Theatre Symposium, Vol. 18 J K Curry, 2010-10-15 Stage properties are an often ignored aspect of theatrical productions in part because their usage is meant to be seamlessly integrated into the performance instead of a focal point for the audience The contributors illuminate many aspects of this largely ignored yet crucial part of the theatre

The Theatre of the Dream Salomon Resnik, 2005-11-08 The Theatre of the Dream is a profound study of our dream world and its place in everyday life The author grounds his ideas in Freud and psychoanalysis authors such as Klein Bion Rosenfeld and Matte Blanco but also draws on the approach to dream phenomena in the work of philosophers artists and poets He argues that dreams are indeed as the ancients held messages The dream is a theatrical re recreation of certain unconscious experiences which are both subjective and objective at the same time It expresses not only desire but a complex working over of a problematic situation that is not quite resolved In waking the dream is a new elaboration of everyday experience and one which creates the seeds of oracular awareness Resnik develops his thesis with ample and enlightening examples of dreams and their significance from his own patients The author s achievement is a new psychoanalytic reading of dreams one which does justice to Freud s momentous discovery but which broadens it and places it within the wider context of subsequent developments in psychoanalysis semiotics and social and cultural anthropology The book will be of great value to the professional psychotherapist or psychoanalyst as well as to students of literature the arts and linguistics and the wider public interested in the ongoing relationship between dream reality and what is commonly called external reality As has been remarked each era can be defined on the basis of relations between dream and life

Beard Fetish in Early Modern England Mark Albert Johnston, 2016-04-15 Focusing on representations of beards in English Renaissance culture this study elucidates how fetish objects validate ideological systems of power by materializing complex value in multiple registers Providing detailed discussions of not only bearded men but also beardless boys bearded women and half bearded hermaphrodites author Mark Albert Johnston argues that attending closely to early modern English culture s treatment of the beard as a fetish object ultimately exposes the contingency of categories like sex gender age race and sexuality Johnston mines a diverse cross section of contemporary discourses adult and children s drama narrative verse and prose popular ballads epigrams and proverbs historical accounts pamphlet literature diaries letters wills court records and legal documents medical and surgical manuals lectures sermons almanacs and calendars in order to provide proof for his cultural claims Johnston s evidence invokes some of the period s most famous voices William Shakespeare Ben Jonson John Lyly Phillip Stubbes John Marston George Chapman Thomas Dekker Thomas Middleton and Samuel Pepys for example but Johnston also introduces us to an array of lesser known Renaissance authors and playwrights whose works support the notion that the beard was a palimpsestic site of contested meaning at which complex and contradictory values clash and converge Johnston s reading of Marxist Freudian and anthropological theories of the fetish phenomenon acknowledges their divergent emphases erotic economic racial and religious while suggesting that the imbrication of diverse registers that fetish accomplishes facilitates its cultural and psychic naturalizing function

The Blue Box Frances Restuccia, 2012-03-01 Informed by the theory of Julia Kristeva Frances Restuccia analyzes a variety of contemporary films replete with psychoanalytic subject matter and styles She examines films that present elaborate fantasies and through them prompt the viewer to cut across a crippling fundamental fantasy by enabling a mapping of his or her private fantasy onto the one being played out on the screen Such absorption is a function of the semiotic dimension of the film which offers the spectator an experience of intimacy negativity the gaze and death Kristeva stresses that cinema has the power to bestow desiring subjectivity as a way of resisting the society of the spectacle through the specular Through analyses of complex films such as Streitfeld s Female Perversions Lynch s Mulholland Drive Almod var s Volver and Haneke s Cach The Blue Box Kristevan Lacanian Readings of Contemporary Film demonstrates Julia Kristeva s concept of the thought specular from her fascinating chapter Fantasy and Cinema in Intimate Revolt Kristeva deserves our full attention as a film theorist

The Sexual Subject Mandy Merck, 2013-11-05 The Sexual Subject brings together writing on sexuality which has appeared in Screen over the past two decades It reflects the journal s continuing engagement with questions of sexuality and signification in the cinema an engagement which has had a profound influence on the development of the academic study of film and on alternative film and video practice The collection opens with Laura Mulvey s classic Visual Pleasure and Narrative Cinema with its conjunction of semiotics and psychoanalysis the critical approach which is most closely associated with Screen s rise to international prominence The reader then goes on to explore the particular questions and debates which that conjunction provoked arguments around pornography and the representation of the body questions of the representation of femininity and masculinity of the female spectator and of the social subject Many of the writings in this Reader have become indispensable texts within the study of film The purpose of the Reader is not only to make the articles available to a wider readership and to a new generation but also to pose new conjunctions making connections in one volume between debates and inquiries which spanned two crucial decades of film theory The Sexual Subject is intended not only for all those with a particular interest in film and film theory but for anyone with a serious commitment to cultural theory theories of representation and questions of sexuality and gender

