Feuilleton De Montreal:

Becoming Native in a Foreign Land Gillian Poulter, 2010-01-01 How did British colonists in Victorian Montreal come to think of themselves as native Canadian This incisive richly illustrated work reveals that colonists adopted Aboriginal and French Canadian activities hunting lacrosse snowshoeing and tobogganing and appropriated them while imposing British ideologies of order discipline and fair play In the process they constructed visual icons that were recognized at home and abroad as distinctly Canadian national symbols The new Canadian nationality mimicked indigenous characteristics but ultimately rejected indigenous players instead championing the interests of white middle class Protestant males who used their newly acquired identity to dominate the political realm Becoming Native in a Foreign Land demonstrates that English Canadian identity was not formed solely by emulating what was British In fact it gained enormous ground by usurping what was indigenous in the fertile landscape of a foreign land A vital and original study it will appeal to scholars and enthusiasts of Canadian history identity and culture

The Social Dimensions of Fiction Steven Tötösy de Zepetnek, 2013-11-11 This work is a comparative study of nineteenth century English Canadian and French Canadian novel prefaces a previously unexplored literary topic As a study in Comparative Literature with the application of a specific literary framework and methodology the study conforms to theoretical and methodological postulates formulated in and prescribed by this framework when applied This a priori postulate necessitates that the research on and the presentation of the Canadian novel preface be carried out in a specific manner as follows First the study will establish the hypothesis that the preface to nineteenth century English Canadian and French Canadian novels is a genre in its own right This hypothesis will rest on the following 1 a taxonomical survey of related terms meaning preface 2 a survey of secondary literature of works dealing with the preface 3 a discussion of the theoretical framework and methodology of the Empirical Theory of Literature and its appropriateness for the study of the preface and 4 a discussion of the process of the compilation of the corpus of nineteenth century Canadian novel prefaces Chapter one In a second step the theoretical postulate outlined in the hypothesis will be put into practice by the development and production of a preface typology Chapter two In a third step further tenets of the Empirical Theory of Literature will be tested on the corpus of the prefaces Chapter three In a fourth step the prefaces will be analysed following the tenets formulated in and prescribed by the systemic framework applied Chapter four

History of Literature in Canada Reingard M. Nischik, 2008 The development of literature in Canada with an eye to its multicultural multiethnic multilingual nature From modest colonial beginnings literature in Canada has arrived at the center stage of world literature Works by English Canadian writers both established writers such as Margaret Atwood and new talents such as Yann Martel make regular appearances on international bestseller lists French Canadian literature has also found its own voice in the North American and francophone worlds CanLit has likewise developed into a staple of academic interest pursued in Canadian Studies programs in Canada and around the world This volume draws on the expertise of scholars from Canada Germany Austria and France tracing Canadian literature from the indigenous oral tradition to the development of English Canadian and French Canadian literature since colonial times. Conceiving of Canada as a single but multifaceted culture, it accounts for specific characteristics of English and French Canadian literatures such as the vital role of the short story in English Canada or that of the chanson in French Canada. Yet special attention is also paid to Aboriginal literature and to the pronounced transcultural ethnically diverse character of much contemporary Canadian literature, thus moving clearly beyond the traditions of the two founding nations.

Canadian Periodical Index, 1994 Science Fiction from Quebec Amy J. Ransom, 2009-05-20 This first book-length study of French language science fiction from Canada provides an introduction to the subgenre known as SFQ science fiction from Quebec. In addition, it offers in-depth analyses of SFQ sagas by Jacques Brossard, Esther Rochon, and Elisabeth Vonarburg. It demonstrates how these multivolume narratives of colonization and postcolonial societies exploit themes typical of postcolonial literatures, including the denunciation of oppressive colonial systems, the utopian hope for a better future, and the celebration of tolerant pluralistic societies. A bibliography of SFQ available in English translation is included.
