Ladder of Years Anne Tyler, 1995-04-01 A NEW YORK TIMES NOTABLE BOOK BALTIMORE WOMAN DISAPPEARS DURING FAMILY VACATION declares the headline Forty year old Delia Grinstead is last seen strolling down the Delaware shore wearing nothing more than a bathing suit and carrying a beach tote with five hundred dollars tucked inside To her husband and three almost grown children she has vanished without trace or reason But for Delia who feels like a tiny gnat buzzing around her family's edges walking away from it all is not a premeditated act but an impulse that will lead her into a new exciting and unimagined life TYLER DETAILS DELIA'S ADVENTURE WITH GREAT SKILL As so often in her earlier fiction Celestial Navigation Dinner at the Homesick Restaurant The Accidental Tourist and her nine other novels she creates distinct characters caught in poignantly funny situations Tyler writes with a clarity that makes the commonplace seem fresh and the pathetic touching The New York Times UTTERLY COMPELLING WONDERFULLY SATISFYING Ladder of Years is virtually flawless Chicago Tribune A PAGE TURNER IN THE BEST SENSE One wants to lightly caress the pages of the story because one cares for Ms Tyler's touchingly flawed characters Both madcap and genteel Anne Tyler knows as well as anyone that human beings lead many lives Casually delightfully Ladder of Years will tell you just how we humans manage this trick The Baltimore Sun From the Trade Paperback edition

Ladder of Years by Anne Tyler Anne Tyler, 1995 Ladder of Years Anne Tyler, 1996-03 The bestselling and acclaimed new novel by the beloved Pulitzer Prize winning author of Breathing Lessons and The Accidental Tourist Married with three almost grown children Delia Grinstead vanishes from the family's beach house without a trace and apparently without a reason But for Delia walking away from it all is an impulse that will lead her into a new exciting and unimagined life

American Unexceptionalism Kathy Knapp, 2014-05-01 American Unexceptionalism examines a constellation of post 9/11 novels that revolve around white middle class male suburbanites thus following a tradition established by writers such as John Updike and John Cheever Focusing closely on recent works by Richard Ford Chang Rae Lee Jonathan Franzen Philip Roth Anne Tyler Gish Jen A M Homes and others Kathy Knapp demonstrates that these authors revisit this well trod turf and revive the familiar everyman character in order to reconsider and reshape American middle class experience in the wake of the 9 11 attacks and their ongoing aftermath The novels in question all take place in the sprawling terrain that stretches out beyond the Twin Towers the postwar suburbs that since the end of World War II have served like the Twin Towers themselves as a powerful advertisement of dominance to people around the globe by projecting an image of prosperity and family values These suburban tales and their everyman protagonists grapple however indirectly with the implications of the apparent decline of the economic geopolitical and moral authority of the United States In the context of perceived decay and diminishing influence these novels actively counteract the narrative of American exceptionalism frequently peddled in the wake of 9 11 If suburban fiction has historically been faulted for its limited vision this newest iteration has developed a depth of field that self consciously folds the personal into the political encompasses the have nots along with the haves and takes in the past when it imagines the future all in order to forge a community of readers who are now accountable to the larger world American Unexceptionalism traces the trajectory by which recent suburban fiction overturns the values of individualism private property ownership and competition that originally provided its foundation In doing so the novels examined here offer readers new and flexible ways to imagine being and belonging in a setting no longer characterized by stasis but by flux

Growing Old in Christ Stanley Hauerwas, 2003-06-20 One of the hallmarks of contemporary culture is its attitude toward aging and the elderly Youth and productivity are celebrated in today's society while the elderly are increasingly marginalized This not only poses difficulties for old people but is also a loss for the young and middle agers who could learn much from the elderly including what it means to grow old and die in Christ Growing Old in Christ presents the first serious theological reflection ever on what it means to grow old particularly in our culture and particularly as a Christian In a full orb'd discussion of the subject eighteen first rate Christian thinkers survey biblical and historical perspectives on aging look at aging in the modern world and describe the Christian practice of growing old Along the way they address many timely issues including the medicalization of aging the debate over physician assisted suicide and the importance of friendships both among the elderly and between the elderly and the young Weighty enough to instruct theologians ethicists and professional caregivers yet accessible enough for pastors and general readers this book will benefit anyone seeking faith based insight into growing old Contributors David Aers David Cloutier Rowan A Greer Stanley Hauerwas Judith C Hays Richard B Hays Shaun C Henson L Gregory Jones Susan Pendleton Jones Patricia Beattie Jung D Stephen Long M Therese Lysaught David Matzko McCarthy Keith G Meador Charles Pinches Joel James Shuman Carole Bailey Stoneking Laura Yordy

