Land Rush:

The Great Land Rush Sally Senzell Isaacs, 2004 This series captures the exciting and turbulent times that spawned America's first quests for westward expansion Focusing on key events in history that shaped our country each vividly illustrated book features clearly written text that explains the social political and economic realities of the time Great Land Rush and the Making of the Modern World, 1650-1900 John C. Weaver, 2003-04-24 He also underscores the tragic history of the indigenous peoples of these regions and shows how they came to lose possession of their land to newly formed governments made up of Europeans with European interests at heart Weaver shows that the enormous efforts involved in defining and registering large numbers of newly carved out parcels of property for reallocation during the Great Land Rush were instrumental in the emergence of much stronger concepts of property rights and argues that this period was marked by a complete disregard for previous notions of restraint on dreams of unlimited material possibility Today while the traditional forms of colonization that marked the Great Land Rush are no longer practiced by the European powers and their progeny in the new world the legacy of this period can be seen in the western powers' insatiable thirst for economic growth including newer forms of economic colonization of underdeveloped countries and a continuing evolution of the concepts of property rights including the development and increasing growth in importance of intellectual property rights Essential Concepts of Land Politics Saturnino M. Borrás Jr., Jennifer C. Franco, 2025-06-13 This book compiles, discusses and explains the key concepts in land politics in an easy to navigate A-Z format This book takes a broad view on land across the rural and urban corridor and advocates for a holistic view of the politics of land as an aggregation of land and global social life that is the politics of food, climate, labour, citizenship and geopolitics The authors have curated a wide ranging list of 67 key terms most commonly used in the field with each entry mapping out an important concept or idea and illustrating how it relates more broadly across this growing discipline Across the entries the book showcases that land has been and remains central to productive and social reproductive activities of humanity for the incessant renewal of life and society A key assumption in this book is that the politics of land is made up of building blocks in the form of key concepts These key concepts evolve both in the sense that they are politically contested and in the changing broader context within which they are embedded The key concepts in this book are therefore not discussed in a random way but rather framed from Critical Agrarian Studies perspectives and scholar activist tradition which means taking the side of the exploited and oppressed With further reading recommendations included alongside the entries this innovative and accessible volume will be of great interest to students, scholars, policy practitioners and political activists

The New Enclosures: Critical Perspectives on Corporate Land Deals Ben White, Saturnino Borrás Jr., Ruth Hall, Ian Scoones, Wendy Wolford, 2013-09-13 This collection explores the complex dynamics of corporate land deals from a broad agrarian political economy perspective with a special focus on the implications for property and labour regimes, labour processes and structures of accumulation This involves looking at ways in which existing patterns of rural social differentiation in terms of class gender ethnicity and generation are being shaped by changes in land use and property relations as well as by the re organization of production and exchange as rural communities and resources are incorporated into global commodity chains It goes further than the descriptive what and who questions in order to understand the how and why of these patterns It is empirically solid and theoretically sophisticated making it a robust and boundary changing work Contributors come from various scholarly disciplines Covering nearly all regions of the world the collection will be of interest to researchers from various disciplines policymakers and activists This book was originally published as a Special Issue of the Journal of Peasant Studies Global Land Grabs Marc Edelman, Carlos Oya, Saturnino M. Borras Jr., 2016-03-22 Since the 2008 world food crisis a surge of land grabbing swept Africa Asia and Latin America and even some regions of Europe and North America Investors have uprooted rural communities for massive agricultural biofuels mining industrial and urbanisation projects Water grabbing and green grabbing have further exacerbated social tensions Early analyses of land grabbing focused on foreign actors the biofuels boom and Africa and pointed to catastrophic consequences for the rural poor Subsequently scholars carried out local case studies in diverse world regions The contributors to this volume advance the discussion to a new stage critically scrutinizing alarmist claims of the first wave of research probing the historical antecedents of today s land grabbing examining large scale land acquisitions in light of international human rights and investment law and considering anew longstanding questions in agrarian political economy about forms of dispossession and accumulation and grassroots resistance Readers of this collection will learn about the impacts of land and water grabbing the relevance of key theorists including Marx Polanyi and Harvey the realities of China s involvement in Africa how contemporary land grabbing differs from earlier plantation agriculture and how social movements and rural people in general are responding to this new threat This book was published as a special issue of Third World Quarterly Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress, 2005 FCC Record United States. Federal Communications Commission, 1993 Converging Social Justice Issues and Movements Tsegaye Moreda, Saturnino M. Borras Jr., Alberto Alonso-Fradejas, Zoe W. Brent, 2020-05-21 Converging Social Justice Issues and Movements argues that multiple contemporary converging crises have significantly altered the context for and object of political contestations around agrarian climate environmental and food justice issues This shift affects alliances collaboration and conflict among and between state and social forces as well as within and between social movements The actual implications and mechanisms by which these changes are happening are to a large extent empirical questions that need careful investigation The majority of the discussions in this volume are dedicated to the issue of responses to the crises both by capitalist forces and those adversely affected by the crises and the implications of these for academic research and political activist work Interdisciplinary in nature Converging Social Justice Issues and Movements will be of great use to scholars of agrarian politics as well as climate and environmental justice studies The chapters were originally published as a special issue in Third

Gathering together expert authors and building on long term research activities, it serves as a valuable reference for future research endeavors.