Ghosts Alice Rayner, Making spirits visible has been a part of the theatrical experience since at least the sixteenth century Instead of illusions however ghostly doubles in theatre are materially real and pervasive In Ghosts Alice Rayner examines theatre as a memorial practice that is haunted by the presence of loss looking at how aspects of stagecraft turn familiar elements into something uncanny Citing examples from the works of Shakespeare Beckett and Suzan

Lori Parks as well as the films Vertigo, Gaslight and The Sixth Sense she begins by describing time as it is employed by theatre with multiple aspects of presence duration and passage. Suggesting that objects connect past to present through the sense of touch she explores how props are suspended backstage between motion and meaning. Her final chapters consider the curtain as theatre's means for attempting to divide real and imaginary worlds. If ghosts hover where secrets of the past secrets from oneself secrets of life and death are kept then according to Rayner theatre is where ghosts best make their appearances and let communities and individuals know that we live amid secrets hiding in plain sight. Alice Rayner is associate professor of drama at Stanford University and author of most recently To Act To Do To Perform: Drama and the Phenomenology of Action (Modern Drama, 2001). Marginalized Casey Kayser, 2021-08-23 Winner of the 2021 Eudora Welty Prize. In contrast to other literary genres drama has received little attention in southern studies and women playwrights in general receive less recognition than their male counterparts. In Marginalized Southern Women Playwrights Confront Race Region and Gender author Casey Kayser addresses these gaps by examining the work of southern women playwrights making the argument that representations of the American South on stage are complicated by difficulties of identity genre and region. Through analysis of the dramatic texts the rhetoric of reviews of productions as well as what the playwrights themselves have said about their plays and productions Kayser delineates these challenges and argues that playwrights draw on various conscious strategies in response. These strategies evident in the work of such playwrights as Pearl Cleage Sandra Deer Lillian Hellman Beth Henley Marsha Norman and Shay Youngblood provide them with the opportunity to lead audiences to reconsider monolithic understandings of northern and southern regions and ultimately create new visions of the South.

Visuality in the Theatre M. Bleeker, 2008-04-17 This book presents an exploration of the under explored terrain of visuality demonstrating the use of new theoretical insights into vision for the analysis of theatre and performance and simultaneously shows theatre and performance to be an excellent theoretical object for exploring the cultural historical and embodied character of visuality. Biopolitics, Materiality and Meaning in Modern European Drama Hedwig Fraunhofer, 2020-09-21 Arguing that existing modernisation theories have been unnecessarily one sided Hedwig Fraunhofer offers a rewriting of modernity that cuts across binary methodologies nature and culture mind and matter epistemology and ontology critique and affirmative writing dramatic and postdramatic theatre. She specifically reworks the biopolitical exclusions that mark modern western epistemology leading up to modernity's totalitarian crisis point. Fraunhofer reveals the performativity of theatre in its double sense as theatrical production and as the intra activity of a dynamic system of multiple relations between human and more than human actors energies and affects. In modern theatre public and private human and more than human materiality and meaning collapse in a common life.

Cross-Dressing in Chinese Opera Siu Leung Li, 2003-04-01 The enchantment of the figure of the male dan female impersonator remains a residual element in the cultural imagination of many contemporary Chinese societies. The various kinds of interpretive possibilities in the commanding tradition of cross dressing Chinese opera have yet to be examined in depth In order to discuss mistaken identity and gender issues as they relate to cross dressing on the Chinese operatic stage this book examines a wide range of materials including traditional dramatic texts modern literary writings critical writings for example qinghua opera paintings and contemporary movies The book explores gendering and gender differences that are constructed reproduced dismantled and contested in this particularly rich site of Chinese culture Cinema Inferno Robert G. Weiner, John Cline, 2010-07-17

Cinema Inferno Celluloid Explosions from the Cultural Margins addresses significant areas and eras of transgressive filmmaking including many subgenres and styles that have not yet received much critical attention This collection of essays covers both contemporary films and those produced in the last 50 years to provide a theoretical framework for looking at transgressive cinema and what that means This volume begins with a number of essays that examine the aesthetic of realism tracing it through the late Italian Neo Realism of Pasolini the early films of Melvin Van Peebles and Canadian filmmaker Guy Maddin Another section focuses on 70s Italian horror and thrillers including a substantially different examination of filmmaker Dario Argento as well as essays on critically underrepresented directors Lucio Fulci and Sergio Martino A section on New York looks at both radical independents like Troma and Andy Milligan as well as the social context from which a view of the metropolis in decay emerged Sections also cover the experimental work of the Vienna Action Group and controversial filmmaker Michael Haneke as well as films and genres too idiosyncratic and disturbing to fit anywhere else including analyses of Nazi propaganda films fundamentalist Christian scare movies and postwar Japanese youth films The final essays try to come to terms with a mainstream flirtation with transgressive film and Grindhouse aesthetics Bulletin of Bibliography and Magazine Subject-index ,1907 Bulletin of Bibliography ,1912
