German Design 1870-1918:

Design in Germany, 1870-1918 John Heskett, 1986 German Design, 1870-1918 John Heskett, 1986 Peter Behrens and a New Architecture for the Twentieth Century Stanford Anderson, 2002-08-23 The complete story of Behrens contribution to the history of twentieth century architecture German Art 1907-1937 Martin Ignatius Gaughan, 2007 This book examines the responses of visual artists including architects, designers and photographers to the technological and social modernisation of Germany during the first three decades of the twentieth century. It investigates how these aspects of the modernising process inform both the subject matter and formal innovations of their work. The study analyses how these visual practices were not just the concerns of isolated and enclosed art worlds but had wider social resonances ranging from the debates concerning the reformist objectives of the Deutscher Werkbund 1907 to the National Socialist ideological onslaught on modernist culture culminating in the Entartete Kunst (Degenerate Art) exhibitions of 1937. Many of the artists encountered here were radicalised by the First World War, the Russian Revolution and the November 1918 Revolution in Germany experiences which effected change in their conceptualising of cultural production and its social function. Their modes of working however would also set challenging markers for what forms art might take for the twentieth century. The book is therefore both a study of art in complex political and sociocultural contexts and a reflection on how engagement with a social imagination can challenge a tradition based on the assumptions of individual imaginings. Expressionism and Poster Design in Germany 1905-1922 Kathleen G. Chapman, 2019-01-21 In Expressionism and Poster Design in Germany 1905-1925 Kathleen Chapman re-defines Expressionism by situating it in relation to the most common type of picture in public space during the Wilhelmine twentieth century: the commercial poster. Focusing equally on visual material and contemporaneous debates surrounding art posters and the image in general this study reveals that conceptions of a modern image were characterized not so much by style or mode of production and distribution but by a visual rhetoric designed to communicate more directly than words. As instances of such rhetoric Expressionist art and posters emerge as equally significant examples of this modern image demonstrating the interconnectedness of the aesthetic, the utilitarian and the commercial in European modernism. The Visual Arts in Germany, 1890-1937 Shearer West, 2000 This work provides an introduction to the visual arts in Germany from the early years of German unification to World War II. The study is an analysis of painting, sculpture, graphic art, design, film and photography in relation to a wider set of cultural and social issues that were specific to German modernism. It concentrates on the ways in which the production and reception of art interacted with and was affected by responses to unification, conflict between left and right political factions, gender concerns, contemporary philosophical and religious ideas, the growth of cities and the increasing importance of mass culture. Artists and Radicalism in Germany, 1890-1933 Nikos Pegioudis, 2025-02-20 Tracing the evolution of the German applied arts movement from 1890 through the interwar period, Artists and Radicalism in Germany 1890-1933 reveals how reforms in artistic and vocational education intersected with the professional politics of radical artists and the nature of intellectual labour Challenging conventional views Pedioudis reinterprets the conflict between modern art s advocates and opponents arguing that professional politics not merely political ideologies shaped the historical avant garde Developing a fresh perspective on the role of radicalism and avant garde labour in the history of modern art this book casts new light on German modern art and its interpreters

A John Heskett Reader John Heskett,2017-11-02 A John Heskett Reader brings together a selection of the celebrated design historian John Heskett s key works introduced and edited by Clive Dilnot of Parsons the New School USA Heskett who passed away in early 2014 was a pioneering British born writer and lecturer His research was foundational for the study of industrial design and his research into the relationship between design policy and economic value is still a regular reference point for academics and students alike This anthology represents well the great range of his work covering such varied topics as the growth of Japanese industrialism modernism in the Third Reich and 1980 s corporate design management Including both hard to access and previously unpublished material like Crafts Commerce and Industry and Economic Value of Design the book demonstrates Heskett s passionate interest in exploring the relationship of design and making with economic value across the entirety of human history Featured texts include What is Design Chinese Design what can we learn from the past The American System and Mass Production The Industrial Applications of Tubular Steel Creative Destruction the nature and consequences of change through design Reflections on Design and Hong Kong besides many others

Jugendstil Women and the Making of Modern Design Sabine Wieber,2021-10-21 Jugendstil that is Germany s distinct engagement with the international Art Nouveau movement is now firmly engrained in histories of modern art architecture and design Recent exhibitions and publications across the world explored Jugendstil s key protagonists and artistic centres to firmly anchor their activities within the trajectories of German modernism Women however continue to be largely absent from these revisionist accounts Jugendstil Women and the Making of Modern Design argues that women in fact actively participated in the cultural and socio economic exchanges that generated German design responses to European modernity By drawing on previously unpublished archival material and a series of original case studies including Elsa Bruckmann s Munich salon the Photo Studio Elvira and the Debschitz School the book explores women s important contributions to modern German culture as collectors consumers critics designers educators and patrons This book offers a new interpretation of this vibrant period by considering diverse manifestations of historical female agency that pushed against historically entrenched conventions and gender roles The book s rigorous approach reshapes Jugendstil historiography by positing women s lived experiences against dominant ideologies that emerged at this precise moment In short the book advocates women as an integral part of the emergence dissemination and reception of Jugendstil and questions the deeply gendered histories of this key period in modern art architecture and design
