A Short History of the Georgian Church
Reverend S. C. Malan, Aeterna Press, THE desire on the part of the Anglican Church for closer intercourse with the Churches of the East induces me to give from the Russian the following short but interesting account of the Church of Georgia as yet little heard of though venerable alike for its antiquity and for its faithfulness during centuries of untold vicissitudes The author a learned Georgian writing for the first time a history of the Church of his country claims in his Preface the indulgence of his readers for a work which is little more than an outline of the main features of the history he tells Aeterna Press

The Sacred Flame of Love Christopher H. Owen, 1998 Attempting to restore subtlety and nuance to the study of southern religion The Sacred Flame of Love ranges across the entire nineteenth century to chronicle the evolution of the institutions theology and social attitudes of Georgia Methodists in light of such phenomena trends and events as slavery class prejudice republicanism population growth economic development sectional politics war emancipation and urban growth In connecting Methodist history with the larger social transformation of nineteenth century Georgia Christopher H Owen uncovers a story of considerable complexity and variety Because Georgia Methodists included people from every social class few generalizations apply properly to all of them For many years they were loosely united by common adherence to the ideals of Wesleyan evangelicalism but economic and political developments would gradually accentuate Methodist social divisions and weaken even this bond Indeed deviating far from the conception of unchanging and asocial southern religion often held by scholars Owen sees both church and society undergoing enormous change in the nineteenth century

Historical outlines, original settlers, and distinguished residents of the counties of Georgia* Lucian Lamar Knight,1913 Sacred Mission, Worldly Ambition Adele Oltman,2012-01-01 Using Savannah Georgia as a case study Sacred Mission Worldly Ambition tells the story of the rise and decline of Black Christian Nationalism This nationalism emerged from the experiences of segregation as an intersection between the sacred world of religion and church and the secular world of business The premise of Black Christian Nationalism was a belief in a dual understanding of redemption at the same time earthly and otherworldly and the conviction that black Christians once delivered from psychic spiritual and material want would release all of America from the suffering that prevented it from achieving its noble ideals The study s use of local sources in Savannah especially behind the scenes church records provides a rare glimpse into church life and ritual depicting scenes never before described Blending history ethnography and Geertzian dramaturgy it traces the evolution of black southern society from a communitarian nationalist system of hierarchy patriarchy and interclass fellowship to an individualistic one that accompanied the appearance of a new black civil society Although not a study of the civil rights movement Sacred Mission Worldly Ambition advances a bold revisionist interpretation of black religion at the eve of the movement It shows that the institutional primacy of the churches had to give way to a more diversified secular sphere before an overtly politicized struggle for freedom could take place The unambiguously political movement of the 1950s and 1960s that drew on black Christianity and radiated from many black churches was possible only when the churches came to exert less control over members quotidian
