Antimalarial Trees and Shrubs of East Africa, 2010 Plant Invasions in Protected Areas Llewellyn C. Foxcroft, Petr Pyšek, David M. Richardson, Piero Genovesi, 2013-11-27 This book is the first comprehensive global review of all aspects of alien plant invasions in protected areas. It provides insights into advances in invasion ecology emanating from work in protected areas and the link to locally relevant management support for protected areas. The book provides in-depth case studies illuminating interesting and insightful knowledge that can be shared across the global protected area network. The book includes the collective understanding of 80 ecologists and managers to extract as much information as possible that will support the long-term management of protected areas and the biodiversity and associated ecosystem services they maintain. This outstanding volume draws together pretty much all that can be said on this topic ranging from the science through policy to practical action. Dr Simon N. Stuart, IUCN Species Survival Commission, UK. This important and timely volume addresses two of the most serious problems affecting biodiversity conservation today: assessing the extent to which protected areas are impacted by biological invasions and the complex problems of managing these impacts. Written by leading specialists, it provides a comprehensive overview of the issues and gives detailed examples drawn from protected areas across the world. Professor Vernon H. Heywood, School of Biological Sciences, University of Reading, UK. The CABI

Encyclopedia of Forest Trees CABI, 2013 The CABI Encyclopedia of Forest Trees provides an extensive overview of 300 of the world's most important forest trees. Tropical, subtropical, temperate and boreal trees of major economic importance are included, covering tree species used in agroforestry practices around the world. Many of the species covered are considered to be multipurpose trees with uses extending beyond timber alone: the land uses such as watershed protection or provision of windbreaks and non-wood uses such as the production of medicines, resins, food and forage are also listed. Comprehensive information is presented on each tree's importance with a summary of the main characteristics of the species, its potential for agroforestry use and any disadvantages it possesses. The tree's botanical features such as habit, stem, form, foliage, inflorescence, flower and fruit characters and phenology are covered in detail with over 70 color plate pictures to aid identification. Also included are specific sections devoted to pests and diseases, distribution and silvicultural characteristics and practices including seed sowing, nursery care, planting, thinning and harvesting. In addition to the wealth of information detailed based on datasheets from CABI's Forestry Compendium, selected references for further reading are provided for each entry, making this book an essential reference work for forestry students, researchers and practitioners. Trees and Shrubs of Mpumalanga and Kruger National Park Ernst Schmidt, Mervyn Lotter, Warren McClelland, 2002 This is a guide to every tree and woody shrub indigenous to the province of Mpumlanga and the entire Kruger National Park Designed for use by beginner tree enthusiasts and the seasoned botanist it details more than 950 species of trees and shrubs The Magnificent Migration Sy Montgomery,2019 Follows a safari team led by Dr Richard Estes as they track one of the largest land migrations wildebeests crossing the Serengeti with information on other animal migrations and the importance of protecting the African savanna ecosystem The Lies We Shared Sarah Penny,2012-09-28 Don't think about the past I can't not think about the past The past is what I am For Rebecca Falconer the past truly is another country Two countries in fact Zimbabwe and Rhodesia And while her present may be tied to the new makeshift life she has built for herself in London her heart remains rooted in the red earth of Glencoe the farm she grew up on in the Eastern Highlands now appropriated under Robert Mugabe's land reform programme However while the past seems to offer assurance in the face of an unpredictable future things are not always as they seem When her mother dies unexpectedly Rebecca begins a journey that will lead her back to a very different time 1950s Kenya in the grip of the Mau Mau uprising Confronted by the modern reality of the country that her mother once called home Rebecca tries to come to terms with her own feelings about the woman who raised her But as she searches for a way of finally laying her mother's ghost to rest a disturbing truth comes to light that will call into question the very foundations of her family's identity The Swahili World Stephanie Wynne-Jones,Adria LaViolette,2017-10-16 The Swahili World presents the fascinating story of a major world civilization exploring the archaeology history linguistics and anthropology of the Indian Ocean coast of Africa It covers a 1 500 year sweep of history from the first settlement of the coast to the complex urban tradition found there today Swahili towns contain monumental palaces tombs and mosques set among more humble houses they were home to fishers farmers traders and specialists of many kinds The towns have been Muslim since perhaps the eighth century CE participating in international networks connecting people around the Indian Ocean rim and beyond Successive colonial regimes have helped shape modern Swahili society which has incorporated such influences into the region's long standing cosmopolitan tradition This is the first volume to explore the Swahili in chronological perspective Each chapter offers a unique wealth of detail on an aspect of the region's past written by the leading scholars on the subject The result is a book that allows both specialist and non specialist readers to explore the diversity of the Swahili tradition how Swahili society has changed over time as well as how our understandings of the region have shifted since Swahili studies first began Scholars of the African continent will find the most nuanced and detailed consideration of Swahili culture language and history ever produced For readers unfamiliar with the region or the people involved the chapters here provide an ideal introduction to a new and wonderful geography at the interface of Africa and the Indian Ocean world and among a people whose culture remains one of Africa's most distinctive achievements

