Sugimoto, 2019 For more than 30 years Hiroshi Sugimoto has traveled the world photographing its seas producing an extended meditation on the passage of time and the natural history of the earth reduced to its most basic primordial substances water and air Always capturing the sea at a moment of absolute tranquility Sugimoto has composed all the photographs identically with the horizon line precisely bifurcating each image The repetition of this strict format reveals the uniqueness of each meeting of sea and sky with the horizon never appearing exactly the same way twice The photographs are romantic yet absolutely rigorous apparently universal but exceedingly specific Hiroshi Sugimoto Philip

Larratt-Smith, 2016 Hiroshi Sugimoto has explored ideas of time empiricism and metaphysics through a surreal and formalistic approach since the 1970s A self described habitual self interlocutor Sugimoto uses the camera as a bridge between abstract questions and the quiet comical nature of modern everyday life Whether formally photographing Madame Tussauds wax figures and the wildlife scenes at the American Museum of Natural History or opening the lens of his 8 by 10 camera to capture a two hour long film in one exposure he explores themes of consumerism narrative and existence in rich and evocative imagery This new project presents a survey of Sugimoto s iconic work from his calm seascapes to his more recent exploration of lightning fields and photogenic drawing Created in conjunction with an upcoming exhibition at FUNDACI N MAPFRE in Spain the survey includes an introduction and essay by writer and curator Philip Larratt Smith an interview with Sugimoto and text by the prominent Brazilian artist Iran do Esp rito Santo Hiroshi Sugimoto and

Tomoyuki Sakakida: Old Is New Hiroshi Sugimoto, Tomoyuki Sakakida, 2021-04-23 The oldest things are the newest this paradoxical idea is present throughout the oeuvre of contemporary Japanese artist and photographer Hiroshi Sugimoto In 2008 Sugimoto and the architect Tomoyuki Sakakida founded the New Material Research Laboratory an architectural firm that researches and develops new materials from known materials and techniques by applying a different approach and interpretation The Laboratory s aim is to rethink the use of old materials passed on to us from ancient times the Middle Ages and the modern period It advocates for a reconnection of the present with a bygone era and to extend that connection to the future through architecture Old Is New delves into the art and architecture as well as the archaeological philosophy and contemporary practice of the New Material Research Laboratory Richly illustrated the book shows the choice of materials for each project The photographs in itself are compositions presenting scenes that show a balance of the present and past Sugimoto and Sakakida discussing their practice and approach wrote the principal texts of this volume Additional text contributions delve into the origin of the laboratory s design ethos rooted in Japanese tradition and aesthetics and their historical context The book also includes an annotated index of materials and classical Japanese techniques with information drawn from the laboratory s research Hiroshi Sugimoto Collection , 2021-11 The Hiroshi Sugimoto Collection includes the five books published by Damiani and MW Editions from 2014 to 2019 about five iconic series by the Japanese artist Hiroshi Sugimoto Adopting different conceptual approaches and astounding aesthetic expedients all these series investigate

Sugimoto's obsession though the photographic medium the passing of time or in his own words the fossilization of time

Dioramas 2014 This series begun when he moved to New York City from Japan in 1974 spans almost four decades While looking at the galleries in the American Museum of Natural History he noticed that if he looked at the dioramas with one eye closed the artificial scenes looked utterly convincing In the Dioramas series Sugimoto persuades the viewer that the photographer has captured a living moment in time although each scene is an elaborately crafted fiction

Seascapes 2015 Water and air These primordial substances which make possible all life on earth are the subject of Hiroshi Sugimoto's Seascapes series For over thirty years Sugimoto has traveled the world photographing its seas producing a body of work that is an extended meditation on the passage of time and the natural history of the earth The Hiroshi Sugimoto Collection includes the first edition of Seascapes This book as well as its second edition release in 2018 are completely sold out worldwide

Theaters 2016 Since the end of the 1970s Sugimoto has been photographing the interiors of theaters using a large format camera and no lighting other than the projection of the running movie He opens the aperture when a film begins and closes it when it ends In the resulting images the screen becomes a luminous white box its ambient light subtly bringing forward the rich architectural details of these spaces The book sold out worldwide and is now available again only as part of the Hiroshi Sugimoto Collection

Portraits 2018 At first glance Hiroshi Sugimoto's photographic portrait of King Henry VIII of England is arresting It seems as though the twenty first century artist has traveled back nearly five hundred years in time to photograph his royal subject The portraits of wax figures which in this volume are presented alongside a handful of portraits of living subjects and memento mori call into question what it is that the portrait captures

