Progress in Self Psychology, V. 19 Mark J. Gehrie, 2013-05-13 The contributors to Explorations in Self Psychology volume 19 of the Progress in Self Psychology series wrestle with two interrelated questions at the nexus of contemporary discussions of technique How authentic and relationally invested should the self psychologically informed analyst be and what role should self disclosure play in the treatment process The responses to these questions embrace the full range of clinical possibilities Dudley and Walker argue that empathically based interpretation precludes self disclosure whereas Miller argues in favor of authentic self expression and against the self psychologist's frustrating attempt to decenter from frustration or anger Consideration of the utility of a consistently empathic stance continues with Weisel Barth's clinical presentation and the discussions that it elicits about management of her patient's primary destructiveness Lenoff's critical rereading of Kohut's Examination of the Relationship Between Mode of Observation and Theory and Rieveschl's self psychological work with adolescents and Neville Symington's theory of narcissism Contributions to applied analysis explore topics as diverse as an exchange of dreams between John Adams and Benjamin Rush Mann's Death in Venice the films of Ingmar Bergman psychotherapy of the elderly and disabilities in the sensory motor integration in children And Volume 19 concludes with Constance Goldberg's candid and enlightening reminiscence of Heinz Kohut a very complex man with whom to be in a relationship

Progress in Self Psychology, V. 9 Arnold I. Progress in Self Psychology, V. 14 Arnold I. Goldberg, 2013-05-13 Volume 14 of Progress in Self Psychology The World of Self Psychology introduces a valuable new section to the series publication of noteworthy material from the Kohut Archives of the Chicago Institute for Psychoanalysis In this volume From the Kohut Archives features a selection of previously unpublished Kohut correspondence from the 1940s through the 1970s The clinical papers that follow are divided into sections dealing with Transference and Countertransference Selfobjects and Objects and Schizoid and Psychotic Patients As Howard Bacal explains in his introduction these papers bear witness to the way in which self psychology has increasingly become a relational self psychology a psychology of the individual's experience in the context of relatedness Coburn's reconstruction of countertransference as an experience of self injury in the wake of unresponsiveness to the analyst's own selfobject needs Livingston's demonstration of the ways in which dreams can be used to facilitate a playful and metaphorical communication between analyst and patient Gorney's examination of twinship experience as a fundamental goal of analytic technique and Lenoff's emphasis on the relational aspects of phantasy selfobject experience are among the highlights of the collection Enlarged by contemporary perspectives on gender and self experience and a critical examination of Kohut Loewald and the Postmoderns Volume 14 reaffirms the position of self psychology at the forefront of clinical developmental and conceptual advance Progress in Self Psychology, V. 16 Arnold I. Goldberg, 2013-06-17

Volume 16 of Progress in Self Psychology How Responsive Should We Be illuminates the continuing tension between Kohut's emphasis on the patient's subjective experience and the post Kohutian intersubjectivists' concern with the therapist's own subjectivity by focusing on issues of therapeutic posture and degree of therapist activity Teicholz provides an integrative context for examining this tension by discussing affect as the common denominator underlying the analyst's empathy subjectivity and authenticity Responses to the tension encompass the stance of intersubjective contextualism advocacy of active responsiveness and emphasis on the thoroughgoing bidirectionality of the analytic endeavor Balancing these perspectives are a reprise on Kohut's concept of prolonged empathic immersion and a recasting of the issue of closeness and distance in the analytic relationship in terms of analysis of the tie to the negative selfobject Additional clinical contributions examine severe bulimia and suicidal rage as attempts at self state regulation and address the self reparative functions that inhere in the act of dreaming Like previous volumes in the series volume 16 demonstrates the applicability of self psychology to nonanalytic treatment modalities and clinical populations Here self psychology is brought to bear on psychotherapy with placed children on work with adults with nonverbal learning disabilities and on brief therapy Rector's examination of twinship and religious experience Hagman's elucidation of the creative process and Siegel and Topel's experiment with supervision via the internet exemplify the ever expanding explanatory range of self psychological insights

