Joint Task Force Africa:

Joint Task Force: Africa David E. Meadows, 2005-03-01 In war torn West Africa the terrorist leader Abu Alhawl and his followers are on the run pursued by the equally merciless forces of the African National Army whose goal of a united Africa is achieved by the wholesale slaughter of any who oppose them When a reconnaissance plane from Amphibious Force Two is hit by a missile four men are forced to bail out into the middle of a jungle bloodbath and the hunt is on for the American prey Admiral Dick Holman knows that any move he makes could ignite a political powder keg But he also knows that the only way to save his men is to go in and get them out On a par with Tom Clancy Milos Stankovic Meadows will have you turning pages and thinking new thoughts Newt Gingrich

Combined Joint Task Force-Horn of Africa: Winning the War on Terror with Information Engagement, 2007 Combined Joint Task Force Horn of Africa CJTF HOA has developed a course of action COA to win the Global War on Terrorism GWOT in the Horn of Africa Because of the mission the resources available to the task force and the nature of the conflict the command chose a COA that uses Information Operations IO as the decisive strategy Specifically they have focused on the IO task of Information Engagement to accomplish the mission CJTF HOA s performance over the past 5 years has proved that IO is an adequate feasible and acceptable course of action to fight the GWOT in the Horn of Africa Joint and Army doctrine currently specify how IO aligns with warfighting functions The author proposes a change in that doctrinal alignment to better facilitate the synchronization and coordination of IO during planning and execution This new doctrinal alignment also may facilitate the replication of CJTF HOA s success in other regions of the globe The revision of Field Manual 3 0 Operations divides IO into five tasks and assigns certain staff responsibility for each task Under this construct the task of Information Engagement is part of the Command and Control warfighting function and G 7 has responsibility for it The new construct eliminates the need for an IO Working Group As the U S Military reduces troop commitments in Iraq and Afghanistan it should apply this COA to other regions of the globe To achieve the maximum benefit of this COA in new regions the military must incorporate the lessons learned from CJTF HOA These lessons cover a range of topics but the most important ones are command and control interagency coordination and time frame

Guardians of Peace: The Civilian Joint Task Force in Countering Boko Haram in Borno State, Nigeria Seun Bamidele, 2025-03-04 This book offers a new lens on insurgency related peace focusing on the critical role of local initiatives in addressing violent extremism It centers on the Civilian Joint Task Force CJTF a community based peace group formed in Borno State Nigeria in response to the atrocities of Boko Haram With over 26 000 members the CJTF has become a significant player in the fight against Boko Haram working closely with the military across both urban and rural areas Using a qualitative ethnographic approach the book challenges the traditional view that insurgency related peace efforts are solely the responsibility of the state or conventional security forces It highlights how local non state actors like the CJTF contribute effectively to security and peacebuilding shedding light on the complexities of civilian military collaboration Drawing on David Galula s insurgency theory the book examines the CJTF's role in combating Islamic extremism and demonstrates that local peace movements can complement state led efforts This analysis fills a critical gap in the literature offering a unique contribution to the fields of security studies peacebuilding and African politics Ideal for scholars policymakers and practitioners interested in alternative peace strategies community driven security and the challenges of countering extremism this book provides a comprehensive framework for understanding how local and state efforts can work together to achieve lasting peace It offers practical insights into the evolving nature of insurgency related peace and its implications for Nigeria and beyond Signal ,2017

Combined Joint Task Force- Horn of Africa School of Advanced Military Studies,2014-10-26 CJTF HOA developed a course of action to win the War on Terror in the Horn of Africa Because of the mission resources available to the task force and the nature of the conflict the command chose a course of action that used Information Operations as the decisive operation Specifically they focused on the Information Operation task of Information Engagement to accomplish the mission Joint Military doctrine states that a valid COA is one that is adequate feasible acceptable distinguishable and complete Since CJTF HOA already implemented the course of action the analysis was limited to adequate feasible and acceptable CJTF HOA's performance in the past five years proved that Information Operations were an adequate feasible and acceptable course of action to fight the Global War on Terror in the Horn of Africa This Information Operations success story begs the question What are Information Operations The Theory of Information Operations presumes that there is an Information Environment that consists of three domains Cognitive Informational and Physical Information resides in and travels between these domains Joint and Army doctrine provide a common point of departure for how Information Operations align with the warfighting functions Proposed Army Doctrine would change the current alignment to better facilitate planning and execution of Information Operations This new doctrinal alignment is extremely relevant to facilitating the replication of CJTF HOA's success in other regions of the globe Aligning the capabilities of Information Operations along warfighting functions facilitates the synchronization and coordination of Information Operations during planning and execution This is especially important in an operational command such as CJTF HOA The rewrite of FM 3-0 Operations divides Information Operations into five tasks and aligns responsibility for planning and executing these tasks along warfighting functions The new FM 3-0 also assigns staff responsibility for each of the IO tasks Under this construct the task of Information Engagement is part of the Command and Control warfighting function and the G-7 has staff responsibility for that task The new construct eliminates the need for an Information Operations Working Group The IO tasks are coordinated and synchronized by the responsible staff sections in the course of executing the Military Decision Making Process or the Joint Operation Planning Process This war is a war of ideas similar to the Cold War The key to continued success is for the U.S. to continue the mission until the terrorists are convinced of their defeat Continued presence and action in the Horn of Africa demonstrates that the U.S. has the will to prevail in the long conflict As the U.S. Military reduces troop commitments in Iraq and Afghanistan it should apply this course of action to other regions in the globe similar to the Horn of Africa For the U S Military to achieve the maximum benefit of this course of action in new regions the Military must incorporate the lessons learned from CJTF HOA Those lessons cover a range of topics but the most important are command and control interagency coordination and timeframe Implementing these lessons learned reduces risk in future operations Combating terrorism interagency framework and agency programs to address the overseas threat. , Military Review ,2015 Framework for Building Partnership Capacity Programs and Authorities to Meet 21st Century Challenges United States. AFRICOM at 5 Years David Edward Brown, 2013 The U S Africa Command AFRICOM newest of the six U S Department of Defense geographic combatant commands CCMDs was created in 2007 amid great controversy in both Africa and the United States over its location and mission Over the last 5 years AFRICOM has matured greatly overcoming much of the initial resistance from African stakeholders through careful public messaging and by addressing most of the U S interagency concerns about the Command s size and proper role within the U S national security foreign policy community This Letort Paper describes the geostrategic operational and intellectual changes that explain why AFRICOM was created and debunks three myths about AFRICOM that it was created to exploit Africa s oil and gas riches blocks China s rise in Africa and that France opposes AFRICOM The author concludes by raising five issues that are important to AFRICOM s future 1 allocated forces to carry out short term training engagements in Africa 2 preference to emerging democracies in the selection of the

Command's partner nations 3 the desirability of regional approaches in Africa including helping the African Union and its Regional Economic Communities to establish standby brigades 4 the location of the Command's headquarters which should remain in Stuttgart Germany for operational efficiency and 5 the need to carry out a top down right sizing exercise at AFRICOM during a time of severe budget constraints and a real risk for the United States of strategic insolvency
