Learning Society And People With Learning Difficulties:

The Learning Society and People with Learning Difficulties Riddell, Sheila, Baron, Stephen, Alastair Wilson, 2001-05-16

This work argues that policy based on human capital premises has produced forms of lifelong learning which exacerbate the marginalization of people with learning disabilities It explores the links between community care education training employment housing and benefits policies The Meaning of the Learning Society for Adults with Learning Difficulties S. I.

Riddell, S. Baron, Economic and Social Research Council, 1999

Differing visions of a Learning Society Vol 2 Coffield,

Frank, 2000-11-06 Is lifelong learning the big idea which will deliver economic prosperity and social justice Or will it prove to be another transient phenomenon Picture lifelong learning the editor suggests as making its way through three overlapping stages romance evidence and implementation Lifelong learning is tentatively entering the second stage where research evidence is beginning to challenge the vacuous rhetoric of the stage of romance The findings from the Economic and Social Research Council's programme of research into the Learning Society are presented in two volumes of which this is the second The editor Frank Coffield begins by surveying as a whole the findings of the 14 projects and summarises them in a number of recurrent themes and policy recommendations The chapters which follow present the aims methods findings and policy implications of six projects Volume 1 contains similar chapters on the other projects Taken together the conclusions suggest very different ways of thinking about a Learning Society and very different policies from those in operation at present The two volumes demonstrate from empirical evidence the continuing weaknesses of current policies and make proposals based on hard evidence for more effective structural changes This second volume presents findings from a national survey of the skills of British workers and it discusses both the meaning of the Learning Society for adults with learning difficulties and the use of social capital to explain patterns of lifelong learning Other chapters present for the first time five different trajectories of lifelong learning explore the determinants of participation and non participation in learning and examine innovation in Higher Education Finally two differing visions of a Learning Society are contrasted The first extrapolates existing policies and practices into the next 5 10 years and finds them seriously wanting The second option calls for more democracy rather than technocracy and develops a kaleidoscopic array of possible futures which find their source in the empirical work of the 14 projects These volumes are essential reading for politicians policy makers practitioners employers and all teachers with responsibility for lifelong learning Differing Visions of a Learning Society Vol 1

Frank Coffield, 2000-07-26 This volume provides an examination of what is meant by the learning society and how it can contribute to the development of knowledge and skills for employment and other areas of adult life The Learning

Society: Challenges and Trends Richard Edwards, Peter Raggatt, Nick Small, 2013-12-16 The learning society is not a new idea although its popularity has grown in recent years with the suggestion that lifelong learning is a condition for economic competitiveness in a global economy replacing the earlier conception of it as a condition for democratic citizenship This reader designed to accompany Module E827 of the MA in Education critically examines the demographic technological economic and cultural challenges which have led to interest in the idea of a learning society and explores their policy and practical implications for lifelong learning It also explores and evaluates trends in education and training which support the development of a learning society Overall the book provides readers with a range of opinions on the learning society within which broad context they can place their own practice

The Creative Art of Troublemaking in Education Frank Coffield, 2024-09-09 Drawing on a lifetime's experience and research in education Frank Coffield brings together some of his previously published papers to assess the impact of a wide range of national educational policies and to examine the role of the state in public education He concludes that damage has been done to education by political parties of both right and left and that damage will not be reversed until further vocational and adult education receive the same levels of commitment and resource as other sectors serious steps are taken to tackle Britain's unacceptable levels of poverty and the powers of the state are reduced Among the unresolved challenges highlighted are the plight of young people from deprived estates their tactics in dealing with unemployment the task of improving learning schools inspection and system governance the failure to increase productivity being blamed solely on education and the dysfunctional and undemocratic political framework on which education reform is forced to depend An essential read for anyone in education this provocative criticism of our past and current educational system provides an accessible as well as a humorous critique of educational policy and politics

Anti-Capital: Human, Social and Cultural Jacek Tittenbrun, 2016-04-15 The notion of capital has enjoyed a rich career in the social sciences its use across a range of subjects and in diverse academic and professional contexts having served to establish its conceptual status as given With particular attention to human and social capital including cultural capital this book traces the roots of this theoretical and conceptual trend to economics revealing the proliferation of various forms of capital to be based upon an encroachment of the conceptual apparatus of economics into other social sciences Offering an in depth critical analysis of the concepts of human and social capital as well as their surrounding theories Anti Capital Human Social and Cultural proposes an alternative theoretical framework whilst better explaining the realities that they mask in economic terms A rigorous exploration of the most popular forms of capital in the contemporary social sciences this book will be of interest to scholars and students of sociology political and social theory demography and economics

Globalization, Lifelong Learning and the Learning Society Peter Jarvis, 2007-03-12 This book critically assesses the learning that is required and provided within a learning society and gives a detailed sociological analysis of the emerging role of lifelong learning with examples from around the globe Divided into three clear parts the book looks at the development of the knowledge economy provides a critique of lifelong learning and the learning society focuses on the changing nature of research in the learning society The author well known and highly respected in this field examines how lifelong learning and the learning society have become social phenomena across the globe He argues that the driving forces of globalisation are radically changing lifelong learning and shows that adult education learning only gained mainstream status because of these global changes and as learning became more work orientated Inside the Learning Society Stewart Ranson,1998-11-01 As an approach to the diverse and shifting learning needs of today the learning society labours under a definitional generosity which has led to three different models evolving with competing claims This book traces the history of the concept and lucidly lays out these three interpretive models learning for work learning for citizenship and learning for democracy The book s close scrutiny concludes with an analysis that synthesizes and sharpens our understanding of the learning society With due consideration given to the emerging critique and with chapters from public bodies engaged in implementing learning society principles Inside the Learning Society offers a comprehensive appraisal of ideas and practices This is a book of great significance for anyone concerned about or involved in the future of education Powering a Learning Society During an Age of Democracy, Lifelong Learning and the Learning Society Peter Jarvis, 2008-06-10 This is a book with a difference it produces a completely new perspective on lifelong learning and the learning society and locates them within humanity itself Five themes run through this book Humankind has always been aware of the imperfections of human society as a consequence it has looked back to a mythological past and forward to a utopian future that might be religious political economic or even educational to find something better Lifelong learning as we currently see it is like two sides of the same coin we learn in order to be workers who produce and learn we have a need to consume We then devour the commodities we have produced whilst others take the profits One of the greatest paradoxes of the human condition has been the place of the individual in the group community or conversely how the groups allow the individual to exist rather than stifle individuality Modernity is flawed and the type of society that we currently have which we in the West call a learning society is in need of an ethical overhaul in this late modern age There is a need to bring a different perspective both political and ethical on lifelong learning and the learning society in order to try to understand what the good society and the good life might become In Democracy Lifelong Learning and the Learning Society the third volume of his trilogy on lifelong learning Professor Jarvis expertly addresses the issues that arise from the vision of the learning society The book concludes that since human beings continue to learn so the learning society must be a process within the incomplete project of humanity All three books in the trilogy will be essential reading for students in education HRD and teaching and learning generally in addition to academics and informed practitioners The Lifelong Learning and the Learning Society Trilogy Volume 1 Towards a Comprehensive Theory of Human Learning Volume 2 Globalisation Lifelong Learning and the Learning Society Volume 3 Democracy Lifelong Learning and the Learning Society Peter Jarvis is an internationally renowned expert in the field of adult learning and continuing education He is Professor of Continuing Education at the University of Surrey UK and honorary Adjunct Professor in Adult Education at the University of Georgia USA The Learning Society Elisabeth
