourish In the late 10th century discovery of rich silver mines in Central Europe increased the circulation of coinage promoting trade and demographic urbanization The augmentation of silver resources continued to boost economic prosperity during the 12th and 13th centuries In the 14th century decrease in mine output induced severe scarcity of bullion Lack of currency caused the contraction of economic activities leading to food shortages famines depopulation and the eventual breakdown of the feudal economic order Continuous shortage of bullion in the 15th century forced the reintroduction of barter trade and limited commercial activities Scarcity of precious metals induced the Portuguese to venture into Africa African gold provided them with the incentive and capital for expeditions of discovery to the East but the lack of sufficient bullion prevented them from monopolizing the eastern trade In the 16th century the influx of species from the mines of central Europe and America ended the European bullion famine and gave rise to economic prosperity
