Histological Typing Of Oesophageal And Gastric Tumours:

Histological Typing of Oesophageal and Gastric Tumours Hidenobu Watanabe, Jeremy R. Jass, Leslie H.

Sobin, 2012-12-06 This is the revised edition of the WHO histological classification of oesophageal and gastric tumours. It reflects the important changes that have occurred since the first edition in the fields of lymphomas, endocrine tumours and the dysplasias, as well as adding a number of newly described entities. It sets the international standard for the next decade.

Histological Typing of Skin

Tumours P. J. Heenan, D. Elder, L. H. Sobin, 2012-12-06 Although this second edition retains the concise format of the first edition, the number of tumours described has increased considerably, especially in the melanocytic adnexal fibrous tissue and lymphoid neoplasms. Care has been taken to avoid needless subclassification so as to limit the expansion of categories to those fulfilling demonstrable histological criteria. The commentaries remain succinct whilst including the major diagnostic points with reference to relevant immunohistochemical features. All the illustrations have been changed since the first edition. Of particular importance is the fact that close collaboration with the authors of the AFIP Atlas of Tumor Pathology on Melanocytic and Non-melanocytic Tumors of the Skin ensures a consistent approach to the classification.
