Joshs Revenge:

Realism's Others Eva Aldea, Geoffrey Baker, 2010-07-12 For at least a century scholarship on realist narrative and occasional polemics against realist narrative have assumed that realism promotes the values of sameness against those of otherness and that it does so by use of a narrative mode that excludes certain epistemologies ideologies and ways of thinking However the truth is more complex than that as the essays in this volume all demonstrate Realism's Others examines the various strategies by which realist narratives create the idea of difference whether that difference is registered in terms of class ethnicity epistemology nationality or gender The authors in this collection examine in detail not just the fact of otherness in some canonical realist and canonical magical realist and postmodern novels but the actual means by which that otherness is established by the text These essays suggest that neither realist narrative nor narratives positioned as anti realist take otherness for granted rather the texts discussed here actively create difference and this creation of difference often occasions severe difficulties for the novels representational schema How does one represent different types of knowledge other aesthetic modes or other spaces for example in texts whose epistemology has long been seen as secular and empirical whose aesthetic mode has always been approached as pure descriptive mimesis and whose settings are largely domestic These essays all begin with a certain collision of nationalities of classes of representational matrices of religions and go on to chart the challenges that this collision presents to our ideas or stereotypes of realism or to the possibilities of writing against and beyond realism This question motivates examination of key realist or social realist texts in some of these essays by Honor de Balzac George Eliot Franz Grillparzer Theodor Storm Gottfried Keller Theodor Fontane Wilhelm Raabe Mar a Amparo Ruiz de Burton Henry James William Dean Howells Charles Chesnutt Theodore Dreiser H T Tsiang Alan Sillitoe and Richard Yates However it is no less central a question in certain non realist texts which engage realist aims to a surprising degree often to debate them openly some of these essays discuss in this light fantastic magical realist and postmodern works by Abram Tertz Paul Auster Alejo Carpentier Toni Morrison Gabriel Garc a M rquez Salman Rushdie and A S Byatt Realism becomes more than an aesthetic aim or narrative mode It becomes rather a value evoked and discussed by all of the works analyzed here in order to reveal its impact on fiction's treatment of ethnicity nationality ideology space gender and social class

volume of his two volume commentary on the book of Joshua Thomas B Dozeman provides an overview of critical debates surrounding the composition of the book its function in relationship to the Pentateuch and the Former Prophets and the role of geography in ancient literature He shows how the book of Joshua originated as an independent Samaritan myth of tribal conquest and land distribution and outlines how it evolved into its role as an Israelite origin story Complete with a thorough introduction and a new translation of these twelve chapters this volume explores how the book of Joshua employs the twin themes of genealogy and geography to underscore both unity and difference among the tribes conveying ancient Israelite beliefs about ownership identity and power

Remembering Biblical Figures in the Late Persian and Early Hellenistic Periods Diana V. Edelman, Ehud Ben Zvi, 2013-08-29 Social memory studies offer an under utilised lens through which to approach the texts of the Hebrew Bible In this volume the range of associations and symbolic values evoked by twenty one characters representing ancestors and founders kings female characters and prophets are explored by a group of international scholars The presumed social settings when most of the books comprising the TANAK had come into existence and were being read together as an emerging authoritative corpus are the late Persian and early Hellenistic periods It is in this context then that we can profitably explore the symbolic values and networks of meanings that biblical figures encoded for the religious community of Israel in these eras drawing on our limited knowledge of issues and life in Yehud and Judean diasporic communities in these periods This is the first period when scholars can plausibly try to understand the mnemonic effects of these texts which were understood to encode the collective experience members of the community providing them with a common identity by offering a sense of shared past while defining aspirations for the future The introduction and the concluding essay focus on theoretical and methodological issues that arise from analysing the Hebrew Bible in the framework of memory studies The individual character studies as a group provide a kaleidoscopic view of the potentialities of using a social memory approach in Biblical Studies with the essay on Cyrus written by a classicist in order to provide an enriching perspective on how one biblical figure was construed in Greek social memory for comparative purposes