Progress in Self Psychology, V. 13 Arnold I. Goldberg, 2013-05-13 Volume 13 provides valuable examples of the very type of clinically grounded theorizing that represents progress in self psychology The opening section of clinical papers encompasses compensatory structures facilitating responsiveness repressed memories mature selfobject experience shame in the analyst and the resolution of intersubjective impasses Two self psychologically informed approaches to supervision are followed by a section of contemporary explorations of sexuality Contributions to therapy address transference and countertransference issues in drama therapy an intersubjective approach to conjoint family therapy and the subjective worlds of profound abuse survivors A concluding section of studies in applied self psychology round out this broad and illuminating survey of the field Progress in Self Psychology, V. 8 Arnold I. Goldberg, 2013-05-13 New Therapeutic Visions begins with Lachmann and Beebe's developmental perspectives on representational and selfobject transferences followed by commentaries In Section II the self psychological approach is brought to bear on the clinical treatment of an adolescent girl incest survivors addictive personalities patients exhibiting codependency and a case of desomatization Section III on applied self psychology contains chapters on the theory of creativity subjectivism relativism and realism in psychoanalysis and quantum physics and self psychology The final section offers two critical review essays on major contributions to the self psychology literature by Wolf by Bacal and Newman and by Lichtenberg Stolorow s chronicle of his personal odyssey into self psychology and intersubjectivity theory rounds out volume 8 of the Progress in Self Psychology series

Progress in Self Psychology, V. 18 Arnold I. Goldberg, 2013-06-17 Postmodern Self Psychology the last volume of the Progress in Self Psychology series under the editorship of Arnold Goldberg charts the path of self psychology into the postmodern era of psychoanalysis It begins with Goldberg s thoughtful consideration of the several tributaries of self psychological thought in the decades after Kohut and continues with Mark Gehrie s elaboration of reflective realism as a self psychological way out of epistemological quagmires about the essential reality of the analytic endeavor Clinical contributions offer contemporary perspectives on clinical themes that engaged Kohut in the 1970s a study of the effect of moments of meeting on systems of pathological accommodation a reappraisal of empathy as a bi directional negation and an assessment of the diverse clinical phenomena that justify a prolonged understanding only phase of treatment The theory section of Volume 18 comparably charts the movement of self psychology toward a postmodern sensibility Contributors reappraise intersubjectivity theory as a contextualist treatment approach consistent with dynamic systems theory return to Kohut s concept of selfobject relationships with special attention to the separate subjective and intersubjective components of selfobject experiences and develop one of Kohut s early ideas into a theory of forward edge transferences that strengthen normal self development In all Volume 18 is a richly insightful progress report on the current status of self psychology and a fitting capstone to Arnold Goldberg s distinguished tenure as editor of the Progress in Self Psychology series

The Annual of Psychoanalysis, V. 20 Jerome A. Winer, 2013-05-13 Volume 20 of The Annual of Psychoanalysis ably traverses the analytic canvas with sections on Theoretical Studies Clinical Studies Applied Psychoanalysis and Psychoanalysis and Philosophy The first section begins with Arnold Modell s probing consideration of the paradoxical nature of the self provocatively discussed with John Gedo Modell focuses on the fact that the self is simultaneously public and private dependent and autonomous Alice Rosen Soreff next explores innate motivation and self protective regulatory processes from the standpoint of recent infancy research her notion of a lifelong two track model of self and relatedness helps establish a normative baseline that can anchor psychoanalytic theory George Mahl makes an interesting contribution to Freud studies in the form of a new chronology of Freud s works and the number of pages they contain in the Standard Edition The section ends with Robert Galatzer Levy and Mayer Gruber s quasi experiment about disgust They test and disconfirm the hypothesis that disgust is an affective response to an abstract sense of disorder rather than a transformation of a concrete bodily experience by systematically exploring references to concepts of disgust in the Old Testament Section II on Clinical Studies opens with Henry Smith's fascinating elaboration of Freud's notion of screen memories into a theory of screening that denotes the general process by which mental content is organized He illustrates his thesis by invoking the screen language employed by a patient throughout her analysis Ernest Wolf next explores the tension between being a scientist and a healer in Freud and his followers to illuminate struggles within the psychoanalytic movement and to help account for current attitudes toward abstinence neutrality and gratification Kenneth Newman focuses on this same triptych of technical precepts He argues in the spirit of Winnicott and Kohut that analysts can only alter the hostile internal environments of their patients by becoming usable objects and cultivating an optimally responsive analytic environment A particularly rich collection of applied analytic studies forms Section III of the volume Individual chapters focus on the childhood of Vincent van Gogh W W Meissner the psychological healing process depicted in George Eliot's Silas Marner Richard Almond the self psychological meaning of blood brotherhood in D H Lawrence's Women in Love James Cowan ecstatic mysticism in the 19th century Indian saint Sri Ramakrishna Sudhir Kakar the disintegration of the Tyrone family in Eugene O'Neill's Long Day's Journey into Night Frank and Annette Lachmann and the nature and analytic significance of Freud's aesthetic response to Michelangelo's Moses Gary Goldsmith Finally in Section IV George Brook examines the commonsense psychological knowledge of everyday life that is the nonpsychoanalytic knowledge on which much of clinical psychoanalysis ultimately depends Taken together the four sections of Volume 20 of The Annual offer an exciting overview of contemporary psychoanalysis Section I highlights recent trends in psychoanalytic theorizing and the testing of psychoanalytic propositions Section II explores the relevance of new theoretical perspectives to clinical work Section III demonstrates the applicability of these new perspectives to psychobiographical and literary analysis and Section IV provocatively explores the points of connection between everyday ideas and attitudes and the tenets of psychoanalytic practice