African Ecological Ethics and Spirituality for Cosmic Flourishing Stan Chu Ilo,2022-06-16 This is the definitive African text on ecological ethics African environmental spirituality a theology of creation and climate justice The contributors to this important volume explore the common threats facing this earth our common home and the particular threats facing Africa because of our sick environment unsustainable development practices and the false narratives and programs of modernity in the African Motherland Here African environmentalists theologians and peace advocates in conversation with Pope Francis's Laudato Si develop a roadmap for pastoral local and global education on ecological consciousness in order to bring about ecological conversion African ecological wisdom is also offered as indispensable resources for recovering the intimate connection of all creatures and all peoples and as a praxis of solidarity for the poor and our fragile earth

Quaternary Vegetation Dynamics Jürgen Runge, William Gosling, Anne-Marie Lézine, Louis Scott, 2021-11-28 This book celebrates the relaunch of the African Pollen Database presents state of the art of modern and ancient pollen data from sub-Saharan Africa and promotes Open Access science Pollen grains are powerful tools for the study of past vegetation dynamics because they preserve well within sedimentary deposits and have a huge diversity in ornamentation that allows different taxa to be determined The reconstruction of past vegetation from the examination of ancient pollen records thus can be used to characterize the nature of past landscapes e.g. abundance of forests vs grasslands provide insights into changes in biodiversity and gain empirical evidence of vegetation response to climatic change and human activity In this the 35th Volume of Palaeoecology of Africa we bring together new data and extensive synthetic reviews to provide novel insights into the relationships between human evolution human activity climate change and vegetation dynamics during the Quaternary the last 2.6 million years Current and ongoing climate and land use change is exerting pressure on modern vegetation formations and threatening the livelihoods and wellbeing of many peoples in Africa In this book the focus is on the Quaternary because it is during this geological period that the modern vegetation formations developed into their current configurations against a backdrop of high magnitude global climate change glacial interglacial cycles human evolution and a growing human land use footprint In this book the latest information is presented and collated from around the African continent to parameterize past vegetation states identify the drivers of vegetation change and assess the vegetation resilience to change To achieve this research from two broad themes are covered i the present is the key to the past i.e. studies which improve our understanding of modern environments so that we can better interpret evidence from the past and ii the past is the key to the future i.e. studies which unlock information on how and why vegetation changed in the past so one can better anticipate trajectories of future change This Open Access book will provide a strong foundation for future research exploring past ecological environmental and climatic change within Africa and the surrounding islands The book is organized regionally covering western eastern central and southern Africa and it contains specialized articles focused on particular topics such as modern pollen vegetation relationships and fire as a driver of vegetation change as well as regional and pan-African syntheses drawing together decades of research to assess key scientific questions including the role of climate in driving vegetation change and the role of vegetation change in human evolution These articles will be useful to students and teachers from high school to the highest level of university who are interested in the origins and dynamics of vegetation in Africa Furthermore it is also meant to provide societally relevant information that can act as an inspiration for the development of sustainable management practices for the future Timbers 2 Lemmens, R.H.M.J., Louppe, D. & Oteng-Amoako, A.A.,
