Learning Networks In Adult Education:

Learning Networks in Adult Education Paul Fordham, Geoff Poulton, Lawrence Randle, 2018-12-07 Originally published in 1979 this book reports on a 3 year action research programme The New Communities Project which aimed in increase working class participation in adult education Basing their argument on the work of the Project the authors contend that adult education must begin with the people themselves to go on and assist their intellectual social psychological cultural and political growth In their view adult education needs to be identified as something more flexible than classes whilst also distinguishing between non formal education and other kinds of community work or development Providing different perspectives on the way in which a service relates to a particular area the book s conclusions have a bearing on both practice and training in a variety of areas concerned with social intervention

Learning Networks in Adult Education Paul Fordham, G. A. Poulton, Lawrence Randle, 1979 Global Networks, Local Actions Marcella Milana, 2016-12-01 Global Networks Local Actions Rethinking adult education policy in the 21st century examines public policy developments in adult education exploring the policy framing of adult education practice in a range of socio cultural contexts and contributing to the development of policy research from global and comparative perspectives Drawing from multidisciplinary fields such as adult education comparative and international education and sociology chapters analyse empirically grounded studies from the US Italy Argentina and Brazil Each study helps to identify how political agents interact at international regional national and local scales and what the implications are for publically funded interventions in adult education While this book recognises the complexity of adult education policy it argues for the need to deconstruct the false belief that what is global in adult education may be intrinsically distinct from the characteristics of geographical or social territories in which adult education occurs Instead it points to localised norms and ideas on Adult Basic and Secondary Education as ultimately contained in and constituting what is at times perceived as global or abstracted from definite geographical or social territories This book calls for a global sociology of adult education in response to global challenges and makes an important contribution to our understanding of developments in public adult education policy As such it will be of key interest to researchers academics and postgraduate students in the fields of adult education comparative and international education education policy and politics sociology of education and global studies and to create new collaborative spaces of learning and research that encompass the diversity of people's life experiences. Doing Critical and Creative Research in Adult Education brings together both leading and emerging scholars in adult education research in order to capture the vitality and complexity of contemporary adult education research. This includes contributions on biographical narrative, embodied arts and media based and ethnographic methods alongside the critical use of quantitative and mixed methods. This distinctive and rich methodological contribution has a general relevance and usefulness for all researchers and students in the social science and humanities which draws attention to the importance of critical and creative participatory learning processes in human life and learning. Lifelong Education for Adults C.J.

Titmus, 2014-06-28 Lifelong Education for Adults: An International Handbook is the first work intended to offer international encyclopedic coverage of research and studies in the whole field of adult education. With 127 articles written by international specialists, this work will be an invaluable reference source for all those who are engaged in educational activities for adults, either as full-time planners, administrators of educational programmes or part-time adult educators. There are, for example, articles on education for work and for living, on population education, peace and environmental education, and on learning for personal development and role fulfilment. Conceptual frameworks, practical issues relating to instructional methods, counselling, curriculum and evaluation, and developments in distance learning, group learning and adult learning are some of the topics discussed. Systems of adult education worldwide, as well as adult education processes and practices, are covered region by region. The problems and initiatives of the developing countries are given attention alongside those of advanced countries. The collection of articles assembled in this Handbook is unique in the range and depth of treatment given to the field of adult education. This volume will thus be of great interest to all engaged in educational activities for adults in adult schools, community centres, institutions of higher education, as well as educationalists, planners and decision makers throughout the world who are involved in adult education at all levels. International Perspectives on Older Adult Education Brian Findsen, Marvin Formosa, 2015-12-29 This important book builds on recent publications in lifelong learning which focus on learning and education in later life. This work breaks new ground in international understandings of what constitutes later life learning across diverse cultures in manifold countries or regions across the world. Containing 42 separate country/regional analyses of later life learning, the overall significance resides in insiders' conceptualisations and critique of this emerging sub-field of lifelong learning and adult education. International Perspectives on Older Adult Education provides new appreciation of what is happening in countries from Europe 14, Africa 10, the Americas 7, Asia 9 and Australasia 2, as authored by adult educators and/or social gerontologists in respective geographical areas. These analyses are contextualised by a thorough introduction and critical appraisal where trends and fresh insights are revealed. The outcome of this book is a never before available critique of what it means to be an older learner in specific nations and the accompanying opportunities and barriers for learning and education. The sub-title of research policy and practice conveys the territory that authors traverse in which rhetoric and reality are interrogated Coverage in chapters includes conceptual analysis historical patterns of provision policy developments theoretical perspectives research studies challenges faced by countries and success stories of later life learning The resultant effect is a vivid portrayal of a vast array of learning that occurs in later life across the globe Brian Findsen is Professor of Education and Postgraduate Leader for Te Whiringa School of Educational Leadership and Policy Faculty of Education University of Waikato Hamilton New Zealand Marvin Formosa is Head of the Department of Gerontology Faculty for Social Wellbeing University of Malta and Director of the International Institute on Ageing United Nations Malta
