ICONOCLASTIA Josep Lluís Mateo, ETH Zurich, 2022-03-18 In the past buildings and other constructions representing singular moments for the community were called monuments Their origin was expression of power celebration of ritual or collective affirmation In the contemporary world a project that aspires to be exceptionally expressive is commonly called an icon The publication begins with a series of general texts on themes that vary but all share a common critical look at the role of the iconic on the recent architecture scene Some of the texts were produced at a seminal symposium organized by the Chair of Professor Josep Lluís Mateo

Barcelona International Convention Centre, 2004 The CCIB is one of the main structures housing the 2004 Forum of Cultures Barcelona and one of the anchors of the new Diagonal Mar district It is not properly a building but a set of objects with different functions clients and programs united by a set of predefined bands that channel this plurality A hotel and office building rise on the northern edge large exhibition and convention halls are located in the central strip and public lobbies restaurants and small conference halls face the sea and the gardens to the south A combination of massive concrete and high precision large span steel the structure is simultaneously conventional and monstrous banal and superhuman With an introduction by Aaron Betsky this book tells the story of the CCIB through the voices of the architects engineers clients consultants and artists that have contributed to their its making

Translucent Building Skins Scott Murray, 2013-05-07 Exploring the design of innovative building enclosure systems or skins in contemporary architecture and their precedents in earlier twentieth century modern architecture this book examines the tectonics the history and the influence of translucency as a defining characteristic in architecture Highly illustrated throughout with drawings and full colour photographs the book shows that translucency has been and continues to be a fertile ground for architectural experimentation Each chapter presents a comparative analysis of two primary buildings a recent project paired with a historical precedent highlighting how architects in different eras have realized the distinctive effects of translucency The included buildings span a variety of program types ranging from a single family residence to a factory to a synagogue Whether it is Pierre Chareau's glass lens curtain wall at the Maison de Verre Frank Lloyd Wright's wall of stacked glass tubes at the Johnson Wax Research Tower or Peter Zumthor's use of acid etched glass in a double skin envelope at the Kunsthau Bregenz the included projects each offer an exemplary case study of innovations in materiality and fabrication techniques Today among many contemporary architects there is an engagement with new technologies new material assemblies and new priorities such as sustainability and energy efficiency A resurgent interest in translucency as a defining quality in buildings has been an important part of this recent dialogue and this book makes essential reading for any architect looking to incorporate aspects of translucency into their buildings A + U, architecture and urbanism, 1996 In Praise of Historical Anthropology Alexandre Coello de la Rosa, Josep Lluís Mateo Dieste, 2020-01-24 In Praise of Historical Anthropology is based on a fundamental conviction the study of society cannot be undertaken without considering the weight of history and separations between disciplines in academics need to be bridged for the benefit of knowledge Anthropology cannot be limited to situating its object in its immediate context rather its true subject of study is society as a historical problem The book describes the complex attempts to transcend this separation presenting perspectives methodologies and direct applications for the study of power relations and systems of social classification paying special attention to the reconstruction of colonial situations Following the maxim expounded by John and Jean Comaroff this book will help us understand that historical anthropology is not a matter of merging the two disciplines of anthropology and history but rather considering societies in their historically situated dimension and applying the tools of the social and human sciences to the analysis In this vein the book reviews the complex attempts to bridge disciplinary separations and theoretical proposals coming from very different traditions The text consequently opens up hegemonic perspectives to include other anthropologies Bibliografía española, 2005-07 International Books in Print, 1997 Mateo Atlas José Luis Mateo, Colegio de Arquitectos de Cataluña, 1998 This bold and impeccably designed book considers renowned architect Josep Lluís Mateo's most recent works and projects in Germany the Netherlands and Spain For Mateo a project always sets out to pose an idea and this book surveys in detail with photos and contributions by several authorities as well as the architect himself how Mateo's ideas make themselves manifest The multiplicity and complexity of Mateo's refined architectural sensibility is nowhere more conveyed than in this book Der Baumeister, 2005-07

Emerging European Architects Wilfried Wang, 1988 Natural Metaphor José Luis Mateo, 2007 Written by cross disciplinary authors across Europe Asia and America this is a compilation of articles and images on using forms in nature for diverse design approaches and perspectives Nature has rendered poetic potential to stimulate as a metaphor the design process From formal conceptual geometrical to literal engagements the scope of potential correlations between nature and design is as far reaching as the human imagination The Eth Zurich is a renowned European architecture institute This is the third book in their acclaimed series Architectural Publications Index ,2003 Mateo Atlas José Luis Mateo,Colegio de Arquitectos de Cataluña,1998 This bold and impeccably designed book considers renowned architect Josep Lluís Mateo's most recent works and projects in Germany the Netherlands and Spain For Mateo a project always sets out to pose an idea and this book surveys in detail with photos and contributions by several authorities as well as the architect himself how Mateo's ideas make themselves manifest The multiplicity and complexity of Mateo's refined architectural sensibility is nowhere more conveyed than in this book World Architecture ,1996 AA Files ,1996 Blueprint ,1995