My Land, My Life Siobhan McDonnell, 2023-10-31. Throughout Oceania, land is central to identity because it is understood to be spiritually nourishing and sustaining. Land is the mother Land and the kinship it nurtures is the basis for sustaining livelihoods and ways of life. Therefore, Indigenous dispossession from the land has deep and far reaching consequences. My Land My Life: Dispossession at the Frontier of Desire explores the land rush that took place in Vanuatu from 2001 to 2014, which resulted in over ten percent of all customary land being leased. In this book, Siobhan McDonnell offers new insights into the drivers of capitalist land transformations. Using multi-scalar and multi-sited ethnography, she describes not simply a linear march toward commodification of the landscape by foreign interests, but a complex web replete with the local powerful. Indigenous men involved in manipulating power and property. McDonnell meticulously describes land leasing processes and maps the relationships between investors, middlemen, and local men. She shows how property is a tool with which foreigners reassert capitalism and neocolonial control over Indigenous landscapes. The legal identity of landowner contains foundational contradictions between the rights established in Vanuatu's kastom system and those afforded by property as individualized rights over land. Property has also created sites for the production of masculine authority and enabled men to manipulate claims to land and entrench their personal power. This book explores how transactions of customary land have created new domains of agency and frontiers of desire: foreign desire to possess land and local desire to lease land for cash. It concludes with a discussion of Vanuatu's constitutional and land reform package drafted by the author, which took effect in 2014 and delivered a more empathetic approach to Indigenous land rights and ended the land rush. Informed by decades of study, legal work, and community engagement, My Land My Life demonstrates an engaged anthropological practice based on reciprocity that responds directly to what Indigenous people have asked for. This book is certain to appeal to a wide range of scholars as well as policy makers.

Climate Change and Critical Agrarian Studies Ian Scoones, Saturnino M. Borrás Jr., Amita Baviskar, Marc Edelman, Nancy Lee Peluso, Wendy Wolford, 2023-11-30. Climate change is perhaps the greatest threat to humanity today and plays out as a cruel engine of myriad forms of injustice, violence, and destruction. The effects of climate change from human-made emissions of greenhouse gases are devastating and accelerating, yet are uncertain and uneven both in terms of geography and socio-economic impacts. Emerging from the dynamics of capitalism since the industrial revolution, as well as industrialisation under state-led socialism, the consequences of climate change are especially profound for the countryside and its inhabitants. The book interrogates the narratives and strategies that frame climate change and examines the institutionalised responses in agrarian settings, highlighting what exclusions and inclusions result. It explores how different people in relation to class and other co-constituted axes of social difference such as gender, race, ethnicity, age, and occupation are affected by climate change as well as the climate adaptation and mitigation responses being implemented in rural areas. The book in turn explores how climate change and the responses to it affect processes of social differentiation, trajectories of accumulation, and in turn agrarian politics. Finally, the book examines what strategies are required to confront climate change and the underlying political economic dynamics that cause it, reflecting on what this means for agrarian struggles across the world. The 26 chapters in this volume explore how the relationship between capitalism and climate change plays out in the rural world and in particular the way agrarian struggles connect with the huge challenge of climate change. Through a huge variety of case studies alongside more conceptual chapters, the book makes the often missing connection between climate change and critical agrarian studies. The book argues that making the connection between climate and agrarian justice is crucial. The chapters in this book were originally published in The Journal of Peasant Studies. China's Agricultural Investment in Australia Michaela Boehme, 2024-10-25. This book critically examines the driving forces, discourses, and conflicts surrounding Chinese investments in overseas farmland, with a specific focus on Australia. With growing amounts of finance channeled into the purchase of overseas food and farming assets, China has become a frontrunner in the global land rush. Unlike much of the existing literature that focuses on emerging economies such as Brazil or Africa, this book examines Chinese farmland purchases in the developed country context of Australia. Based on four years of extensive field work in Australia and China, it traces the encounters and interactions between investors, regulators, deal brokers, farmers, and eaters that shape the ways in which individual Chinese investment projects materialize in the Australian countryside. In contrast to conventional wisdom portraying China's overseas land rush as a state-led strategy to feed the Chinese population, this book reveals that Chinese investments in Australian farmland have been propelled by the intersecting interests of international finance and business elites looking to cash in on booming Chinese demand for high-quality Western food products. This book provides a unique transnational perspective on China's overseas farmland purchases and shows how Chinese farmland investments produce uneven geographies of agri-food globalization that cut across national borders. Through the lens of China's agri-engagement in Australia, this book advances our theoretical understanding of the new types of power relations and dynamics shaping an increasingly multi-polar agri-food system. This book will be useful to students and scholars of agri-food studies, Chinese studies, and globalization, with an interest in the global land rush and the shifting contours of the global agri-food system.
