Yotova,2018-06-18 Georges Seurat was an important Post Impressionist French painter. He moved away from Impressionism and developed a structured more monumental art to depict modern urban life. He is chiefly remembered as the pioneer of the Neo Impressionist technique commonly known as Divisionism or Pointillism, an approach associated with a softly flickering surface of small dots or strokes of color. His innovations derived from new quasi scientific theories about color and expression, yet the graceful beauty of his work is explained by the influence of very different sources. His success quickly propelled him to the forefront of the Parisian avant garde. His triumph was short lived as after barely a decade of mature work he died at the age of only 31. But his innovations would be highly influential, shaping the work of artists as diverse as Vincent van Gogh and the Italian Futurists, while pictures like A Sunday Afternoon on the Island of La Grande Jatte have since become widely popular icons. Seurat died in Paris on 29 March 1891 at the age of 31. The cause of his death is uncertain. His last ambitious work The Circus was left unfinished at the time of his death. Georges Seurat Jodi Hauptman,2007 Seurat Hajo Düchting, Georges Seurat,2000 Georges Seurat died in 1891, aged only 32, and yet in a career that lasted little more than a decade he revolutionized technique in painting, spearheaded a new movement, Neoimpressionism, and brought a degree of scientific rigour to his investigations of colour that would prove profoundly influential well into the 20th century. As a student at the Ecole des Beaux Arts, Seurat read Chevreul's 1839 book on the theory of colour, and this along with his own analysis of Delacroix paintings and the aesthetic observations of scientist Charles Henry led him to formulate the concept of Divisionism. This was a method of painting around colour contrasts in which shade and tone are built up through dots of paint, pointillism, that emphasise the complex inter relation of light and shadow. The Drawings of Georges Seurat Georges Seurat, Gustave Kahn,1971 In his early twenties Georges Seurat withdrew temporarily from painting into draftsmanship. The result of this intense three year period of work was a large number of drawings, some preliminary sketches for later paintings and other works completed for their own sake. These were exhibited more than 40 years later at the Galerie Bernheim Jeune in Paris and reproduced in full in this volume. Seurat: Drawings 90 Colour Plates Maria Peitcheva,2015-08-28 An important Post Impressionist French painter, Georges Seurat moved away from the apparent spontaneity and rapidity of Impressionism and developed a structured more monumental art to depict modern urban life. Seurat studied avant garde painting techniques, especially Impressionism, and the latest scientific theories pertaining to light and color. From 1885 to 1886 he developed the divisionist depicting style, This new style which consisted of systematically applied small touches of unmodulated color was based on contemporary optical theories of color relationships. For several of his large compositions Seurat painted many small studies. For his study drawings he used black Conté crayon to create gradations of tone on the textured paper, achieving effects akin to those in his pointillist paintings in which he juxtaposed dots of pure colors that blended optically to produce another color.
