Land Administration:

Land Administration and Practice in Hong Kong Roger Nissim, 2008-01-01 Hong Kong is frequently acclaimed as being the most open and business user friendly environment in the world However it is often forgotten or overlooked that this paragon of capitalism is founded and indeed underpinned by a socialist leasehold land tenure system As the government is landlord to virtually all land it plays a pivotal role in the administration of this scarce and therefore valuable resource The purpose of this book is to explain both the historical development and the current practice of land administration Since publication of the book in 1998 it has been welcomed by students and practitioners of surveying architecture planning and law and also by the wider business and financial community In this second edition the text has been thoroughly updated and should continue to be equally useful and popular

Access to Rural Land and Land Administration After Violent Conflicts Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2005-01-01 Violent conflicts typically result in the displacement of much of the population At the end of the conflict there may be several competing legitimate claims to the same land as a result of successive waves of displacement This guide has been prepared to assist land tenure and land administration specialists who are involved with the reconstruction of systems of land tenure and land administration in countries that are emerging from violent conflict The guide identifies key aspects that should be analyzed during initial assessments and gives examples of short term actions that may be implemented relatively quickly It presents policy considerations for the restitution of land to rightful claimants and the resettlement of people who are landless or who cannot return to their home

Land administration service delivery and its challenges in Nigeria Ghebru, Hosaena, Okumo, Austen, 2017-01-05 This paper assesses the nature of land administration service delivery in Nigeria using data collected from three sets of participants in land administration processes 76 service providers 253 beneficiaries and 172 professionals The data were collected from eight states selected from the six geopolitical zones of the country Cross River Benue Bauchi Ekiti Enugu Kaduna and Lagos states plus the Federal Capital Territory Abuja These were chosen because they are considered to have advanced land administration systems Our findings show that land registration processes in Nigeria take a long time nearly 80 percent of beneficiaries and 41 percent of professionals responded that land registration took more than two years to complete after first applying This difference between beneficiaries and professionals may stem from the fact that many professionals who generally are better educated may know more about the application process than do beneficiaries and are able to navigate the process more efficiently Land registration information guidelines seem to be rarely available to the public Consequently the dominant means of access to land administration institutions is through direct contact Coordination among governance structures put in place by states for land administration also was found to be poor especially in Bauchi and Enugu states where very low levels of cooperation on issues related to land administration reforms were observed

Land Administration and Practice in Hong Kong, Third Edition Roger Nissim, 2011-12-01 Although Hong Kong is an open and business friendly environment it has a socialist leasehold land tenure system The government is landlord to virtually all land so it plays a pivotal role in the administration of this scarce and therefore valuable resource As land administration is governed by private contract law rather than legislation it is constantly evolving with the courts handing down decisions on a regular basis Government practice also has to respond to this as well as to the community's concerns on how best land can be administered As a result regular updates of this book are required and this new Third Edition is fully up to date to serve its readers students and practitioners of surveying architecture planning and law and the wider business and financial community

Agricultural Land Redistribution and Land Administration in Sub-Saharan Africa Frank F. K. Byamugisha, 2014-05-05 Agricultural Land Redistribution and Land Administration in Sub Saharan Africa Case Studies of Recent Reforms focuses on how to undertake land reforms in Sub Saharan Africa but with relevant lessons for other developing countries It provides details with case studies on how reforms were undertaken to address a pressing and controversial development challenge in Africa land ownership inequality and an intransigent development issue inefficiency and corruption in land administration An equally important contribution of the book is assessing reforms and highlighting valuable lessons for other countries contemplating reforms The six case studies collectively cover two main areas of land governance reforms in redistributing agricultural land and reforms in land administration The first two case studies discuss reforms in redistributing agricultural land in Malawi and South Africa part of the southern Africa region where land ownership inequalities rival those in Latin America The remaining case studies four in number are focused on addressing corruption and inefficiency in land administration in a variety of contexts of governance including stable and post conflict countries The case studies cover Decentralizing land administration with demonstrations from Uganda Ethiopia Tanzania and Ghana Developing post conflict land administration systems with examples from Liberia and Rwanda Re engineering and computerizing land information systems with examples from Ghana and Uganda and Improving management of government land through land inventories with examples drawn from Ghana and Uganda The common elements between sometimes disparate experiences provide lessons of relevance to African and other developing countries contemplating similar reforms The rigorous analysis and yet down to earth lessons of experience are a reflection of the authors deep global experience underpinned by personal participation in the reforms covered by the book This volume will be of interest to a wide audience including land specialists and practitioners African policy makers experts and managers in the international development community and the academia

Land Administration and Practice in Hong Kong, Fifth Edition Roger Nissim, 2021-11-01 The purpose of this book is to explain both the historical context and current practices of land administration in Hong Kong Although Hong Kong has an open and business friendly environment it is underpinned by a socialist leasehold land tenure system The government is landlord to virtually all land and so it plays a pivotal role in the administration of this scarce and therefore valuable resource As land administration is governed by private contract law rather than legislation it is constantly evolving with the courts handing down significant decisions on a regular basis Government practice has to respond to this as well as the community's concern on how best land can be administered The fifth edition has some substantial and important updates which should continue to be useful to both students and practitioners of surveying architecture planning and law as well as the wider business and financial community

