Learning To Teach In Higher Education:

Learning to Teach in Higher Education Paul Ramsden, 2003 This classic text combines practical advice with sound theory to provide a comprehensive introduction to the practice of university teaching. It argues that to be a good teacher you must first understand the experience of learning from the perspective of the student. Learning to Teach in Higher Education Paul Ramsden, 2003

Learning and Teaching in Higher Education Greg Light, Roy Cox, Susanna Calkins, 2009-05-13 This book provides teachers in higher education with what they need: a compelling framework for improving student learning. It combines a comprehensive synthesis of the latest research on learning and teaching with practical strategies for implementing it in their classrooms. Professor Ken Bain, Author of What the Best College Teachers Do, Vice Provost for Instruction, Montclair State University, Praise for the First Edition: For too long we have waited for a book that brings together the best contemporary thinking about learning and teaching and that connects with academics' everyday teaching practice in an engaging way. At last, in this book, we have it. Ronald Barnett, Institute of Education, University of London. Worldwide higher and professional education services are challenged by increased student numbers and diversity, tougher demands for professional accountability, increasing calls for educational relevance, and thinning resources. This new edition addresses key issues in the practice and theory of teaching and learning in the sector and includes fully updated discussions of the professional in academic practice, mentoring, teaching with technology, the relationship between learning objectives, outcomes, and assessment, the novice teacher. The authors draw on theory, practice, and current research to provide a new way of thinking about the many aspects of learning and teaching in higher education, enabling readers to reflect critically on their teaching. They also propose a model for continuous professional development appropriate to the higher education academic community. Learning Teaching in Higher Education: The Reflective Professional is for lecturers, researchers, staff developers, and others involved in teaching in higher and professional education. Greg Light is Director of the Searle Center for Teaching Excellence and an associate professor in the School of Education and Social Policy at Northwestern University, Chicago. Roy Cox was a visiting academic at the University of London where he helped establish one of the first centres for learning and teaching in higher education in the world. Susanna Calkins is Associate Director for Faculty Development at the Searle Center for Teaching Excellence.

Teaching and Learning in Higher Education James E Groccia, William F Buskist, 2014-08-30 As the world gets flatter in Thomas Friedman's terms the need to understand learning and teaching becomes critically important in educating the next generation of college and university students This collection presents the major theoretical empirical and best practice articles and book chapters on teaching and learning in higher education The prestigious editors have specially selected material from multiple perspectives including cross cultural from U S and international educational experts The work identifies seven interrelated variables that must be investigated to develop a full perspective of college and university teaching and learning teacher learner learning Process learning Context course Content instructional Processes learning Outcomes Shaping Higher Education with Students Vincent C. H. Tong,Alex Standen,Mina Sotiriou,2018-03-06 Forging closer links between university research and teaching has become an important way to enhance the quality of higher education across the world As student engagement takes centre stage in academic life how can academics and university leaders engage with their students to connect research and teaching more effectively In this highly accessible book the contributors show how students and academics can work in partnership to shape research based education Featuring student perspectives it offers academics and university leaders practical suggestions and inspiring ideas on higher education pedagogy including principles of working with students as partners in higher education connecting students with real world outputs transcending disciplinary boundaries in student research activities connecting students with the workplace and innovative assessment and teaching practices Written and edited in full collaboration with students and leading educator researchers from a wide spectrum of academic disciplines this book poses fundamental questions about learning and learning communities in contemporary higher education Learning, Teaching and Assessment in Higher Education Sally Brown,2020-04-21 For both new and existing staff in HE this book provides a handbook on learning to teach Whilst considering the scholarship that has underpinned teaching and learning for the last half century the book also takes into account the changing nature of the student body HE institutions and potentially of learning itself Features international perspectives on pedagogy EBOOK: Enhancing Learning, Teaching, Assessment and Curriculum in Higher Education Veronica Bamber,Paul Trowler,Murray Saunders,Peter Knight,2009-03-16 Higher education is a particularly complex site for enhancement initiatives This book offers those involved in change a coherent conceptual overview of enhancement approaches of the change context and of the probable interactions between them The book sets enhancement within a particular type of change dynamic which focuses on social practices The aim is to base innovation and change on the probabilities of desired outcomes materializing rather than on the romanticism of policies that underestimate the sheer difficulty of making a difference Following a theoretical introduction to these ideas there are case studies from the UK Australia New Zealand South Africa and Norway at the national institutional departmental and individual levels illustrating the argument that enhancement is best achieved when it works with social practices in real institutional and organizational settings In a final section the authors link the case examples and theoretical frameworks inviting readers to consider their own enhancement situations and apply the frameworks for action offered in earlier sections of the book The book doesn't offer quick fix solutions but aims to support change with practical examples conceptual tools and reflexive questions for those involved in change at all levels It is key reading for higher education lecturers managers educational developers and policy makers