Clinical Expressive Arts Therapy in Theory and Practice Avi Goren-Bar, 2019-06-13

Symptom-Focused Dynamic Psychotherapy Mary E. Connors, 2013-05-13 Traditionally psychoanalytically oriented clinicians have eschewed a direct focus on symptoms viewing it as superficial turning away from underlying psychopathology But this assumption is an artifact of a dated classical approach it should be reexamined in the light of contemporary relational thinking So argues Mary Connors in Symptom Focused Dynamic Psychotherapy an integrative project that describes cognitive behavioral techniques that have been demonstrated to be empirically effective and may be productively assimilated into dynamic psychotherapy What is the warrant for symptom focused interventions in psychodynamic treatment Connors argues that the deleterious impact of symptoms on the patient's physical and emotional well-being often impedes psychodynamic engagement. Symptoms associated with addictive disorders, eating disorders, OCD, and posttraumatic stress receive special attention. With patients suffering from these and other symptoms, Connors finds specific cognitive behavior techniques may relieve symptomatic distress and facilitate a psychodynamic treatment process with its attentiveness to the therapeutic relationship and the analysis of transference and countertransference. Connors' model of integrative psychotherapy, which makes cognitive behavioral techniques responsive to a comprehensive understanding of symptom etiology, offers a balanced perspective that attends to the relational embeddedness of symptoms without skirting the therapeutic obligation to alleviate symptomatic distress. In fact, Connors shows active techniques of symptom management are frequently facilitative of treatment goals formulated in terms of relational psychoanalysis, self psychology, intersubjectivity theory, and attachment research. A discerning effort to enrich psychodynamic treatment without subverting its conceptual ground, Symptom Focused Dynamic Psychotherapy is a bracing antidote to the timeworn mindset that makes a virtue of symptomatic suffering.

Self Psychology Jill Gardner, 2024-09-04 This book offers an in-depth explanation of the concepts of self psychology and pragmatic steps for recognizing and using these concepts in clinical work, helping clinicians move from theory to practice. Both early and contemporary concepts in self psychology and intersubjectivity theory are discussed in successive chapters of the book with illustrative examples drawn from the author's experience working in diverse settings with a wide range of mental health practitioners. Individual chapters shed light on brief treatment, supervision, interpretation, development, agency, and nuances of empathic communication among other topics. In addressing these topics, specific tools for conceptualizing clinical data and guidelines for intervention are also described. The emphasis on helping people via a sustained focus on their internal subjective experience and creating a new self-object bond with the therapist unifies the chapters in this volume. With its rich clinical vignettes and accessible language, Self Psychology: Moving from Theory to Practice is also a valuable resource for supervisors and teachers of self psychology, whether in analytic training institutes, graduate schools of psychology, counseling, and social work, or continuing education programs.

The Spiritual Horizon of Psychotherapy William S. Schmidt, Merle R. Jordan, 2013-09-13 This book explores the wise and conscious use of spiritual resources within counseling and psychotherapy. Written by veteran clinicians from different spiritual perspectives and from various therapeutic schools of thought, this book provides a broad view of how the spiritual is present within therapeutic practice. The work of counseling and psychotherapy is increasingly seeking to ground its efforts within the richness of spiritual traditions. One of the surprising developments of the contemporary psychotherapeutic scene is a growing reliance on both hard, objective sciences such as, for example, neurology or Genetics, whilst at the same time engaging very subjective, soft sciences such as states of consciousness studies, psychology of religion, clinical or Pastoral Theology, and the overarching tasks of meaning-making. Written by and for clinicians who are also teachers in the field, this collection offers a variety of viewpoints in terms of the diverse spiritual traditions they draw from theoretical sources that guide and inform them or the spiritual applications they bring to their work This book was published as a special issue of the Journal of Spirituality in Mental Health
