Global Institutions And Development:

Global Institutions and Development Morten Bøås, Desmond McNeill, 2004 Examines the concepts that have powerfully influenced development policy and more broadly looks at the role of ideas in international development institutions and how they have affected current development discourse

Global Institutions and Development Morten Boas, Desmond McNeill, 2004-03 Examines the concepts that have powerfully influenced development policy and more broadly looks at the role of ideas in international development institutions and how they have affected current development discourse Global Institutions, Marginalization, and Development Craig Murphy, 2005 Craig Murphy's groundbreaking book examines the measures that global institutions have taken assesses the limited success of global governance and provides a coruscating expose of its failures Global Governance and Development José Antonio Ocampo, 2016-07-01 As the world becomes increasingly globalized the need for governments to continually cooperate to achieve global objectives has become irreversible This book looks critically at global governance structures in the economic and social field in order to understand what has been done and what can be done better A close look at the United Nations relationship with development cooperation and the provision of global public goods provides a thorough understanding of the current status of the world's premier global governance structure Additionally analyses of official development assistance and the role of multilateral development banks cast a wider net to demonstrate the growing need for global cooperation and development beyond the borders of the UN These six chapters have been written at a pivotal moment in global governance initiatives when the Post 2015 UN Development Agenda is drawing international development into a new era As this new agenda shifts the future of global development initiatives and increasingly relies on civil society non state actors and regional and local governments to fulfil the sustainable development goals how will international cooperation and development institutions be changed And how can we make sure that these initiatives and institutions are innovating for the better Human Development and Global Institutions Richard Ponzio, Arunabha Ghosh, 2016-02-05 This book provides a timely and accessible introduction to the foundational ideas associated with the human development school of thought It examines its conceptual evolution during the post colonial era and discusses how various institutions of the UN system have tried to engage with this issue both in terms of intellectual and technical advance and operationally Showing that human development has had a profound impact on shaping the policy agenda and programming priorities of global institutions it argues that human development has helped to preserve the continued vitality of major multilateral development programs funds and agencies It also details how human development faces new risks and threats caused by political economic social and environmental forces which are highlighted in a series of engaging case studies on trade water energy the environment democracy human rights and peacebuilding The book also makes the case for why human development remains relevant in an increasingly globalized world while asking whether global institutions will be able to sustain political and moral support from their member states and powerful non state actors It argues that fresh new perspectives on human development are now urgently needed to fill critical gaps across borders and entire regions A positive forward looking agenda for the future of global governance would have to engage with new issues such as the Sustainable Development Goals energy transitions resource scarcity and expansion of democratic governance within and between nations Redefining the overall nature and specific characteristics of what constitutes human progress in an increasingly integrated and interdependent world this book serves as a primer for scholars and graduate students of international relations and development It is also relevant to scholars of economics political science history sociology and women s studies

Human Development and Global Institutions Richard Ponzio, Arunabha Ghosh, 2016 The purpose of the book is to examine the conceptual evolution of social development during the post colonial era and to see how various institutions of the UN system have tried to engage with this issue both in terms of intellectual and technical advance and operationally The book examines this through a series of engaging case studies humanitarian enterprise hunger and malnutrition disease education and water resources
