Histoire Et Identites Alimentaires En Europe:

Food Heritage and Nationalism in Europe Ilaria Porciani, 2019-11-07 Food Heritage and Nationalism in Europe contends that food is a fundamental element of heritage and a particularly important one in times of crisis Arguing that food taste cuisine and gastronomy are crucial markers of identity that are inherently connected to constructions of place tradition and the past the book demonstrates how they play a role in intangible as well as tangible heritage Featuring contributions from experts working across Europe and beyond and adopting a strong historical and transnational perspective the book examines the various ways in which food can be understood and used as heritage Including explorations of imperial spaces migrations and diasporas the role of commercialisation processes and institutional practices within political and cultural domains this volume considers all aspects of this complex issue Arguing that the various European cuisines are the result of exchanges hybridities and complex historical processes Porciani and the chapter authors offer up a new way of deconstructing banal nationalism and of moving away from the idea of static identities Suggesting a new and different approach to the idea of so called national cuisines Food Heritage and Nationalism in Europe will be a compelling read for academic audiences in museum and heritage studies cultural and food studies anthropology and history Chapters 1 2 4 6 and 12 of this book are freely available as downloadable Open Access PDFs at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license

Culinary Cultures of Europe Darra Goldstein, Kathrin Merkle, Stephen Mennell, Council of Europe. Directorate General IV--Education, Culture and Heritage, Youth and Sport, 2005-01-01 The study of culinary culture and its history provides an insight into broad social political and economic changes in society This collection of essays looks at the food culture of 40 European countries describing such things as traditions customs festivals and typical recipes It illustrates the diversity of the European cultural heritage ,

Food and Health in Early Modern Europe David Gentilcore, 2015-11-19 CHOICE Outstanding Academic Title 2016 Food and Health in Early Modern Europe is both a history of food practices and a history of the medical discourse about that food It is also an exploration of the interaction between the two the relationship between evolving foodways and shifting medical advice on what to eat in order to stay healthy It provides the first in depth study of printed dietary advice covering the entire early modern period from the late 15th century to the early 19th it is also the first to trace the history of European foodways as seen through the prism of this advice David Gentilcore offers a doctor's eye view of changing food and dietary fashions from Portugal to Poland from Scotland to Sicily not forgetting the expanding European populations of the New World In addition to exploring European regimens throughout the period works of materia medica botany agronomy and horticulture are considered as well as a range of other printed sources such as travel accounts cookery books and literary works The book also includes 30 illustrations maps and extensive chapter bibliographies with web links included to further aid study Food and Health in Early Modern Europe is the essential introduction to the relationship between food health and medicine for history students and scholars alike The Oxford Handbook of Food History Jeffrey M. Pilcher, 2012-10-16 Food matters not only as a subject of study in its own right but also as a medium for conveying critical messages about capitalism the environment and social inequality to diverse audiences Recent scholarship on the subject draws from both a pathbreaking body of secondary literature and an inexhaustible wealth of primary sources from ancient Chinese philosophical tracts to McDonald's menus contributing new perspectives to the historical study of food culture and society and challenging the limits of history itself The Oxford Handbook of Food History places existing works in historiographical context crossing disciplinary chronological and geographic boundaries while also suggesting new routes for future research The twenty seven essays in this book are organized into five sections historiography disciplinary approaches production circulation and consumption of food The first two sections examine the foundations of food history not only in relation to key developments in the discipline of history itself such as the French Annales school and the cultural turn but also in anthropology sociology geography pedagogy and the emerging Critical Nutrition Studies The following three sections sketch various trajectories of food as it travels from farm to table factory to eatery nature to society Each section balances material cultural and intellectual concerns whether juxtaposing questions of agriculture and the environment with the notion of cookbooks as historical documents early human migrations with modern culinary tourism or religious customs with social activism In its vast interdisciplinary scope this handbook brings students and scholars an authoritative guide to a field with fresh insights into one of the most fundamental human concerns L'alimentation en Europe à l'époque moderne Philippe Meyzie, 2010-09-15 L'alimentation s'impose peu à peu dans la recherche et l'enseignement de l'histoire Inscrite dans le courant de l'histoire matérielle servie par de très nombreuses sources archives livres tableaux objets la consommation alimentaire est devenue pour l'historien essentielle pour comprendre une époque et une société Cette synthèse place l'histoire de l'alimentation du XVI^e au milieu du XIX^e siècle au cœur des problématiques multiples de l'histoire économique sociale culturelle ou politique Ouverte sur l'Europe cette étude est pour l'étudiant un outil de travail sans équivalent qui offre informations historiographiques bilan des connaissances mais aussi orientations méthodologiques et pistes de recherches inédites Histoire et identités alimentaires en Europe Martin Bruegel, Bruno Laurioux, 2002 Dis-moi ce que tu manges je te dirai ce que tu es la nourriture participe activement à la construction des identités religieuses sociales régionales ou nationales Les pratiques culinaires se rencontrent se confrontent et parfois s'affrontent Ce livre explore sur le long terme et dans toute l'Europe les identités qui se constituent changent et se définissent comment le pudding devient-il anglais Pourquoi la France fabrique-t-elle des produits du terroir Quand la Belgique invente-t-elle une cuisine nationale Pourquoi Gaulois et Romains ne mangent-ils pas la même chose Pourquoi les Danois font-ils du porc un emblème patriotique Pourquoi musulmans et juifs refusent-ils de consommer ce même porc Autant de questions auxquelles les historiens de l'alimentation répondent en explorant les manuscrits culinaires du Moyen Âge les résultats de fouilles archéologiques ou en renouvelant la lecture des recettes de cuisine Cette approche nouvelle de l'alimentation excite les papilles et donne la mondialisation actuelle des repas une autre saveur

