Fictions of Enlightenment Qiancheng Li, 2003-12-31 Fictions of Enlightenment is the first book to examine the fascinating and intricate relationship between Buddhism and the development of Chinese vernacular fiction Qiancheng Li brings Buddhist models to bear on the vision structure and narrative form of three classics of late imperial literature Journey to the West Tower of Myriad Mirrors and Dream of the Red Chamber arguing that by fashioning their plots after the narratives of certain Mah y na sutras the novelists transformed Buddhist concepts into narrative structures Within the traditional Chinese novel Li even defines a new genre the fiction of enlightenment Eighteenth-century Genre and Culture

Dennis Todd, Cynthia Wall, Paul J. Hunter, 2001-10 This collection of essays including contributions by Paula Backscheider Martin C Battestin and Patricia Meyer Spacks examines the relationship between history literary forms and the cultural contexts of British literature from the late seventeenth to the late eighteenth century Topics include print culture and the works of Mary Lady Chudleigh the politics of early amatory fiction Susanna Centlivre s use of plot novels by women between 1760 and 1788 and the connection between gender and narrative form in the criminal biographies of the 1770s The

Substance of Fiction Sophie Volpp, 2022-06-28 Do the portrayals of objects in literary texts represent historical evidence about the material culture of the past Or are things in books more than things in the world Sophie Volpp considers fictional objects of the late Ming and Qing that defy being read as illustrative of historical things Instead she argues fictional objects are often signs of fictionality themselves calling attention to the nature of the relationship between literature and materiality Volpp examines a series of objects a robe a box and a shell a telescope a plate glass mirror and a painting drawn from the canonical works frequently mined for information about late imperial material culture including the novels The Plum in the Golden Vase and The Story of the Stone as well as the short fiction of Feng Menglong Ling Mengchu and Li Yu She argues that although fictional objects invite readers to think of them as illustrative in fact inconsistent and discontinuous representation disconnects the literary object from potential historical analogues The historical resonances of literary objects illuminate the rhetorical strategies of individual works of fiction and more broadly conceptions of fictionality in the Ming and Qing Rather than offering a transparent lens on the past fictional objects train the reader to be aware of the fallibility of perception A deeply insightful analysis of late Ming and Qing texts and reading practices The Substance of Fiction has important implications for Chinese literary studies history and art history as well as the material turn in the humanities

Haitian Revolutionary Fictions Marlene L. Daut, Grégory Pierrot, Marion C. Rohrleitner, 2022-01-25 The Haitian Revolution 1791 1804 was the first antislavery and anticolonial uprising led by New World Africans to result in the creation of an independent and slavery free nation state The momentousness of this thirteen year long war generated thousands of pages of writing This anthology brings together for the first time a transnational and multilingual selection of literature about the revolution from the beginnings of the conflicts that resulted in it to the end of the nineteenth century With over two hundred excerpts from novels poetry and plays published between 1787 and 1900 and depicting a wide array of characters including Anacaona Makandal Boukman Toussaint Louverture Jean Jacques Dessalines and Henry Christophe this anthology provides the perfect classroom text for exploring this fascinating revolution its principal actors and the literature it inspired while also providing a vital resource for specialists in the field This landmark volume includes many celebrated authors such as Alexandre Dumas Victor Hugo Heinrich von Kleist Alphonse de Lamartine William Wordsworth Harriet Martineau and William Edgar Easton but the editors also present here for the first time many less well known fictions by writers from across western Europe and both North and South America as well as by nineteenth century Haitian authors refuting a widely accepted perception that Haitian representations of their revolution primarily emerged in the twentieth century Each excerpt is introduced by contextualizing commentary designed to spark discussion about the ongoing legacy of slavery and colonialism in the Americas Ultimately the publication of this capacious body of literature that spans three continents offers students scholars and the curious reader alike a unique glimpse into the tremendous global impact the Haitian Revolution had on the print culture of the Atlantic world New World Studies The Fiction of Enlightenment Heidi Bostic, 2010 This book argues that women authors of the French eighteenth century claimed reason and contributed to Enlightenment It begins by framing the Enlightenment as fiction in two senses first what passes under the name of Enlightenment in much current critical discourse is a fiction or a caricatured construct second works of fiction can illuminate Enlightenment The book offers fresh readings of texts by the three most prominent women among eighteenth century writers in French Françoise de Graffigny Marie Jeanne Riccoboni and Isabelle de Charrière These authors challenged the widely held idea that women's reason was inferior to men's Literary forms novels stories plays essays and letters allowed these authors to approach the question of reason in particularly nuanced ways Faithful to the eighteenth century this project is also relevant to the twenty first Book Jacket The Great Zen Master Ta Hui Osho, 2023-08-01 The great Zen teacher Ta Hui comes from the same lineage as Bodhidharma He was born four hundred years after Bodhidharma had left for the Himalayas to disappear into the eternal ice the eternal silence there I have called Ta Hui the great Zen teacher not a master it has to be explained to you clearly The master is one who is enlightened but sometimes it happens that the master may be enlightened but is not articulate enough to give expression to what he has known That is a totally different art A Historical Study of Early Modern Chinese Fictions (1890–1920) Pingyuan Chen, 2021-01-28 This book contains a classic guide to historical study of early modern Chinese fiction from the late Qing Dynasty till early republican China It does not merely study the new fiction writing in China which was strongly influenced by the western fiction but also draws a comparison between classical Chinese fiction and the early modern Chinese fiction This book is an excellent reference in the study of early modern Chinese literature since it conveys a point of view to the readers with abundant and solid historical materials At the heart of the book it is the matter of a specific value in trans cultural studies between the western world and China Fictions of Friendship

in the Eighteenth-Century Novel Bryan Mangano, 2017-07-19 This book explores the reciprocal influence of friendship ideals and narrative forms in eighteenth century British fiction It examines how various novelists from Samuel Richardson to Mary Shelley drew upon classical and early modern conceptions of true amity as a model of collaborative pedagogy Analyzing authors their professional circumstances and their audiences the study shows how the rhetoric of friendship became a means of paying deference to the increasing power of readerships while it also served as a semi covert means to persuade resistant readers and confront aesthetic and moral debates head on The study contributes to an understanding of gender roles in the early history of the novel by disclosing the constant interplay between male and female models of amity It demonstrates that this gendered dialogue shaped the way novelists imagined character interiority reconciled with the commercial aspects of writing and engaged mixed sex audiences

Eighteenth-Century Fiction and the Reinvention of Wonder Sarah Tindal Kareem, 2014-10-23 A footprint materializes mysteriously on a deserted shore a giant helmet falls from the sky a traveler awakens to find his horse dangling from a church steeple Eighteenth century fiction brims with moments such as these in which the prosaic rubs up against the marvelous While it is a truism that the period s literature is distinguished by its realism and air of probability Eighteenth Century Fiction and the Reinvention of Wonder argues that wonder is integral to rather than antithetical to the developing techniques of novelistic fiction Positioning its reader on the cusp between recognition and estrangement between faith and doubt modern fiction hinges upon wonder Eighteenth Century Fiction and the Reinvention of Wonder unfolds its new account of fiction s rise through surprising readings of classic early novels from Daniel Defoe s Robinson Crusoe to Jane Austen s Northanger Abbey and brings to attention lesser known works most notably Rudolf Raspe s Baron Munchausen s Narrative of His Marvellous Travels In this bold new account the eighteenth century bears witness not to the world s disenchantment but rather to wonder s relocation from the supernatural realm to the empirical world providing a reevaluation not only of how we look back at the Enlightenment but also of how we read today
