China's Hope Barbara Nowell, 2010-07 One morning Silk Fan a happily married woman and mother of two stops to help an old woman by the riverside Within moments she finds herself in a life changing nightmare She is kidnapped and taken miles away along with four other young women all merely schoolgirls Only Silk Fan knows of the horror to befall them they will become wives slaves bought by mothers for single sons in a rural community where nobody will help them for fear of the consequences As the women settle into their new unwanted lives they deal with intense grief and hatred for their captors But over time their friendship with an old Han widow and a newly kidnapped bride will lead them to the key to survival China's Hope What will become of the women whose lives have been forever altered Will Silk Fan ever see her family again What is China's Hope

Morning Sun Laifong Leung, Jan Walls, 2016-09-16 This is a collection of interviews with 26 writers of China's zhiqing generation relatively young artists who participated in the Cultural Revolution as teen age Red Guards suffered through the subsequent rustication of intellectual youth and eventually returned to relatively normal lives but always with a tragic hiatus haunting their formative years While one goal of Professor Leung is to introduce to the West an important group of writers little known outside China she also aims to succeed through the interviews in providing a special perspective on the devastating political history of China since the 1970s years through the eyes of its keenest observers and in offering a perspective on the social political and cultural milieu of the period

Everyday Modernity in China Madeleine Yue Dong, Joshua Lewis Goldstein, 2011-11-15 Is modernity in non Western societies always an alternative modernity a derivative copy of an original modernity that began in the West No answer the contributors to this book who then offer an absorbing set of case studies from modern China to make their point By focusing on people's ordinary routines of working eating going to school and traveling the authors examine the notion of modernity as it has been staged in the minute details of Chinese life Essays explore people's basic search for food water and lighting during the late Qing early republican era contradictory attitudes toward women and the violence of foot binding the role of Chinese scientists in promoting a shift to modern nationalistic discourses the growing popularity of savings banks among urban Chinese in the early twentieth century the transnational and national identities of returned overseas Chinese in Xiamen Fujian Province and middle class Shanghai travelers who imagined themselves as cosmopolitan consumers Looking at the post Mao reform era of the late twentieth century contributors explore the theme of revaluation that is the way China's move into global capitalism is commoditizing goods and services that previously were not for sale from domestic labor to recycling and water resources in an increasingly consumer oriented society

Problems of Communism, 1984 China's New Urbanization Strategy China Development Research Foundation, Zhongguo fa zhan yan jiu ji jin hui, 2013 Urbanization is one of the major challenges facing China Of China's 1.3 billion people around half still live in rural areas There has been huge migration from rural areas to cities in recent years a trend that is likely to continue strong for some time The strains that this vast migration puts on China's cities are enormous. This book makes available for the English speaking reader the results of a large group of research projects undertaken by CDRF, one of China's leading think tanks, into the details of rural urban migration, the resulting urban growth and the problems associated with all this. The book goes on to put forward a new strategy which aims to ensure that China's urbanization proceeds in an orderly manner and that people and their needs are put at the centre of the strategy. Key parts of the strategy include that city clusters should become the main form of urbanization, that these should be arranged geographically in a pattern of two horizontal lines and three vertical lines, that industrial and employment structures should highlight regional features and diversity, that urban public services should be more equitably distributed, that there should be new forms of urbanization management and city governance to accelerate urbanization and ensure harmonious social development and that the whole process should be conducted in an ecological green way.
