Land Labor In China:

Land and Labor in China Richard Henry Tawney, 1966      China Under the Four Modernizations ,1982      China ,2001      China's Economy Looks Toward the Year 2000: The four modernizations ,1986      Land Bargains and Chinese Capitalism Meg E. Rithmire, 2015-10-06 Land reforms have been critical to the development of Chinese capitalism over the last several decades yet land in China remains publicly owned This book explores the political logic of reforms to land ownership and control accounting for how land development and real estate have become synonymous with economic growth and prosperity in China Drawing on extensive fieldwork and archival research the book tracks land reforms and urban development at the national level and in three cities in a single Chinese region The study reveals that the initial liberalization of land was reversed after China's first contemporary real estate bubble in the early 1990s and that property rights arrangements at the local level varied widely according to different local strategies for economic prosperity and political stability In particular the author links fiscal relations and economic bases to property rights regimes finding that more open cities are subject to greater state control over land      China Under the Four Modernizations United States. Congress. Joint Economic Committee, 1982      China: Agriculture in Transition ,      China's Industrial Reform Gene Tidrick, Jiyuan Chen, 1987 Containing important implications for socialist and other developing countries this book uses newly acquired data to analyze China's far reaching industrial reforms looks at Hungary's reforms and compares Chinese and Soviet systems      China's Economy Looks Toward the Year 2000 ,1986      Land and Labour in China Richard Henry Tawney, 1932

Coordinating Urban and Rural Development in China Ye Yumin, Richard LeGates, 2013-09-30 The focus of published narrative on the great Chinese urbanization wave was always going to sharpen _ away from the general fascination assertions theories and commentaries to specific issues and specific regions Well here is a first class example      China's Agricultural Development Xiao-yuan Dong, 2017-03-02 This book identifies the main challenges Chinese agriculture is confronting and considers how these challenges might be met The performance of China's agricultural production is comprehensively assessed while the factors that affect agricultural productivity are examined through detailed econometric analysis and up to date nationally representative data      Changes in China's Labor Market ,1996      China's Age of Abundance Feng Wang, 2024-04-04 Shifting the perspective to rural populations as drivers of global change Wang Feng reconsiders China's meteoric rise in prosperity      Regional Productivity Growth In China's Agriculture Shenggen Fan, 2019-07-11 This study by Shenggen Fan makes three important and original contributions It is the first study to report regional patterns of productivity growth in Chinese agriculture There have been dramatic differences in output and productivity growth among Chinese regions The second contribution is to measure the separate effects of technical change and institutional reform on productivity growth Much of the rapid growth in agricultural production and in productivity since the late 1970s has been a consequence of an important series of institutional reforms The third contribution is the first test of the induced innovation hypothesis against experience in a centrally planned economy Regional patterns of productivity growth are consistent with the hypothesis that the path of technical change has been responsive to regional differences in resource endowments      Urban China The World Bank;Development Research Center of the State Council,2014-07-29 In the last 30 years China's record economic growth lifted half a billion people out of poverty with rapid urbanization providing abundant labor cheap land and good infrastructure While China has avoided some of the common ills of urbanization strains are showing as inefficient land development leads to urban sprawl and ghost towns pollution threatens people's health and farmland and water resources are becoming scarce With China's urban population projected to rise to about one billion or close to 70 percent of the country's population by 2030 China's leaders are seeking a more coordinated urbanization process Urban China is a joint research report by a team from the World Bank and the Development Research Center of China's State Council which was established to address the challenges and opportunities of urbanization in China and to help China forge a new model of urbanization The report takes as its point of departure the conviction that China's urbanization can become more efficient inclusive and sustainable However it stresses that achieving this vision will require strong support from both government and the markets for policy reforms in a number of areas The report proposes six main areas for reform first amending land management institutions to foster more efficient land use denser cities modernized agriculture and more equitable wealth distribution second adjusting the hukou household registration system to increase labor mobility and provide urban migrant workers equal access to a common standard of public services third placing urban finances on a more sustainable footing while fostering financial discipline among local governments fourth improving urban planning to enhance connectivity and encourage scale and agglomeration economies fifth reducing environmental pressures through more efficient resource management and sixth improving governance at the local level      China's Global Role: An Analysis of Peking's National Power Capabilities in the Context of an Evolving International System John Franklin Copper,1980

Accelerating China's Rural Transformation Albert Nyberg,Scott Rozelle,1999-01-01 QUOTE two issues remain central to the Chinese government's rural development objectives food security and poverty alleviation China has made remarkable progress in meeting these goals the economy including the rural sector has grown at phenomenal rates during the reform period QUOTEWhile China's rural products input labor and land markets are improving they remain nascent China still needs to foster several critical institutions such as an effective fiscal system a more efficient rural financial system a workable land tenure arrangement and a revamped trade and investment environment for agriculture The primary purpose of this report is to identify and consolidate information on these crucial issues that impact on rural development in China This report assesses strategic options from the perspective of efficiency equitable development and growth It is intended to assist government officials and World Bank staff to prioritize policy and institutional reforms and public investment decisions in the rural sector

China's Economy: Towards 2049 Chenyi Yu,2020-10-20 This book is a faithful record of China's economy that spans almost 70 years Starting from 1949 it portrays in a panoramic picture how the economy has developed over these decades From the initial restoration and retrenchment to the great leap outward that resulted in the two phases of economic reform from its accession to the WTO to the unprecedented process of urbanization the book uses four chapters to depict in a chronological order how China becomes what it is today For scholars on modern Chinese economy this book offers a detailed account of a wide range of events that happened during clearly divided time periods On this basis they can deepen their research on different individual subjects Teachers of universities and colleges may use this book as a reference when preparing relevant courses For economics majors this book is a key that helps them clarify important issues Learners who are interested in knowing more about China especially the dramatic changes that have taken place in its economic scene can equally acquire the needed facts and figures

China Transformed R. Bin Wong, 2018-10-18 The assumption still made in much social science research that Europe provides a universal model of development is fundamentally mistaken according to R Bin Wong The solution is not however simply to reject Eurocentric norms but to build complementary perspectives such as a Sinocentric one to evaluate current understandings of European developments A genuinely comparative perspective he argues will free China from wrong expectations and will allow those working on European problems to recognize the distinct character of Western development
