Land Peasants In Central Luzon Socio E:

The Peasant Betrayed John H. Powelson, Richard Stock, 1990-07-01 After studying land reform in 16 countries and offering illustrative examples from 11 more Powelson and Stock conclude that government land reforms generally harm the rural poor more than help them Detailing case after case in which government intervention has impoverished the peasant the authors find only a few cases in which the government has made the peasant better off In contrast they show that in Third World countries where the state has left farming to the farmer agricultural output has soared famine has been overcome and the welfare of the peasant has vastly improved Land Reform Russell King, 2019-03-13 This book lays down some general themes and principles in the study of land reform and traces the historical evolution of the concept of land reform It constitutes a continent based country by country survey of the significant recent reforms in the less developed countries Rural Development And Migration Sally E. Findley, Calvin Goldscheider, 2019-10-16 Perhaps because I grew up on a farm in Ohio I have long been interested in rural development Although I first became a migrant at the age of 17 when I left the farm to continue my studies in a city college I was not aware of the relation between rural development and migration until many years later when I began studying patterns of urban and rural poverty This research has grown out of my continuing investigation of the ways that migration has been seen as both a response to chronic conditions of rural poverty and a factor potentially exacerbating urban poverty conditions If governments wanted to deal with urban poverty they would want to restrict urban migration yet if they reduced urban migration this would remove one of the important means available to persons seeking to raise themselves out of rural impoverishment This would clearly be a no win situation for the rural poor the only way to deal fairly with both urban and rural poverty would be to foster socio economic development of rural areas Thus I became interested in studying the patterns of rural development which actually have had an effect on the migration decisions of rural families Spatial Dimensions of Agriculture, 1992 Land and Peasants in Central

Luzon Akira Takahashi, 1969 Case study of land ownership and land tenure in a tenancy dominated rural area community of the central Luzon plain to illustrate obstacles to rural development in the Philippines covers changing features of agricultural production existing patterns of employment of rural workers cultivation techniques social structure social participation incl In local government etc Maps references and statistical tables The Huk Rebellion Benedict J. Kerkvliet, 2002 Newly available with an updated bibliographic essay this highly acclaimed work explores the Huk rebellion a momentous peasant revolt in the Philippines Unlike prevailing top down analysis Kerkvliet seeks to understand the movement from the point of view of its participants and sympathizers He argues that seeing a peasant revolt through the eyes of those who rebelled explains and clarifies the actions of people who otherwise might appear irrational Drawing on a rich array of documents and in depth interviews with peasants and rebel leaders the author provides definitive answers to the causes of the rebellion the goals of the rebels and the process of resistance Liberation Theology in the Philippines Kathleen Nadeau, 2001-10-30

Liberation Theology in the Philippines Faith in a Revolution studies the interrelationship of international development policies and local social and economic structures in the Philippines This ethnography demonstrates that the application of conventional development paradigms to the situation overlooks the human suffering and displacement experienced by the people for whom the policies are supposed to help By contrast the Basic Ecclesial Community BEC movement offers an alternative strategy for development that aims to build a more just and community oriented society while promoting sustainable development The study begins with an historical analysis of the relationship between liberation theology the Catholic Church and the nationalist struggle The remaining chapters look at the real experiences of people living and working in the BECs as they struggle against some of the negative impacts of traditional approaches to development In addition the author illustrates how BECs can fail when environmental and social factors clash with a community s attempts at development and highlights the theology and religious aspects of the BEC movement This unique contribution to the study of liberation theology and development will be of interest to scholars students and professionals working with development agencies and religious organizations