Regionalism and Modern Europe Xosé M. Núñez Seixas, Eric Storm, 2018-12-13 Providing a valuable overview of regionalism throughout the entire continent Regionalism in Modern Europe combines both geographical and thematic approaches to examine the origins and development of regional movements and identities in Europe from 1890 to the present A wide range of internationally renowned scholars from the USA the UK and mainland Europe are brought together here in one volume to examine the historical roots of the current regional movements and to explain why some of them Scotland Catalonia and Flanders among others evolve into nationalist movements and even strive for independence while others Brittany Bavaria do not They look at how regional identities through regional folklore language crafts dishes beverages and tourist attractions were constructed during the 20th century and explore the relationship between national and subnational identities as well as regional and local identities The book also includes 7 images 7 maps and useful end of chapter further reading lists This is a crucial text for anyone keen to know more about the history of the topical and at times controversial subject of regionalism in modern Europe

The Emergence of National Food Atsuko Ichijo, Venetia Johannes, Ronald Ranta, 2019-02-21 What do deep fried mars bars cod and Bulgarian yoghurt have in common Each have become symbolic foods with specific connotations located to a very specific place and country This book explores the role of food in society as a means of interrogating the concept of the nation state and its sub units and reveals how the nation state in its various disguises has been and is changing in response to accelerated globalisation The chapters investigate various stages of national food its birth emergence and decline and why sometimes no national food emerges By collecting and analysing a wide range of case studies from countries including Portugal Mexico the USA Bulgaria Scotland and Israel the book illustrates ways in which various social forces work together to shape social and political realities concerning food The contributors hailing from anthropology history sociology and political science investigate the significance of specific food cultures cuisines dishes and ingredients and their association with national identity In so doing it becomes clearer how these two things interact and demonstrates the scope and direction of the current study of food and nationalism

