Literature and Development in North Africa Perri Giovannucci,2008-04-15 The book examines how modern global development largely privileges Western multinational interests at the expense of local or indigenous concerns in the developing nations of the East The practices of development have mostly led not to economic social and political progressivism in local society but rather to instability poverty debt and repression Modernization may therefore be seen as the catalyst of anti Western reaction The record of exploitative development is traceable in the anti colonial works of Frantz Fanon Albert Memmi and Jean Paul Sartre as well as in the fiction and memoirs of several North African authors including Albert Camus Naguib Mahfouz Nawal El Saadawi Assia Djebar and Edward Said who address decolonization in the middle twentieth century The critical regard of development provides better understanding of the independence movements in North Africa Further one may look to the colonial past for perspective upon global development today One sees similar practices and rhetoric are now invoked under globalization This recognition is key to understanding today's so called war on terror The understanding of things postcolonial is therefore critical for Americans today Grounded in literature in English translation this work has relevance for cultural studies in the Middle East Africa globalization postcolonialism and women's studies
