Gut Reactions A Perceptual Theory Of Emotion:

Gut Reactions Jesse J. Prinz, 2004-08-12 Gut Reactions is an interdisciplinary defense of the claim that emotions are perceptions in a double sense First of all they are perceptions of changes in the body but through the body they also allow us to literally perceive danger loss and other matters of concern This proposal which Prinz calls the embodied appraisal theory reconciles the long standing debate between those who say emotions are cognitive and those who say they are noncognitive The basic idea behind embodied appraisals is captured in the familiar notion of a gut reaction which has been overlooked by much emotion research Prinz also addresses emotional valence emotional consciousness and the debate between evolutionary psychologists and social constructionists Autonomy, Oppression, and Gender Andrea Veltman, Mark Piper, 2014-07-14 This collection of new essays examines philosophical issues at the intersection of feminism and autonomy studies Are autonomy and independence useful goals for women and subordinate persons Is autonomy possible in contexts of social subordination Is the pursuit of desires that issue from patriarchal norms consistent with autonomous agency How do emotions and caring relate to autonomous deliberation Contributors to this collection answer these questions and others advancing central debates in autonomy theory by examining basic components normative commitments and applications of conceptions of autonomy Several chapters look at the conditions necessary for autonomous agency and at the role that values and norms such as independence equality inclusivity self respect care and femininity play in feminist theories of autonomy Whereas some contributing authors focus on dimensions of autonomy that are internal to the mind such as deliberative reflection desires cares emotions self identities and feelings of self worth several authors address social conditions and practices that support or stifle autonomous agency often answering questions of practical import These include such questions as What type of gender socialization best supports autonomous agency and feminist goals When does adapting to severely oppressive circumstances such as those in human trafficking turn into a loss of autonomy How are ideals of autonomy affected by capitalism and How do conceptions of autonomy inform issues in bioethics such as end of life decisions or rights to bodily self determination Cognition and Emotion Jan de Houwer, Dirk Hermans, 2010-05-09 This book assembles a collection of state of the art reviews of the most important topics in cognition and emotion research emotion theories the perception and expression of emotion emotion regulation emotion and memory and emotion and attention

Emotion and Value Sabine Roeser, Cain Todd, 2014-11-06 This volume brings together new work by leading philosophers on the topics of emotion and value and explores issues at their intersection Philosophers and psychologists working on the emotions have reached something of a consensus about the complex inter related nature of the affective and cognitive components of emotions and have increasingly focussed on the important epistemological role that emotions play in giving us access to values At the same time an increasing number of philosophers have become attracted to analyses of value that give emotions a prominent place in evaluative judgements and experiences The work undertaken in each of these areas has important implications for current research on topics such as the role that emotions play in practical rationality and moral psychology the connection between imagination and emotion in the appreciation of fiction and more generally with the ability of emotions to discern axiological saliences and to ground or fail to ground the objectivity of ethical or aesthetic value judgements This volume makes a unique contribution to scholarship on emotion and value by bringing together top authors from these lines of research In addition the volume contains a number of contributions that explore various links between the emotions and self understanding touching on a range of themes that include depression empathy agency guilt and self trust All of these issues are approached from a number of different perspectives in order to present the reader with a wide view of this extremely rich terrain and to demonstrate how the latest thinking in a number of currently intensive areas of research is deeply interconnected Philosophies of Gratitude Ashraf H. A. Rushdy, 2020 Ashraf H A Rushdy examines gratitude as a philosophical concept In the first half of the book he outlines its history and significance in western philosophical history specifically in classical antiquity the early modern era and the Enlightenment The second half of the book is focused on contemporary meanings of gratitude as a sentiment action and disposition how we feel grateful act grateful and cultivate grateful being Rushdy argues that gratitude is a virtue that we practice in moral recognition of our dependency and connectedness with our families friends communities environments and universe

