Lady Audleys Secret:

Lady Audley's Secret Mary Elizabeth Braddon, 2020-09-28 It lay down in a hollow rich with fine old timber and luxuriant pastures and you came upon it through an avenue of limes bordered on either side by meadows over the high hedges of which the cattle looked inquisitively at you as you passed wondering perhaps what you wanted for there was no thoroughfare and unless you were going to the Court you had no business there at all At the end of this avenue there was an old arch and a clock tower with a stupid bewildering clock which had only one hand and which jumped straight from one hour to the next and was therefore always in extremes Through this arch you walked straight into the gardens of Audley Court A smooth lawn lay before you dotted with groups of rhododendrons which grew in more perfection here than anywhere else in the county To the right there were the kitchen gardens the fish pond and an orchard bordered by a dry moat and a broken ruin of a wall in some places thicker than it was high and everywhere overgrown with trailing ivy yellow stonecrop and dark moss To the left there was a broad graveled walk down which years ago when the place had been a convent the quiet nuns had walked hand in hand a wall bordered with espaliers and shadowed on one side by goodly oaks which shut out the flat landscape and circled in the house and gardens with a darkening shelter The house faced the arch and occupied three sides of a quadrangle It was very old and very irregular and rambling The windows were uneven some small some large some with heavy stone mullions and rich stained glass others with frail lattices that rattled in every breeze others so modern that they might have been added only yesterday Great piles of chimneys rose up here and there behind the pointed gables and seemed as if they were so broken down by age and long service that they must have fallen but for the straggling ivy which crawling up the walls and trailing even over the roof wound itself about them and supported them The principal door was squeezed into a corner of a turret at one angle of the building as if it were in hiding from dangerous visitors and wished to keep itself a secret a noble door for all that old oak and studded with great square headed iron nails and so thick that the sharp iron knocker struck upon it with a muffled sound and the visitor rung a clanging bell that dangled in a corner among the ivy lest the noise of the knocking should never penetrate the stronghold

Lady Audley's Secret - A Drama in Two Acts Mary Elizabeth Braddon, George Roberts, 2013-02-15 Mary Elizabeth Braddon's shocking and suspenseful novel Lady Audley's Secret was one of the most popular examples of the sensation fiction craze of the 1860s Within a year of the novel appearing in book form no less than three theatrical adaptations appeared on the London stage Braddon took strong issue with two of these but she approved of the adaptation by Robert Walters writing under the pseudonym George Roberts this edition presents that version which enjoyed a two season run at the Royal St James Theatre Entertaining in itself the play also provides a fascinating example of how the suspense and the powerful characterizations of sensation fiction were heightened still further for the stage Together with the annotated text of the play itself this edition includes an introduction addressing the life and work of Mary Elizabeth Braddon and placing Lady Audley's Secret A Drama in Two Acts in the context of the
