Moto-Oka,2012-12-02 The Japan Information Processing Development Centre JIPDEC established a committee for Study and Research on Fifth Generation Computers Beginning in 1979 this Committee set out on a two year investigation into the most desirable types of computer systems for application in the 1990 s fifth generation computers and how the development projects aimed at the realization of these systems should be carried forward This book contains the papers presented at the International Conference on Fifth Generation Computer Systems Included among these papers is a preliminary report on the findings of the Committee Management, a Bibliography for NASA Managers ,1987-04 Parallel Processing and Parallel Algorithms Seyed H Roosta,2012-12-06 Motivation It is now possible to build powerful single processor and multiprocessor systems and use them efficiently for data processing which has seen an explosive expansion in many areas of computer science and engineering One approach to meeting the performance requirements of the applications has been to utilize the most powerful single processor system that is available When such a system does not provide the performance requirements pipelined and parallel processing structures can be employed The concept of parallel processing is a departure from sequential processing In sequential computation one processor is involved and performs one operation at a time On the other hand in parallel computation several processors cooperate to solve a problem which reduces computing time because several operations can be carried out simultaneously Using several processors that work together on a given computation illustrates a new paradigm in computer problem solving which is completely different from sequential processing From the practical point of view this provides sufficient justification to investigate the concept of parallel processing and related issues such as parallel algorithms Parallel processing involves utilizing several factors such as parallel architectures parallel algorithms parallel programming languages and performance analysis which are strongly interrelated In general four steps are involved in performing a computational problem in parallel The first step is to understand the nature of computations in the specific application domain A Structured Approach to Computer Strategy John Jeffrey Eastlake,1987 Abstracting Reality Mark J. P. Wolf,2000 Abstracting Reality considers the relationship between digital technology and culture and their mutual influences on each other The book begins with an examination of how everyday life became quantized over time setting the stage for digital technology which developed out of communication machine control and calculating machines From there the book explores how digital technology changed the nature of art inherent culture biases in digitization composite imagery machine mediated communication the metaphor of cyberspace virtual reality and finally the way in which digital technology and imaging changes the very nature of indexicality itself Microcosm George Gilder,1990-07-15 From Simon Schuster Microcosm is the provocative national bestseller by
