,2001      International Handbook of Urban Policy: Contentious global issues H. S. Geyer,2007-01-01 This first Handbook in a series of three original reference works looks at globally contentious urban policy issues from a wide variety of different angles and perspectives Matters related to urban densification population mobility urban inequality and sustainability are analysed in a manner that will not only interest the advanced student but also the novice Urban policy covers a vast field This first volume combines chapters covering three broad themes policy issues pertaining to the spatial aspects of the city social and mobility issues and issues of urban governance The spotlight initially falls on urban structure urban densification the disappearing urban rural divide the urban economic landscape and the transformation of socialist economies The Handbook then goes on to focus on migration social mobility crime terrorism and social inequality Finally urban sustainability and urban governance come under the spotlight Integration of the planning process flexibilities in infrastructure and areas of neglect in environmental management feature strongly in this section of the Handbook Books of this nature are often slanted in one particular direction however this Handbook s approach is different Not only has the editor avoided shying away from politically sensitive issues but contributions have also been included that reflect distinct differences of opinion on politically sensitive issues hence the volume s subtitle of contentious global issues As a Handbook the chapters have been written not only for the advanced student and academics but also with undergraduate students in mind The Handbook will appeal to scholars and researchers of geography and urban and development planning demography and social science and environmental scientists for the focus on urban sustainability issues      Subject Catalog, 1982

Siddali, 2005-03-01 Most historians accept the proposition that in the first two years of the Civil War the North's primary aim was to reestablish the Union and the Constitution not to emancipate slaves But when northerners began clamoring for the confiscation of southern land and slaves as a punitive military and revenue raising tactic the constitutional right to personal property particularly human property came into question In From Property to Person Silvana R Siddali traces the resulting discourse among northern voters politicians military leaders and President Lincoln elucidating how emancipation ultimately became an essential political cause in the North After the outbreak of civil war many northern citizens demanded that slaves be seized as contraband without necessarily endorsing their emancipation Siddali examines the public and political debates in the North over southerners private property rights and explains how these deliberations set in motion the first major reconsideration of the Constitution since the Bill of Rights Fundamental questions arose Who had the right to control the war effort What were the rights of rebellious citizens in a democratic Republic How did one define human bondage that is implicitly protected in the nation's founding documents Would the destruction of slavery irreparably damage the Constitution Through the two Confiscation Acts of 1861 and 1862 the author argues Americans worked out a conundrum between property rights and constitutionally protected civil liberties The right of all human beings to freedom now trumped white southerners right to human property In a rich analysis of editorials pamphlets letters and congressional speeches From Property to Person reveals the swift transformation in rhetoric concerning the Constitution and its protection of private property rights The Confiscation Acts paved the way for the Reconstruction Amendments by fostering support for a broader reach by the federal government into private property rights and envisioning a new interpretation of an individual citizen's rights and obligations      Literary Digest: a Repository of Contemporaneous Thought and Research as Presented in the Periodical Literature of the World Edward Jewitt Wheeler, Isaac Kaufman Funk, William Seaver Woods, 1909