Land Law Reform, 2006-01-01 Land Law Reform examines the wide spread efforts to reform land law in developing countries and countries in transition drawing in particular upon the experience of the World Bank and the Rural Development Institute The book considers the role of land law reform in the development process and analyzes how the World Bank has sought to support these legal changes in client countries. It reviews the experience with reform of laws affecting land access and rights in achieving gender equity, identifies opportunities for reinforcing environmentally sustainable development through land law reform, and examines from both growth and poverty alleviation perspectives the effectiveness of reforms to formalize property rights and liberalize land markets. The concluding chapter recommends some basic priorities for land law reforms. John W. Bruce is a senior counsel in the Legal Vice Presidency of the World Bank and a former director of the Land Tenure Center of the University of Wisconsin-Madison. He has published extensively on land law and land policy in developing countries. Renee Giovarelli, David Bledsoe, Leonard Rolfes, and Robert Mitchell are staff attorneys with the Rural Development Institute of Seattle, Washington, a nonprofit organization that promotes and advises on land-related policy and legal reform in developing and transition countries. All have done fieldwork and advised extensively on land law reform and have published widely on this topic.

Securing Africa's Land for Shared Prosperity Frank F. K. Byamugisha, 2013-06-05. This is the first book on land administration and reform in Sub-Saharan Africa and is highly relevant to all developing countries around the world. It provides simple practical steps to turn the hugely controversial subject of land grabs into a development opportunity by improving land governance to reduce the risks of dispossessing poor landholders while ensuring mutually beneficial investors' deals. The book shows how Sub-Saharan Africa can leverage its abundant and highly valuable natural resources to eradicate poverty by improving land governance through a ten-point program to scale up policy reforms and investments at a cost of USD 4.5 billion. The book points out formidable challenges to implementation, including high vulnerability to land grabbing and expropriation with poor compensation, as about 90 percent of rural lands in Sub-Saharan Africa are undocumented, but also timely opportunities since high commodity prices and investor interest in large-scale agriculture have increased land values and returns to investing in land administration. It argues that success in implementation will require participation of many players, including Pan-African organizations, Sub-Saharan Africa governments, the private sector, civil society, and development partners, but that ultimate success will depend on the political will of Sub-Saharan Africa governments to move forward with comprehensive policy reforms and on concerted support by the international development community. Its rigorous analysis of land governance issues yet down to earth solutions are a reflection of Byamugisha's more than 20 years of global experience in land reform and administration, especially in Asia and Africa. This volume will be of great interest to and relevant for a wide audience interested in African development, global studies in land and natural resource management.

Local Governance in Cape Verde Carlos Nunes Silva, 2022-08-23. The book provides a pioneering overview of the evolution of the local government and urban policy in Cape Verde after independence, offering a multi-scale perspective of local governance in Cape Verde from 1970 to 2020. It examines the process of urban development in the country and in the capital city in particular and explores the consequences and challenges for spatial planning, housing, urban heritage and the environment, namely issues related to climate change in the post-independence period.

ICT in Agriculture (Updated Edition) World Bank, 2017-06-27. Information and communication technology (ICT) has always mattered in agriculture. Ever since people have grown crops, raised livestock and caught fish, they have sought information from one another. Today, ICT represents a tremendous opportunity for rural populations to improve productivity, to enhance food and nutrition security, to access markets and to find employment opportunities in a revitalized sector. ICT has unleashed incredible potential to improve agriculture, and it has found a foothold even in poor smallholder farms. ICT in Agriculture (Updated Edition) is the revised version of the popular ICT in Agriculture e Sourcebook first launched in 2011 and designed to support practitioners, decision makers and development partners who work at the intersection of ICT and agriculture. Our hope is that this updated Sourcebook will be a practical guide to understanding current trends, implementing appropriate interventions and evaluating the impact of ICT interventions in agricultural programs.

Geospatial Technologies for Effective Land Governance El-Ayachi, Moha, El Mansouri, Loubna, 2018-10-12. Land as a fundamental resource in regional development provides major opportunities for farming, housing, urban planning and financing. In order to meet the requirements of the new era, every state has developed and implemented a series of policies according to its national specificities and to the international regulations and trends. Geospatial Technologies for Effective Land Governance is a pivotal reference source that provides vital research on the application of the use of GNSS, remote sensing and GIS. While highlighting topics such as crop management, multispectral images and irrigation, this publication explores land administration encompassing both cadastral systems and land registration as well as the methods of land governance strategies. This book is ideally designed for researchers, agricultural professionals, engineers, environmentalists, land developers, educators, students and policymakers seeking current research on land and land-based conflicts in urban and rural communities.