Islam in Europe Jack Goody, 2013-05-08 This vigorously argued book reveals the central role that Islam has played in European history Following the movement of people culture and religion from East to West Goody breaks down the perceived opposition between Islam and Europe showing Islam to be a part of Europe's past and present In an historical analysis of religious warfare and forced migration Goody examines our understanding of legitimate violence ethnic cleansing and terrorism His comparative perspective offers important and illuminating insights into current political problems and conflicts Goody traces three routes of Islam into Europe following the Arab through North Africa Spain and Mediterranean Europe the Turk through Greece and the Balkans and the Mongol through Southern Russia to Poland and Lithuania Each thrust made its mark on Europe in terms of population and culture Yet this was not merely a military impact especially in Spain but elsewhere too Europe was substantially modified by this contact Today it takes the form of some eleven million immigrants not to speak of the possible incorporation of further millions through Bosnia Albania and Turkey Food History Sylvie Vabre, Martin Bruegel, Peter J. Atkins, 2021-05-17 This pioneering book elevates the senses to a central role in the study of food history because the traditional focus upon food types quantities and nutritional values is incomplete without some recognition of smell touch sight hearing and taste Eating is a sensual experience Every day and at every meal the senses of smell touch sight hearing and taste are engaged in the acts of preparation and consumption And yet these bodily acts are ephemeral their imprint upon the source material of history is vestigial Hitherto historians have shown little interest in the senses beyond taste and this book fills that research gap Four dimensions are treated Words Symbols and Uses Describing the Senses an investigation of how specific vocabularies for food are developed Industrializing the Senses an analysis of the fundamental change in the sensory qualities of foods under the pressure of industrialization and economic forces outside the control of the household and the artisan producer Nationhood and the Senses an exploration of how the combination of the senses and food play into how nations saw themselves and how food was a signature of how political ideologies played out in practical everyday terms Food Senses and Globalization an examination of links between food the senses and the idea of international significance Putting all of the senses on the agenda of food history for the first time this is the ideal volume for scholars of food history food studies and food culture as well as social and cultural historians Putting all of the senses on the agenda of food history for the first time this is the ideal volume for scholars of food history food studies and food culture as well as social and cultural historians What We Eat Pierre Singaravélou, Sylvain Venayre, 2025-08-12 Ketchup seems iconically American but the word comes from a Southeast Asian anchovy sauce and today it is made largely from Chinese tomato paste Japan's beloved ramen arose from the meeting of Chinese noodles and American wheat flour before attaining worldwide popularity in both gourmet and convenience food forms The baguette is mythologized as a product of the French Revolution but in fact it emerged during late nineteenth century urbanization Colonialism brought baguettes to Vietnam where street vendors devised a new dish banh mi which refugees took with them around the world Telling these tales and many others What We Eat explores world history through the lens of the global journeys of nearly ninety food products Leading historians trace the origins and popularization of items commonly found in supermarkets showing how each food illuminates wider histories They consider the tension between the role of cuisine in shaping particular cultural identities and the standardization associated with globalization and they demonstrate how foods have transformed as different societies have borrowed them Chapters reveal the surprising sagas of coffee cornflakes gin guacamole hot dogs hummus naan pet food pizza sparkling water sushi and many more At once an intimate and a global history What We Eat shows readers the everyday items on grocery store shelves in a new light A Taste of Progress Nelleke Teughels, Peter Scholliers, 2016-03-09 World exhibitions have been widely acknowledged as important sources for understanding the development of the modern consumer and urbanized society yet whilst the function and purpose of architecture at these major events has been well studied the place of food has received very little attention Food played a crucial part in the lived experience of the exhibitions for visitors who could acquaint themselves with the latest food innovations exotic cuisines and traditional dishes for officials attending lavish banquets for the manufacturers who displayed their new culinary products and for scientists who met to discuss the latest technologies in food hygiene Food stood as a powerful semiotic device for communicating and maintaining conceptions of identity history traditions and progress of inclusion and exclusion making it a valuable tool for researching the construction of national or corporate sentiments Combining recent developments in food studies and the history of major international exhibitions this volume provides a refreshing alternative view of these international and intercultural spectacles