Architecture 2019 In 1997 Hiroshi Sugimoto began a series of photographs of significant works of modernist architecture intending to trace the beginnings of our age via architecture By virtue of their blurriness and lack of color the images strip down buildings to their essence to what we might imagine was the architect's first pure vision of form

Hiroshi Sugimoto Hiroshi Sugimoto, 2012 This is the first volume to present a group of works that the artist has been working on for a long time Under the title of Revolution night time seascapes are presented in large format capturing the course of the moon over a longer period of time The special way the pictures are exhibited the images are turned ninety degrees creates disturbing impressions that depending on the region of the world and the latitude exhibit clear distinctions

Cahiers d'Art Issue N°1, 2014: Hiroshi Sugimoto Hiroshi Sugimoto, 2016-03-08 A rare opportunity to see unpublished works by Hiroshi Sugimoto reproduced at the highest standard Cahiers d'Art celebrates the 100th issue of the revue with Hiroshi Sugimoto The issue a true tribute to Sugimoto is rooted in The World is Dead Today a story written by Sugimoto for his exhibition at the Palais de Tokyo in which his photographic works are juxtaposed against his eclectic antiques collection recounting the end of modernity Issue No 1 2014 is a rare opportunity to see unpublished works reproduced at the highest standard

Serpentine Gallery co director Hans Ulrich Obrist interviewed Sugimoto for the issue and Akiko Miki Chief Curator Palais de

Tokyo has contributed an important text on the artist's work. The issue also includes an essay from Daniel Birnbaum on Ulf Linde's exploration of the mathematical dimensions to Duchamp's oeuvre in addition to a reprint of an archival article from a 1929 Cahiers d'Art presentation on Brancusi's work including photographs and a statement written by Brancusi accompanied by a text from surrealist playwright Roger Vitrac.

Hiroshi Sugimoto. Stop time. Ediz. italiana e inglese Filippo Maggia, Chiara Dall'Olio, 2015. I retraced the paths which photography's two inventors Daguerre and Talbot followed en route to their invention. For almost 180 years it is photography that has determined how mankind sees its own history and perceives the world. Our collective history has been stopped, saved and repeatedly scrutinized to the point of banalization. History, one might say, is not truly history until photography has thoroughly trivialized it. The day when mankind will realize its deep-seated desire to bring time to a stop is coming inexorably closer. Time exists only through the agency of human perception. Only when mankind vanishes from the earth can we truly claim to have halted time's progress. It is not long now.

Hiroshi Sugimoto Hiroshi Sugimoto was born in Tokyo in 1948 and lives and works between New York and Tokyo. A multifaceted artist developed his artistic practice through photography, often associated with sculptural objects, architecture and exhibition design experiments. Often addressed to the interrelationship between art, history, science and religion, his photographic research combines Eastern meditative ideas with elements of Western culture. In over thirty years of work, the artist has captivated audiences around the world with his impeccable black and white images. Inspired by Renaissance painting and early nineteenth-century photography through the use of a large format camera, Sugimoto reaches an incredible fullness of tone in a body of work reflecting his passion for detail and the fascination with the paradoxes of time and human perception.

Hiroshi Sugimoto Hiroshi Sugimoto, 2017-10-31. Hiroshi Sugimoto, one of Japan's best-known photographers, turns his lens on Italy's architectural masterworks to create a meditation on the potential of cultural exchange and the possibility of cultural fusion. In an electrifying moment in 1585, four Japanese youths appeared before Pope Gregory XIII, summoned to his court from the nascent Christian community in Japan to present themselves at the capital of their faith. Legendary photographer Hiroshi Sugimoto follows in the boys' footsteps, capturing the architectural wonders of Rome, Florence and Venice as the Eastern visitors might have seen them on their grand tour. Sugimoto's images present each chapel and theater as a marvel, imposing and dark. He contextualizes his photographs with Japanese works from the period and the decades that follow. These panels and objects attest to the impact of Western culture, specifically Jesuit Christianity, on Momoyama and Edo aesthetics as Japanese artists envisioned scenes of European life.

Call it The History of History with his trademark minimalist elegance, photographer Sugimoto brings together his collection of venerable Asian artifacts with his own conceptual imagery, sparking a dialogue on memory, time and beauty. Contemporary art and ancient art are like oil and water, he says. Yet for the longest time, I have found the two melding ineffably together into one more like water and air.
