Plant-Thinking Michael Marder, 2013-02-19 The margins of philosophy are populated by non human non animal living beings including plants While contemporary philosophers tend to refrain from raising ontological and ethical concerns with vegetal life Michael Marder puts this life at the forefront of the current deconstruction of metaphysics He identifies the existential features of plant behavior and the vegetal heritage of human thought so as to affirm the potential of vegetation to resist the logic of totalization and to exceed the narrow confines of instrumentality Reconstructing the life of plants after metaphysics Marder focuses on their unique temporality freedom and material knowledge or wisdom In his formulation plant thinking is the non cognitive non ideational and non imagistic mode of thinking proper to plants as much as the process of bringing human thought itself back to its roots and rendering it plantlike

The Cosmos and the Creative Imagination Anna-Teresa Tymieniecka, Patricia Trutty-Cooill, 2016-02-03 The essays in this book respond to Anna Teresa Tymieniecka's recent call to explore the relationship between the evolution of the universe and the process of self individuation in the ontopoietic unfolding of life The essays approach the sensory manifold in a number of ways They show that theories of modern science become a strategy for the phenomenological study of works of art and vice versa Works of phenomenology and of the arts examine how individual spontaneity connects with the design s of the logos of the whole and of the particulars while the design s rest not on some human concept but on life itself Life s pliable matrices allow us to consider the expansiveness of contemporary science and to help create a contemporary phenomenological sense of cosmos
