José Clemente Orozco Bárbara Cruz,1998 This biography recounts the life and career of one of the world's greatest artists Orozco's work has been compared to that of the great painter Michelangelo Famous for their stark depictions of the human condition Orozco's controversial murals still convey a powerful message today José Clemente Orozco in the United States, 1927-1934 ,2002 José Clemente Orozco Clemente Orozco V.,José Clemente Orozco,2004-09 This fully illustrated volume documents José Clemente Orozco's finest work as a printmaker in lithography and intaglio Jose Clemente Orozco In The United States Gonzalez Renato Mello,2002-04-30 The complete North American work of one of Mexico's greatest muralists Among the Mexican muralists working in this country during the 1920s and 1930s including the giants Diego Rivera and David Alfaro Siqueiros the paintings of José Clemente Orozco are arguably the strongest and most politically charged This important and profusely illustrated volume is proof From his first commission Prometheus at Pomona College and his highly political work at the New School for Social Research in New York to what some feel is his masterpiece The Epic of American Civilization at Dartmouth College Orozco's stinging characterizations of hypocrisy greed and oppression challenged conventional conservative views to such an extent that in certain instances demands were made for the destruction of his works All of Orozco's North American work is presented here with discussions on his life and influences as well as his place among the other Mexican artists and his impact on the exuberant art of the 1960s and 1970s Orozco in Gringoland Alejandro Anreus,2001 The New York years represented a crossroads for Orozco as his revolutionary hope gave way to a pessimistic critique of modern society while at the same time he vastly expanded his artistic vision These years were critical in Orozco's career as he found expression for his developing vision of a complex and turbulent world BOOK JACKET José Clemente Orozco José Clemente Orozco,Pomona College (Claremont, Calif.). Museum of Art,2001 The fresco that José Clemente Orozco painted in 1930 at Pomona College in Claremont California was both the artist's first work in the United States and the first Mexican mural in this country As such the Prometheus is a landmark in the history of the Mexican mural movement and of the art of the 20th century The four essays in this volume written over a period of 43 years bear testimony to the undimmed power of the Prometheus to intrigue provoke and inspire Celebrating the college's acquisition of 17 preparatory drawings for the mural from the artist's family the book is illustrated with Orozco's work and that of his contemporaries Mexican Muralists Desmond Rochfort,1993 Traces the lives of three painters of the Mexican mural movement from their childhood in a rural feudal society through the years of revolution and their first commissions from the new State to the years of their artistic maturity José Clemente Orozco's American Murals Edward Ross Pérez,1977 Mexican Art Series: Frescoes in preparatory school by Orozco, Rivera and others Frances Toor,1937 A Guide to Mexican Art Justino Fernández,1969-08-15 A Guide to Mexican Art a survey of more than twenty centuries of art has a double purpose It provides an ample version of one of the great national arts by a leading art historian and it serves simultaneously as a practical guide to the art's outstanding masterpieces. The Guide will thus be of value to specialists and students of Latin American art and to sightseers as an introduction and guide to the art and architecture of Mexico. To facilitate its use for the latter purpose, Professor Fernández has based his exposition on the sensitive analysis of works to be found almost exclusively in museums and public buildings accessible to the tourist. The book was originally published in Spanish in 1958 and revised in 1961. This English translation from the second edition has been brought up to date by the author and translator.

Vida Americana - Mexican Muralists Remake American Art, 1925-1945 Barbara Haskell, Mark A. Castro, 2020-01-01. An in-depth look at the transformative influence of Mexican artists on their U.S. counterparts during a period of social change. The first half of the 20th century saw prolific cultural exchange between the United States and Mexico as artists and intellectuals traversed the countries' shared border in both directions. For U.S. artists, Mexico's monumental public murals portraying social and political subject matter offered an alternative aesthetic at a time when artists were seeking to connect with a public deeply affected by the Great Depression. The Mexican influence grew as the artists José Clemente Orozco, Diego Rivera, and David Alfaro Siqueiros traveled to the United States to exhibit, sell their work, and make large-scale murals working side by side with local artists who often served as their assistants and teaching them the fresco technique. Vida Americana examines the impact of their work on more than 70 artists, including Marion Greenwood, Philip Guston, Isamu Noguchi, Jackson Pollock, and Charles White. It provides a new understanding of art history, one that acknowledges the wide-ranging and profound influence the Mexican muralists had on the style, subject matter, and ideology of art in the United States between 1925 and 1945.

Siqueiros Philip Stein, 1994. An insightful biography of the committed and exciting life of the famed Mexican muralist by an American artist who spent 10 years as his assistant.

Mexican Muralists James Oles, 2011. Ten important works by three muralists at the forefront of Mexico's social revolution. At the forefront of Mexico's social revolution in the first half of the twentieth century were three artists whose murals resonated throughout the Americas and beyond: José Clemente Orozco, Diego Rivera, and David Alfaro Siqueiros. This volume looks at ten important works by these artists from the collection of The Museum of Modern Art.

The Artist in New York José Clemente Orozco, 1974. In his Foreword to this edition, Jean Charlot says: "An unusual feature of Orozco's letters is the great deal that he has to say about art. That one artist writing to another would emphasize art as his subject seems normal enough to the American reader. Yet within the context of the Mexico of those days, the fact remains exceptional. The patria Orozco was leaving behind had even from the point of view of its artists many cares more pressing than art. The letters and unpublished writings of Orozco from this period (1925-1929) describe an important period of transition in the artist's life: from his departure from Mexico almost as a defeated man to the period just before he received the great mural commissions from Pomona College, The New School for Social Research in New York, Dartmouth College, and others that were to bring him lasting international fame."
