Kriegie Prisoner Of War:

Kriegie Kenneth W. Simmons,1960 Kenneth W Simmons was a bombardier on board one of the B 24 liberators of 389th Bombardment Group stationed in Europe during the Second World War As the war ground to a close he had the sheer bad luck to be shot down in October 1944 near Bad Kreuznach and was captured and made prisoner of war In this book he gives a vivid description of the life of POWs in the American section of Stalag Luft III in what is now Poland during the final months of the war ending with the winter forced march away from the camp escaping the advancing Russian troops and eventually being liberated

Kriegie Kenneth Simmons,2016-03-24 Kriegie first published in 1960 is the World War Two account of American airman Kenneth Simmons 8th Air Force who was forced to bail out after his B 24 aircraft was damaged on a bombing run over Germany He describes his capture and imprisonment as a kriegie prisoner of war at Stalag Luft II The book is filled with details of prison life and the complex organization established by the prisoners to help ensure their survival and to maintain healthy conditions and order Escape plans are made and tunnels constructed Near the end of the war and in the cold of winter the prisoners are moved on foot to a new location in Germany in what became a death march with many prisoners dying or extremely ill In late April 1945 units of General George Patton s Third Army reach the camp and prepare the men for their journey back to the United States

Kriegie Oscar G. Richard III,2000-05 Oscar G Richard a native of Sunshine Louisiana was not the usual World War II serviceman After enlisting in the US Army Air Corps in 1942 and training diligently for many months the B 17 bombardier spent only one week in combat On his third and last mission on January 14 1944 his plane was shot down over France and he was imprisoned by the Germans Thus like many in the Eighth Air Force in late 1943 and early 1944 he spent most of the war not in combat but in captivity In this memoir Richard describes his wartime experiences both before and after his capture recounting the transformation of a fresh faced recruit into a seasoned POW Offering insight into the early days of soldier life he chronicles his enlistment the months he spent waiting on the home front for induction and his training at various sites in the American West He gives accounts of his bombing missions and relives his parachute escape from his doomed plane and his subsequent seizure The book relates the path that most German held POWs or kriegies took after capture from the front lines to solitary confinement and interrogation at Dulag Luft through a long and uncertain journey through Germany to the final destination for Richard Stalag Luft 1 near Barth on the Baltic coast

Prisoners of the Sumatra Railway is the first book to detail the experiences of British former prisoners of war POWs who were forced to construct a railway across Sumatra during the Japanese occupation. It is also the first study to be undertaken of the life writing of POWs held captive by the Japanese during the Second World War and the transgenerational responses in Britain to this period of captivity. This book brings to light previously unpublished materials including exceptionally rare and detailed diaries, notebooks, and letters from the railway. Memoirs from Sumatra including detailed recollections and post-war statements written by key personnel on the railway such as Medical Officers and interpreters. Remarkable original artwork created by POWs on Sumatra. Contemporaneous photographs taken inside the camps. Employing theories of life writing, memory, and war representation including transgenerational transmission. Lizzie Oliver focuses particularly on what these documents can tell us about how former POWs tried to share, preserve, and make sense of their experiences. It is a wholly original study that is of great value to Second World War scholars and anyone interested in 20th-century Southeast Asian history or war and memory.

Our Last Mission Dawn Trimble Bunyak, 2005-08-01. In this remarkable tale of courage, historian Dawn Trimble Bunyak recounts the experiences of her uncle Lawrence Pifer, a technical sergeant who survived fourteen months of internment as a prisoner of war in World War II Nazi Germany. A radio operator and ball turret gunner on the American B-17 bomber, Pifer was shot down during a raid on March 4, 1944. As he parachuted from the plummeting plane, Pifer witnessed the deaths of two of his fellow crewmembers. Captured by Nazi soldiers and taken to a series of German Stalag Luft camps, Pifer and other servicemen, mostly in their teens and twenties, endured torture, starvation, disease, and forced marches. When British forces liberated Pifer's group, he pushed his POW experiences deep into the recesses of his mind, not to recall them in detail for decades. Years later, a POW group at a Veterans Administration hospital helped Pifer realize that he was ready to tell his story. After forty hours of interviews with Pifer, Dawn Trimble Bunyak retells the enthralling story of an average enlisted man's struggle to survive in the face of hopelessness with only his strong faith and pride in country to sustain him. In his foreword, historian Arnold Krammer shows how popular views of the prisoner of war experience have changed dramatically over time, yet how rare are such first-person accounts as Pifer's. Enhanced by numerous photographs and maps and an appendix of prisoners' poetry, Our Last Mission is one of only a few oral histories that details the daily experiences of one of the 94,000 American POWs in Europe during World War II.
