The Politics and Practices of Cultural Heritage in the Middle East Irene Maffi, 2014-04-21 During the nineteenth century cultural heritage became a dominant feature of the political ideology of the European states and of their colonies It became a new form of legitimization for the rising nation state cementing its inextricable link with that nation's politics and practices The set of concepts and practices defining cultural heritage were exported to and imposed over the colonized populations in North Africa and the Near East The legacy of the colonial period has proven very significant in the domain of cultural heritage which has become a crucial cultural arena in many Arab states As in the majorities of post colonial states in the Arab world the inherited paradigm of cultural heritage has been subject to various forms of adaption and re elaboration that have made it a lively and complex space of negotiations between various actors Thus in The Politics of Cultural Heritage in the Middle East Irene Maffi and Rami Daher draw together expert scholars to unravel these complex processes that are involved in the definition production and consumption of heritage and its material culture in the Middle East and the dynamics of the key actors involved The variety of the cases analysed that cover the region from Morocco to Lebanon as well as the multiplicity of the actors concerned such as the state post colonial or colonial international organizations municipal councils local communities families and even exceptional personalities highlights and explores the complex processes where very local and specific dynamics intertwine with transnational economic political and cultural fluxes In its examination of the workings of cultural heritage in the Middle East this book is an important resource for students and scholars of Middle East Studies Cultural History History of Art and Architecture and for stakeholders involved in the field of cultural heritage

Egypt particularly as the fascist government sought to revive the myth of Mare Nostrum With decolonisation however Italians began abandoning Egypt en masse By 1960 over 40 000 had deserted Egypt some as emigrants others as repatriates and still others as national refugees The departed community became an emblem around which political actors in post colonial Italy and Egypt forged new ties Anticipated actual and remembered departures of Italians from Egypt are at the heart of this book s ambition to rethink European and Mediterranean periodisation Street Sounds Ziad

Fahmy,2020-08-25 As the twentieth century roared on transformative technologies from trains trams and automobiles to radios and loudspeakers fundamentally changed the sounds of the Egyptian streets The cacophony of everyday life grew louder and the Egyptian press featured editorials calling for the regulation of not only mechanized and amplified sounds but also the voices of street vendors the music of wedding processions and even the traditional funerary wails Ziad Fahmy offers the first historical examination of the changing soundscapes of urban Egypt highlighting the mundane sounds of street life while listening to the voices of ordinary people as they struggle with state authorities for ownership of the streets Interweaving infrastructural cultural and social history Fahmy analyzes the sounds of modernity using sounded sources as an analytical tool for examining the past Street Sounds also reveals a political dimension of noise by demonstrating how the growing middle classes used sound to distinguish themselves from the Egyptian masses This book contextualizes sound layering historical analysis with a sensory dimension bringing us closer to the Egyptian streets as lived and embodied by everyday people Henri Pirenne, Historian Sarah Keymeulen,Jo Tollebeek,2011 Henri Pirenne 1862 1935 was a Belgian
