Sounds of Social Space Paul Kendall, 2019-01-31 A giant statue of a six pipe musical instrument stands in the heart of Kaili city Yet despite its prominent placement intended to convey the essence of the city residents hold extremely low opinions of music making in Kaili particularly when compared to the authentic music found in surrounding ethnic minority villages In this engaging accessible work author Paul Kendall investigates this conundrum and comes to terms with conflicting representations of a small southwestern Chinese city branded the homeland of one hundred festivals Drawing on Henri Lefebvre s triad of social space the book explores the relationship between Kaili s branding built environment and everyday life how China s post Mao built environment hinders and hides everyday music making even in a tourist destination for ethnic music how residents themselves deny or downplay the existence of ethnic music in the city despite the government s efforts to promote it how amateur musicians have constructed generational hierarchies of musical practice within a shifting cityscape Kendall argues that increased focus on the small city helps counter a tendency to conceive China as either timeless village or futuristic metropolis and enables a more comprehensive understanding of the urban experience both in China and beyond He shows that many Kaili inhabitants recognize not only a rural urban divide long a dominant geographical notion of China but also a more complex conceptualization of village small city and big city By interweaving theories of authenticity with an innovative interpretation of space Kendall shows how the category of fake minority emerged from this small city as a surprisingly positive form of self identification suggesting that there are ways of not being ethnic even in often exoticized southwest China The Sounds of Social Space makes a distinctive contribution across a range of disciplinary interests including Chinese studies urban studies anthropology and ethnomusicology The Ideal Orator, 1904 Margaret Fuller's New York Journalism Margaret Fuller, 1995 In this book Catherine C Mitchell combines a substantial biographical essay with a generous selection of Fuller's columns on topics such as prison and asylum reform abolitionism and woman's rights Mitchell's essay puts special emphasis on the Tribune of the 1840s its staff its readership the nature and impact of its news coverage and editorial viewpoint its place in the competitive world of New York journalism and so provides an invaluable context for understanding Fuller's duties at the newspaper The selections from Fuller's Tribune writings include much material that has not been previously reprinted or that has not appeared in other twentieth century collections of Fuller's work The Rivers of My Need Peggy Aston, 2004-03-15 Two rivers merge at Peggy's birthplace Paducah Kentucky One clear the other muddy together they typify two of life's strongest emotions joy and heartache Thus the book was named The Rivers of My Need portraying the Needs we have for our Roots for Belonging for Giving and Receiving Love for Laughter Tears and Values which are the result of the Emotions we Feel as we Journey like a Winding River through Life Refreshing Return to Rhyming Verse this collection consists of 9 chapters 70 poems on the following themes i Historical i Day to Day Optimistic and Humorous i Friendship i Motivational i Inspirational i Children's i Romance all shades of Love i Spiritual i Tribute to Princess Diana The Rivers of My Need is intended to be cozy armchair reading to touch the reader through Poetry Portraits of the past present and future At times reflective sometimes light and uplifting always touching us amidst varying emotional levels on life experiences of our society Normal Instructor and Teachers World, 1924 Bibliography of the History of Medicine, 1984 The Publishers' Trade List Annual, 1991 Working with Excluded Populations in HIV Carmen Logie, 2021-07-05 This book written decades into the HIV epidemic reflects critically on the idea that the socially excluded populations often focused on in HIV research are in fact difficult to access and reach The author broadly applies the concept hard to reach to characterize populations that researchers find difficult to engage with Social factors that produce marginalization and ultimately result in people choosing not to engage in research are not captured by the concept of hard to reach Limited attention has focused on how researchers can address the social factors that result in decisions to not engage in research Disrupting the ways in which people are conceptualized as hard to reach so as to refocus on transforming social systems and personal values beliefs and approaches is understudied This book uses case examples based on HIV research with Indigenous youth internally displaced women LGBTQ communities in the Global North and Global South and persons at the intersection of these identities to identify successful approaches to working with marginalized and often vulnerable communities and groups The chapters signal the need for attention to five key social factors when developing successful approaches context and storytelling cultural humility critical hope imagination and possibility and love intimate inquiry and the beloved community if nations individuals and communities are to address the epidemic in a sustainable and impactful way Shame and Humiliation Blema S. Steinberg, 1996-04-16 Steinberg focuses on the narcissistic personality identifying it as intensely self involved and preoccupied with success and recognition as a substitute for parental love She asserts that narcissistic leaders are most likely to use force when they fear being humiliated for failing to act and when they need to restore their diminished sense of self worth Providing case studies of Johnson Nixon and Eisenhower Steinberg describes the childhood maturation and career of each president documenting key personality attributes and then discusses each one s Vietnam policy in light of these traits She contends that Johnson authorized the bombing of Vietnam in part because he feared the humiliation that would come from inaction and that Nixon escalated U S intervention in Cambodia in part because of his low sense of self esteem Steinberg contrasts these two presidents with Eisenhower who was psychologically secure and was therefore able to carry out a careful and thoughtful analysis of the problem he faced in Indochina Shame and Humiliation reveals how personality traits affect our perception of reality and offers a powerful demonstration of the impact of psychodynamics on presidential decision making The Kindergarten-primary Magazine Bertha Johnston, E.
