Lee Boo Of Belau:

Lee Boo of Belau Daniel J. Peacock,1987 Disassembling and Decolonizing School in the Pacific David W. Kupferman,2012-08-11 Schooling in the region known as Micronesia is today a normalized ubiquitous and largely unexamined habit As a result many of its effects have also gone unnoticed and unchallenged By interrogating the processes of normalization and governmentality that circulate and operate through schooling in the region through the deployment of Foucaultian conceptions of power knowledge and subjectivity this work destabilizes conventional notions of schooling s neutrality self evident benefit and its role as the key to contemporary notions of so called political economic and social development This work aims to disquiet the idea that school today is both rooted in some distant past and a force for decolonization and the postcolonial moment Instead through a genealogy of schooling the author argues that school as it is currently practiced in the region is the product of the present emerging from the mid 1960s shift in US policy in the islands the very moment when the US was trying to simultaneously prepare the islands for putative self determination while producing ever increasing colonial relations through the practice of schooling The work goes on to conduct a genealogy of the various subjectivities produced through this present schooling practice notably the student the teacher and the child parent family It concludes by offering a counter discourse to the normalized narrative of schooling and suggests that what is displaced and foreclosed on by that narrative in fact holds a possible key to meaningful decolonization and self determination

The Pacific Islands Brij V. Lal,Kate Fortune,2000-01-01 An encyclopaedia of information on major aspects of Pacific life including the physical environment peoples history politics economy society and culture The CD ROM contains hyperlinks between section titles and sections a library of all the maps in the encyclopaedia and a photo library Report on the Administration of the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands United States. Department of State,1989 Pacific Worlds Matt K. Matsuda,2012-01-19 Essential single volume history of the Pacific region and the global interactions which define it

Counterflows to Colonialism Michael Herbert Fisher,2006 Race and Redemption Jane Samson,2017-11-06 Race and Redemption is the latest volume in the Studies in the History of Christian Missions series which explores the significant yet sometimes controversial impact of Christian missions around the world In this historical examination of the encounter between British missionaries and people in the Pacific Islands Jane Samson reveals the paradoxical yet symbiotic nature of the two stances that the missionaries adopted othering and brothering She shows how good and bad intentions were tangled up together and how some blind spots remained even as others were overcome Arguing that gender was as important a category in the story as race Samson paints a complex picture of the interactions between missionaries and native peoples and the ways in which perspectives shaped by those encounters have endured Victorian Coral Islands of Empire, Mission, and the Boys' Adventure Novel Michelle Elleray,2019-11-06 Attending to the mid Victorian boys adventure novel and its connections with missionary culture Michelle Elleray investigates how empire was conveyed to Victorian children in popular forms with a focus on the South Pacific as a key location of adventure tales and missionary efforts. The volume draws on an evangelical narrative about the formation of coral islands to demonstrate that missionary investments in the socially marginal, the young, the working class, the racial other generated new forms of agency that are legible in the mid-Victorian boys' adventure novel even as that agency was subordinated to Christian values identified with the British middle class. Situating novels by Frederick Marryat, R. M. Ballantyne, and W. H. G. Kingston in the periodical culture of the missionary enterprise, this volume newly historicizes British children's textual interactions with the South Pacific and its peoples. Although the mid-Victorian authors examined here portray British presence in imperial spaces as a moral imperative, our understanding of the adventurer is transformed from the plucky explorer to the cynical mercenary through Robert Louis Stevenson, who provides a late nineteenth-century critique of the imperial and missionary assumptions that subtended the mid-Victorian boys' adventure novel of his youth.

Texts and Contexts Doug Munro, Brij V. Lal, 2005-11-30. Texts and Contexts is concerned with the development of Pacific Islands history as a specialization in its own right. Specifically, this volume examines the foundational texts that pioneered and consolidated the new subdiscipline and served as the building blocks and stepping stone for further developments in the field. Thirty-five texts, all of which represent defining points in the development of Pacific Islands historiography, are examined. Much more than retrospective appraisals of the foundational texts, the individual chapters consider a text or complementary texts within the context of the time of writing and gauge what ongoing influence they exerted. In some cases, they suggest how a particular text has been superseded by subsequent work that breaks new conceptual ground in the ongoing process of revisionism.

The People Trade Dorothy Shineberg, 1999-05-31. The story of the people from the New Hebrides, Vanuatu, and the Solomon Islands who left their homes to work in the French colony of New Caledonia has long remained a missing piece of Pacific Islands history. Now Dorothy Shineberg has brought these laborers to life by painstakingly assembling fragments from a wide variety of scattered records and documents. She tells the story of their recruitment, then sketches the workers' lives in New Caledonia, describing the contractual arrangements, the kinds of work they did, their living conditions, how they spent their free time, the large numbers who sickened and died, and the choice at the end of the contract to remain in the colony as free workers or to return home. Throughout the book, she throws light on the controversy about the recruiting of the Islanders.

were they kidnapped Or did they choose to leave home If so what motivated them Evidently the Islanders cheap labor contributed to the development of the French colony but how did the episode affect them and their homeland The People Trade offers readers a revealing new picture of a long neglected side of the Pacific Islands labor trade Savage Visit Kate Fullagar,2012-11 In eighteenth century Britain the appearance of savages from the New World provoked intense fascination Though such people had been arriving periodically for decades it was only then that the savage visit became a sensation Using a wealth of sources Kate Fullagar shows why the phenomenon grew and how it related to bitter debates over the morality of imperial expansion The Tree and the Canoe Joël Bonnemaison,1994-01-01 This personal observation of Tanna an island in the southern part of the Vanuatu archipelago presents an extraordinary case study of cultural resistance Based on interviews myths and stories collected in the field and archival research The Tree and the Canoe analyzes the resilience of the people of Tanna who when faced with an intense form of cultural contact that threatened to engulf them liberated themselves by re creating and sometimes reinventing their own kastom Following a lengthy history of Tanna from European contact the author discusses in detail original creation myths and how Tanna people revived them in response to changes brought by missionaries and foreign governments The final chapters of the book deal with the violent opposition of part of the island population to the newly established National Unity government Vanished Wil S.
