Film Structure and the Emotion System Greg M. Smith, 2003-10-13 Films evoke broad moods and cue particular emotions that can be broadly shared as well as individually experienced Although the experience of emotion is central to the viewing of movies film studies have neglected to focus attention on the emotions relying instead on vague psychoanalytic concepts of desire Film Structure and the Emotion System synthesizes research on emotion in cognitive psychology and neurology in an effort to provide a more nuanced understanding of how film evokes emotion Analysing a variety and range of films including Casablanca and Stranger than Paradise this book offers a grounded approach to the mechanisms through which films appeal to the human emotions demonstrating the role of style and narration in this process

What's Hecuba to Him? Eva M. Dadlez, 1997-01-01 Fiction transports us We inhabit new worlds in our imagination adopt perspectives not our own and even respond emotionally to persons and events that we know are not real The very nature of our emotional engagement with fiction says E M Dadlez attests to the possibility of its moral significance just as the nature of our imaginative engagement makes us collaborators in the creation of the worlds we imagine This book engages contemporary debate over the seeming irrationality or inauthenticity of our emotional response to fiction examining the many positions taken in this debate and arguing that we can understand the relation between cognition and emotion without devaluing our emotional responses to fiction It takes Hamlet's famous query as the first step in an analytic philosophical inquiry and by considering some of the answers that derive from that question arrives at a set of necessary conditions for an emotional response to fiction What Hamlet's player feels for Hecuba proposes Dadlez is no more illusory than what we feel for Hamlet that the actor weeps for Hecuba reflects both our capacity to envision and understand a seemingly limitless variety of human situations to empathize with others and the capacity of fiction to facilitate such understanding What's Hecuba to Him is an enticingly written work that opens an entire philosophical arena to literary scholars and illuminates the significance that literature has for our moral life

Engaging Characters Murray Smith, 2004

Proust and Emotion Inge Crosman Wimmers, 2003-01-01 In Proust and Emotion Inge Crosman Wimmers proposes a new approach to A la recherche du temps perdu that centres on the role of affect Through close reading of the hero narrator's personal history the author shows how emotional paradigms especially separation anxiety involuntary memory and other compelling impressions give focus and structure to Proust's novel Drawing on reader oriented and emotion theories she shows how affect commands the attention of the motivated reader and is crucial to the process of self understanding for both the narrator and the reader This is the first extensive study in English to take fully into consideration the drafts esquisses published in the new Pl iade edition of the novel the Mauriac edition of Albertine disparue and material from the unpublished Proust manuscripts all of which shed further light on the importance of affect in A la recherche Proust and Emotion will appeal to readers interested in an approach to Proust that combines insights from philosophy psychology and literary aesthetics and in a poetics of reading that pays particular attention to emotion

Morality and Emotion Sara Graça Da Silva, 2016-04-14 Despite the many attempts to disentangle the relationship between morality and emotion as is clear from the myriad of approaches that try to understand the nature and importance of their connection the extent of this synergy remains rather controversial The multidisciplinary framework of the present volume was specifically designed to challenge self containing disciplinary views encouraging a more integrative analysis that covers various methodological angles and theoretical perspectives Contributions include discussions on the interrelation between moral philosophy emotion and identity namely the clash between grand ethical theories and the practicality of human life philosophical considerations on akrasia or the so called weakness of will and the factors behind it anthropological reflections on empathy and prosocial behavior accounts from artificial intelligence and evolutionary game theory and literary and artistic dissections of emotional responses to the representational power of fiction and the image The inclusion of chapters from varied scientific backgrounds substantially enriches this debate and shows that several core questions such as the ones related to identity and to the way we perceive the other and ourselves are transversal It is therefore valuable and pressing to further explore these common threads and to encourage disciplinary dialogues across both traditional and emerging fields to help shed new light on the puzzling and fascinating ways in which morality and emotion are mutually imbricated

Emotions and Understanding Y. Gustafsson, C. Kronqvist, M. McEachrane, 2008-11-27 This unique collection of articles on emotion by Wittgensteinian philosophers provides a fresh perspective on the questions framing the current philosophical and scientific debates about emotions and offers significant insights into the role of emotions for understanding interpersonal relations and the relation between emotion and ethics

The Paradoxes of Art Alan Paskow, 2004-01-15 In this study Alan Paskow first asks why fictional characters such as Hamlet and Anna Karenina matter to us and how they emotionally affect us He then applies these questions to painting demonstrating that certain paintings beckon us to view their contents as real As emblematic of the fundamental concerns of our lives paintings he argues are not simply in our heads but in our world Paskow also situates the phenomenological approach to the experience of painting in relation to contemporary schools of thought particularly Marxist feminist and deconstructionist

The Rhetoric of Antinuclear Fiction Patrick Mannix, 1992 Given the ever present threat of world wide calamity that nuclear weapons present it is not surprising that they have fascinated fiction writers and filmmakers ever since their development Nor is it surprising that many of these artists would seek to use their work to influence mass opinion about these weapons What may be surprising is that few studies have been made of how antinuclear fiction actually attempts to persuade its audiences The Rhetoric of Antinuclear Fiction is an effort to do so Organized around the three traditional modes of rhetorical appeal the ethical the rational and the emotional the book describes and classifies the persuasive strategies of a wide range of antinuclear fiction from the period 1945 to 1989 Works examined include On the Beach Fail Safe A Canticle for Leibowitz Dr Strangelove The Day After War Day Testament Threads and Riddley Walker During the course of these studies Patrick Mannix reveals what sorts of fictional characters have been most widely used to deliver antinuclear messages and he follows the major arguments of the nuclear debate as they have been reflected in fiction He also shows which emotions are invoked most often to secure the audience's opposition to nuclear weapons and how those emotions have been generated by the creators of antinuclear fiction The range of characters that this volume examines includes the pacifistic but loyal Air Force general of Fail Safe the pious but shrewd monks of A Canticle for Leibowitz the suburban housewife of Threads and even the computer of War games which teaches humanity the folly of nuclear war We also follow fictional manifestations of the nuclear debate from veiled arguments for world government in The Day the Earth Stood Still through warnings of the dangers of Mutual Assured Destruction depicted by Fail Safe Dr Strangelove and Wargames to attacks on the concepts of limited nuclear war and the Strategic Defense Initiative in War Day This study also demonstrates the dynamic of fear in works as diverse as Ape and Essence The Day After and Them and dissects the powerful use of scorn in Dr Strangelove It also shows us the paradoxical role of hope in securing the effectiveness of antinuclear fiction While maintaining his focus on the persuasive nature of this literature Mannix does consider the aesthetic value of the fiction he studies noting that the relationship between the two elements is complex and often problematical While admitting that the aesthetic elements of some works would limit their audience and therefore reduce the scope of their rhetorical effect he demonstrates how the skillful combination of artistic and rhetorical elements raises a film like Dr Strangelove above the similarly themed Fail Safe as both a persuasive act and an aesthetic artifact