Colonial Food in Interwar Paris Lauren

Janes,2016-02-25 In the wake of the First World War in which France suffered severe food shortages colonial produce became an increasingly important element of the French diet The colonial lobby seized upon these foodstuffs as powerful symbols of the importance of the colonial project to the life of the French nation But how was colonial food really received by the French public And what does this tell us about the place of empire in French society In Colonial Food in Interwar Paris Lauren Janes disputes the claim that empire was central to French history and identity arguing that the distrust of colonial food reflected a wider disinterest in the empire From Indochinese rice to North African grains and tropical fruit to curry powder this book offers an intriguing and original challenge to current orthodoxy about the centrality of empire to modern France by examining the place of colonial foods in the nation s capital

Food, Feasting and Table Manners in the Late

Middle Ages Guillermo Alvar Nuño,2023-12-01 This book offers a study of what and how people ate in the Iberian Peninsula between the twelfth and fifteenth centuries It has long been recognized that Mediterranean cultures attach great importance to communal meals and food cooked with great refinement However whilst medieval feasting in England France and Italy has been thoroughly studied Spain and Portugal have both been somewhat neglected in this area of study This volume analyses how medieval men of the Iberian Peninsula questioned themselves about different aspects deemed important in social feasting It investigates the acquisition of table manners and rhetorical skills the interaction between medicine and eating and the presence of food in literature and religion The book also shows how this shared society and culture as well as their attitude towards food connected them to a Western European tradition The book will appeal to scholars and students alike interested in food and feasting from the perspectives of literature history language art religion and medicine and to those interested in a social cultural and literary overview of life in the Iberian Peninsula during the late Middle Ages Warriors, Martyrs, and Dervishes Buket Kitapçı Bayrı,2019-11-11 Warriors Martyrs and Dervishes Moving Frontiers Shifting Identities in the Land of Rome 13th 15th Centuries focuses on the perceptions of geopolitical and cultural change which was triggered by the arrival of Turkish Muslim groups into the territories of the Byzantine Empire at the end of the eleventh century through intersecting stories transmitted in Turkish Muslim warrior epics and dervish whirling dervish and late Byzantine martyria It examines the Byzantines encounters with the newcomers in a shared story world here called land of Rome as well as its perception changing geopolitical and cultural frontiers and in relation to these changes the shifts in identity of the people inhabiting this space The study highlights the complex relationship between the character of specific places and the cultural identities of the people who inhabited them See inside the book Earthly Delights ,2018-06-05 Earthly Delights brings together a number of substantial and original scholarly studies by international scholars currently working on the history of food in the Ottoman Empire and East Central Europe It offers new empirical research as well as surveys of the state of scholarship in this discipline with special emphasis on influences continuities and discontinuities in the culinary cultures of the Ottoman Porte the Balkans and East Central Europe between the 17th and 19th centuries Some contributions address economic aspects of food provision the development and trans national circulation of individual dishes and the role of merchants diplomats and travellers in the transmission of culinary trends Others examine the role of food in the construction of national and regional identities in contact zones where local traditions merged or clashed with imperial Ottoman Habsburg and West European influences Italians and Food Roberta Sassatelli,2019-05-18 This book is a novel and original collection of essays on Italians and food Food culture is central both to the way Italians perceive their national identity and to the consolidation of Italianicity in global context More broadly being so heavily symbolically charged Italian foodways are an excellent vantage point from which to explore consumption and identity in the context of the commodity chain and the global local dialectic The contributions from distinguished experts cover a range of topics including food and consumer practices in Italy cultural intermediators and foodstuff narratives traditions of production and regional variation in Italian foodways and representation of Italianicity through food in old and new media Although rooted in sociology Italians and Food draws on literature from history anthropology semiotics and media studies and will be of great interest to students and scholars of food studies consumer culture cultural sociology and contemporary Italian studies Innovations in Traditional Foods Charis M.