Population Pressure and Peasant Occupations in Rural Central Java Masami Mizuno,1985 Plantations, Proletarians, and Peasants in Colonial Asia E. Valentine Daniel, Henry Bernstein, Tom Brass,1992 First Published in 1993 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Area Handbook for the Philippines Nena Vreeland,1976 Landscapes of Globalization Philip F. Kelly,2012-10-02 In this critical and sophisticated analysis Philip F Kelly challenges the conventional definition of globalization as an irresistible and inevitable force to which societies must succumb By tracing the consequences of global economic integration in the Philippines he argues that global processes are constituted accommodated mediated and resisted in social processes at multiple scales from the national economy to the village and the household In Search of Southeast Asia David Joel Steinberg, David P. Chandler, William R. Roff, John R. W. Smail, Robert H. Taylor, Alexander Woodside, David K. Wyatt, 2021-05-25 No detailed description available for In Search of Southeast Asia View from the Paddy Frank Lynch,1972 Communities and Markets in Economic Development Masahiko Aoki, The late Yujiro Hayami, 2001-05-31 This book explores the role of community in facilitating the transition to market relationships in economic development and in controlling and sustaining local public goods such as irrigation forests grazing land and fishing grounds Previously it was customary to classify economic systems in terms of varying combinations of state and market control of resource allocation In contrast this book recognizes community as the third major element of economic systems This new approach also departs from the conventional view that markets and community norms should be treated as mutually exclusive means of organizing economic activity instead clarifying the situations in which they may become complementary Further discussion focuses on the conditions under which management of local commons can and should be delegated to local communities rather than subjected to the control of central government These and other issues are investigated by twenty one leading scholars from economic history development economics agricultural economics and institutional economics The resulting volume is the latest in a set of four books about East Asian developmental experiences co sponsored by the Economic Institute of the World Bank and the Stanford Institute of Economic Policy Research It will appeal to economists and other social scientists with an interest in economic development history comparative systems and institutional economics The Philippines David Joel Steinberg, 2018-02-19 A unified nation with a single people the Philippines is also a highly fragmented plural society Divided between uplander and lowlander rich and poor Christian and Muslim between those of one ethnic linguistic and geographic region and those of another the nation is a complex mosaic formed by conflicting forces of consensus and national identity and of division and instability It is not possible to comprehend the many changes in the Philippines such as the rise and fall of Ferdinand Marcos or the revolution that toppled him without an awareness of the religious cultural and economic forces that have shaped the history of these islands These forces formed the focus of the first edition of The Philippines Of that 1982 edition the late Benigno Aquino Jr noted that anyone wanting to understand the Philippines and the Filipinos today must include this book in his must reading list The fourth edition has been updated through the final years of the Ramos presidency and contains a new section on the impact of President Estrada Property Rights and Economic Development Toon van Meijl, Franz von Benda-Beckham, 2012-11-12 First Published in 1999 This book provides a critical analysis of the widespread assumption that the formalisation and standardisation of property rights through state legislation has a positive impact on economic development It is based on anthropological case studies of land and natural resource rights in Southeast Asia and Oceania These suggest that the economic impact of the formalisation of property rights is not necessarily positive certainly not for all categories of peoples They also suggest that state reform of property rights do not necessarily eliminate the conditions of legal pluralism but rather add new legal structures to an already complex constellation of property rights and duties The point of departure for the empirical analyses of the central hypothesis examined in this book is that the practical significance of complex forms of property rights and related socio economic practices cannot be usefully examined within formalistic one dimensional and normatively oriented legalistic or economic approaches Instead an anthropological approach to law is advocated in order to analyse the complicated multi dimensional relationships between property rights and economic development and their embeddedness in social practice Based on this approach the contributions to this book show how different people and institutions attribute different meanings to the various components of property relationships and how they use them as resources in their everyday lives and social struggles Landlessness and Hired Labour in Philippine Rice Farms Filomeno V. Aguilar, 1981 Research paper on agricultural employment of landless agricultural workers on rice farms in the Philippines Examines historical genesis of tenancy and landlessness since the 16th century effects of the green revolution population growth and uneven industrialization land settlement and reduction in farm size disintegration of subsistence farming etc and studies work organization land reform and trends 1967 1974 in agricultural incomes unemployment and underemployment as well as nonfarm employment Everyday Forms of Peasant Resistance James C. Scott, Benedict J. Kerkvliet, 2013-12-19 First published in 1987 This is volume 9 of the library of peasant studies series The contributors focus on a vast and relatively unexplored middle ground of peasant politics between passivity and open collective defiance The general rubric for these phenomena is everyday resistance a term that is self consciously homely Understanding the Developing World Hiroichi Yamaguchi, Hiroshi Satō, 1996 Collects the research interest by a study group at the Institute of Developing Economies IDE in the field of area studies Solidarity , 1976