Home Matters R. Rubenstein, 2001-02-23 Despite its typically regressive associations with homesickness the longing associated with nostalgia may also function progressively as a vehicle for imaginatively fixing the past in two senses securing and mending or repairing Considering fiction by two British and six American women writers of different generations and ethnicities this study explores tensions between home and exile insider and outsider longing and belonging loss and recovery Rubenstein argues that nostalgia functions narratively as a strategy for interrogating not only notions of home homesickness and homeland but also cultural historical dislocation aging and moral responsibility These narratives re frame a significant locus of concern in contemporary female experience personal and or cultural displacement and longing for home are ultimately transmuted imaginatively at least by a restorative vision that enables healing and emotional repair

Women's Movement Heidi Slettedahl MacPherson, 2021-07-26 Women's Movement critically explores the transgressive potential of feminist escape narratives and argues that they are almost by definition radically different from paradigmatic male escape narratives While definitions of escape are necessarily broad they have too often excluded the ambiguous escape the escape most closely associated with the female Indeed feminist escape narratives often resist a happy ending and Women's Movement argues that these narrative closures reflect the changing face of feminism as it sheds its old certainties is faced with a monumental backlash and is refigured as the potentially less threatening postfeminism Resisting the automatic association of escape with escapist Women's Movement analyzes male adventure and quest narratives including Moby Dick The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn Blood Meridian and Deliverance before turning to a range of feminist texts While being the first book to give critical attention to some postfeminist novels Women s Movement more often acts as a channel for offering different ways of approaching familiar feminist texts including among others Marian Engel s Bear Atwood s Surfacing and The Handmaid s Tale Joan Barfoot s Gaining Ground and Dancing in the Dark Anne Tyler s Earthly Possessions and Ladder of Years Marilynne Robinson s Housekeeping Erica Jong s Fear of Flying and Margaret Laurence s The Diviners      The Accidental Tourist Anne Tyler,2005      Contemporary Reconfigurations of American Literary Classics Betina Entzminger,2013 The number and popularity of novels that have overtly reconfigured aspects of classic American texts suggests a curious trend for both readers and writers an impulse to retell and reread books that have come to define American culture This book argues that by revising canonical American literature contemporary American writers are re writing an American myth of origins creating one that corresponds to the contemporary writer s understanding of self and society Informed by cognitive psychology evolutionary literary criticism and poststructuralism Entzminger reads texts by canonical authors Poe Hawthorne Melville Alcott Twain Chopin and Faulkner and by the contemporary writers that respond to them In highlighting the construction and cognitive function of narrative in their own and in their antecedent texts contemporary writers highlight the fact that such use of narrative is universal and essential to human beings This book suggests that by revising the classic texts that compose our cultural narrative contemporary writers mirror the way human individuals consistently revisit and refigure the past through language via self narration in order to manage and understand experience      How to Analyse Texts Ronald Carter,Angela Goddard,2015-08-20 How to Analyse Texts is the essential introductory textbook and toolkit for language analysis This book shows the reader how to undertake detailed language focussed contextually sensitive analyses of a wide range of texts spoken written and multimodal The book constitutes a flexible resource which can be used in different ways across a range of courses and at different levels This textbook includes three parts covering research and study skills language structure and use and how texts operate in sociocultural contexts a wide range of international real life texts including items from South China Morning Post art otel Berlin and Metro Sweden which cover digital and print media advertising recipes and much more objectives and skill review for each section activities commentaries suggestions for independent assignments and an analysis checklist for students to follow a combined glossary and index and a comprehensive further reading section a companion website at www.routledge.com cw goddard with further links and exercises for students Written by two experienced teachers of English Language How to Analyse Texts is key reading for all students of English language and linguistics      Fiction and Poetry to Help Us Age Laurence W. The Language of Stories Barbara Dancygier, 2011-10-13 How do we read stories How do they engage our minds and create meaning Are they a mental construct a linguistic one or a cultural one What is the difference between real stories and fictional ones This book addresses such questions by describing the conceptual and linguistic underpinnings of narrative interpretation Barbara Dancygier discusses literary texts as linguistic artifacts describing the processes which drive the emergence of literary meaning If a text means something to someone she argues there have to be linguistic phenomena that make it possible Drawing on blending theory and construction grammar the book focuses its linguistic lens on the concepts of the narrator and the story and defines narrative viewpoint in a new way The examples come from a wide spectrum of texts primarily novels and drama by authors such as William Shakespeare Margaret Atwood Philip Roth Dave Eggers Jan Potocki and Mikhail Bulgakov