Rituals and Performances Axel Michaels, Christoph Wulf, 2020-11-29 Challenging the idea that rituals are static and emotions irrational the volume explores the manifold qualities of emotions in ritual practices Focusing explicitly on the relationship between emotions and rituals it poses two central questions First how and to what extent do emotions shape rituals Second in what way are emotions ritualized in and beyond rituals Strong emotions are generally considered to be more spontaneous and uncontrolled whereas ritual behaviour is regarded as planned formalized and stereotyped and hence less emotional However as the volume demonstrates rituals often reveal strong emotions among participants are motivated by feelings or are intended to generate them The essays discuss the motivation for rituals the healing function of emotions the creation of new emotions through new media the aspect of mimesis in the generation of feelings individual collective and non human emotions the importance of trance and possession staged emotions and emotions on stage emotions in the context of martyrdom emotions in Indian and Western dance traditions emotions of love sorrow fear aggression and devotion Furthermore aesthetic and sensory dimensions as well as emic concepts of emotions in rituals are underscored as relevant in understanding social practice The Feeling of Forgetting John Corrigan, 2023-07-06 A provocative examination of how religious practices of forgetting drive white Christian nationalism The dual traumas of colonialism and slavery are still felt by Native Americans and African Americans as victims of ongoing violence toward people of color today In The Feeling of Forgetting John Corrigan calls attention to the trauma experienced by white Americans as perpetrators of this violence By tracing memory's role in American Christianity Corrigan shows how contemporary white Christian nationalism is motivated by a widespread effort to forget the role race plays in American society White trauma Corrigan argues courses through American culture like an underground river that sometimes bursts forth into brutality terrorism and insurrection Tracing the river to its source is a necessary first step toward healing

Moral Psychology and Human Agency Justin D'Arms, Daniel Jacobson, 2014 This volume examines the implications of developments in the science of ethics for philosophical theorizing about moral psychology and human agency These ten new essays in empirically informed philosophy illuminate such topics as responsibility the self and the role in morality of mental states such as desire emotion and moral judgement

Fact and Value in Emotion Louis C. Charland, Peter Zachar, 2008-03-06 There is a large amount of scientific work on emotion in psychology neuroscience biology physiology and psychiatry which assumes that it is possible to study emotions and other affective states objectively Emotion science of this sort is concerned primarily with facts and not values with description not prescription The assumption behind this vision of emotion science is that it is possible to distinguish factual from evaluative aspects of affectivity and emotion and study one without the other But what really is the basis for distinguishing fact and value in emotion and affectivity And can the distinction withstand careful scientific and philosophical scrutiny The essays in this collection all suggest that the problems behind this vision of emotion science may be more complex than is commonly supposed

Thinking about the Emotions Alix Cohen, Robert Stern, 2017 Leading philosophers offer a rich survey of the development of our understanding of the emotions discussing major thinkers from antiquity to the 20th century Thinking about the Emotions is a fascinating and illuminating study of how philosophers have grappled with this intriguing part of our nature as beings who feel as well as think and act

Feeling Together and Caring with One Another Héctor Andrés Sánchez Guerrero, 2016-07-07 This book examines the human ability to participate in moments of joint feeling It presents an answer to the question concerning the nature of our faculty to share in what might be called episodes of collective affective intentionality The proposal develops the claim that our capacity to participate in such episodes is grounded in an ability central to our human condition our capacity to care with one another about certain things The author provides a phenomenologically adequate account of collective affective intentionality that takes seriously the idea that feelings are at the core of our emotional relation to the world He details a form of group emotional orientation that relies on the fact that the participating individuals have come to share a number of concerns Readers will learn that at the heart of a collective affective intentional episode one does not merely find a set of shared concerns but also a particular mode of caring In the end the argument presented in this monograph makes plausible the idea that the emotions through which humans participate in moments of affective intentional community express our nature In addition it shows that the debate on collective affective intentionality also permits us to better understand the relationship between two conflicting philosophical pictures of ourselves the idea that we are essentially social beings and the claim that we are creatures for whom our personal existence is an issue Thus aiming at an elucidation of the nature of our ability to feel together the book offers a detailed account of what it is to situationally express our human nature by caring about something in a properly joint manner
