Pain Patrick Wall, 2002-05-07 Pain is one of medicine s greatest mysteries When farmer John Mitson caught his hand in a baler he cut off his trapped hand and carried it to a neighbor Sheer survival and logic was how he described it And strangely I didn t feel any pain How can this be We re taught that pain is a warning message to be heeded at all costs yet it can switch off in the most agonizing circumstances or switch on for no apparent reason Many scientists philosophers and laypeople imagine pain to operate like a rigid simple signaling system as if a particular injury generates a fixed amount of pain that simply gets transmitted to the brain yet this mechanistic model is woefully lacking in the face of the surprising facts about what people and animals do and experience when their bodies are damaged Patrick Wall looks at these questions and sets his scientific account in a broad context interweaving it with a wealth of fascinating and sometimes disturbing historical detail such as famous characters who derived pleasure from pain the unexpected reactions of injured people the role of endorphins and the power of placebo He covers cures of pain ranging from drugs and surgery through relaxation techniques and exercise to acupuncture electrical nerve stimulation and herbalism Pain involves our state of mind our social mores and beliefs and our personal experiences and expectations Stepping beyond the famous neurologic gate control theory for which he is known Wall shows that pain is a matter of behavior and its manifestation differs among individuals situations and cultures The way we deal with pain is an expression of individuality

Topical Issues in Pain 4 Louis Gifford, 2013-09 This fourth volume contains further ground breaking and highly relevant work Taking on the placebo and nocebo phenomenon pain management and muscles and pain the volume yet again promotes the forward thinking and cutting edge work of the Physiotherapy Pain Association In Part 1 a number of internationally renowned clinicians and researchers have come together to produce the first published attempt to broadly address and critically appraise the placebo and nocebo phenomenon from a clinical perspective for physiotherapists The information and the way the material is presented should fascinate as well as challenge readers to think and work differently Understanding the placebo fully requires a radical shift in thinking about human recovery mechanisms and the way in which treatments can be triggered to work at their most efficient Part 2 takes on three more pain management topics the integration of pain management approaches and techniques for individual therapists working with individual patients or in out patient settings information giving for patients and addressing the taxing problem of improving fitness in patients with chronic pain related incapacity The last part is devoted to some major issues surrounding the relationship of muscles to pain Many current beliefs about the role of muscles come under scrutiny and some are constructively challenged by new proposals Perhaps the most exciting aspect of the work presented here is that physiotherapy if it fully integrates the information provided into clinical practice should be increasingly recognised as the central and essential component of modern management of musculoskeletal pain states The Topical Issues in Pain series derives from the work study days and seminars of the Physiotherapy Pain Association and is written by clinicians for clinicians Each volume reviews the literature and presents best practice in a lively and understandable text All clinicians will benefit from the straightforward advice
