Excerpt from Lectures on the Constitution of the United States Before the Law Class of Mercer University. These lectures, introductory to the explanation of the Constitution as made to the Law students of Mercer University, are printed in response to many requests for their publication in this form, especially from young men. They were printed as they were delivered and given wide publicity by the Macon Telegraph. The evident interest manifested in the historical incidents they detail must be ascribed in large part to this action of that widely read journal It is however gratifying to believe also that after many formidable assaults and misleading interpretations from time to time aimed at the indispensable and inherent powers of the noble instrument to which they relate its established efficacy for all the essentials of National Government has won for it lasting popular confidence and the anxious desire of enlightened Americans to master its principles About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
