Historic Landmark Survey Spokane Washing:

Historic Landmarks Survey Spokane (Wash.). City Plan Commission, 1978* Monroe and Lincoln Couplet, Main Ave to Intersection of Wall St and Monroe St, Spokane, 1987 North Spokane Freeway Project, Spokane County, 1997 PNLA Quarterly Pacific Northwest Library Association, 1986 SR-290 Spur, Hamilton St to SR-90, Spokane, 1981 Kirtland Cutter Henry C. Matthews, 2018-07-01 In the early years of the twentieth century Spokane was singled out for praise in the West for the quality of its architecture and the impressive way it had rebuilt after the devastating fire of 1889 Major credit for the city's distinctive character was extended to Kirtland Kelsey Cutter for his rare architectural force and genius for design His remarkable career stretching from the Gilded Age to the Great Depression allows a fascinating study of the evolution of an eclectic form of architecture that was an inevitable response to rich regional and historical influences during a time of transition from frontier settlements to modern city Cutter's influence was felt beyond Spokane in Seattle other areas of Washington and in Oregon Idaho and Montana He was also responsible for buildings in the East and even for one in England After financial problems ended his career in the Northwest he began anew at age sixty three in southern California and worked there as an architect until his death in 1939 at age seventy nine Henry Matthews presents a comprehensive study of the whole body of Cutter's work with ample photographs and illustrations The book is based on exhaustive research in both the Northwest and California revealing the influences on Cutter and his associates the processes at work in the design and construction of the buildings and the relations between the architect and the many people who commissioned his work Particularly useful to Matthews's research was a collection of 290 sets of drawings as well as office accounts letters and books from Cutter's library materials acquired by the Eastern Washington State Historical Society He also was able to interview former assistants and clients who provided valuable insights on the architect and the way Cutter worked In addition many of the architect's residences hotels clubs and commercial buildings are still standing This book adds significantly to an understanding of Western urban and regional history But Cutter's experimentation in many styles and the imaginative nature of his work make for a study that goes beyond regional limits and sheds light on national trends Winner of the 1999 Washington State Book Award Northriver Drive Project Construction, Maple St to Mission Ave, Spokane, 1982 Identifying and Assessing Historical Cultural Resources Stephen Dow Beckham, 1978 Sounding Spokane David Wang, 2003 In depth discussions of neighborhood geography architectural themes and gambits parks urban renewal and preservation and other aspects of a city's composition The Historical Archaeology of the Pacific Northwest Douglas C. Wilson, 2024-12-17 How archaeology illuminates the confluence of people places and events that shaped the Pacific Northwest Bordered by the Rocky Mountains to the east and the Pacific Ocean to the west the Pacific Northwest including Oregon Washington Idaho and British Columbia is home to a diverse range of people and cultures whose history is closely tied to the natural environment In this book Douglas Wilson uses historical documents Indigenous oral traditions and the material record to provide a comprehensive overview of the region's historical archaeology from the seventeenth through the twenty-first centuries. The book covers Lewis and Clark's Fort Clatsop, fur trade forts such as Fort Vancouver, Fort Langley, and Fort Nez Percés, Indigenous villages such as Middle Village and Yuquot, the Christian mission at Waiilatpu, the Oregon Trail, the settler town of Champoege, and military locations including Fort Lane, San Juan Island, and Fort Hoskins. Wilson describes how extractive industries like fishing, mining, logging, and fur trapping transformed the environment and the human population. He also discusses transportation, urban development, racism, and government policies through the Great Depression and World War II. Central to the story of the American experience in the Pacific Northwest is the heritage and history of local Indigenous peoples as well as descendant communities of European, African, Asian, and Pacific Islands ancestry. Wilson shows how material artifacts and landscapes can be compared with the documentary record to critically examine colonial and nationalistic narratives illuminating the past and present of Indigenous peoples and immigrant groups in the region. From the Pass to the Pueblos George D. Torok, 2019-09-07. El Camino Real de Tierra Adentro, the Royal Road of the Interior, was a 1,600-mile braid of trails that led from Mexico City in the center of New Spain to the provincial capital of New Mexico on the edge of the empire's northern frontier. The Royal Road served as a lifeline for the colonial system from its founding in 1598 until the last days of Spanish rule in the 1810s. Throughout the Mexican and American Territorial periods, the Camino Real expanded, becoming part of a larger continental and international transportation system, and until the trail was replaced by railroads in the late nineteenth century, functioned as the main pathway for conquest, migration, settlement, commerce, and culture in today's American Southwest. More than 400 miles of the original trail lie within the United States today and stretch from present-day San Elizario, Texas, to Santa Fe, New Mexico. This segment comprises El Camino Real de Tierra Adentro National Historic Trail. It was added to the United States National Trail System in 2000 and is still in use today. This book guides the reader along the trail with histories and overviews of places in New Mexico, West Texas, and the Ciudad Juárez area. It includes a broad overview of the trail's history from 1598 until the arrival of the railroads in the 1880s and describes the communities, landscape, archaeology, architecture, and public interpretation of this historic transportation corridor.
