Ha A Self Murder Mystery:

Ha! Gordon Sheppard, 2006-04 On 15 March 1977 with his wife's consent celebrated writer and former terrorist Hubert Aquin blew his brains out on the grounds of a Montreal convent school Shocked by this self murder a filmmaker friend feels compelled to understand why Aquin killed himself and discovers at the heart of the tragedy an unforgettable love story A documentary fiction a category which includes In Cold Blood and The Executioner's Song HA is a seminal work that reinvents the audio visual revolution of the last century Interweaving photographs documents and images with testimony from Aquin's friends and contemporaries Aquin himself and the writers and artists who influenced him this intriguing novel takes the reader on a Joycean tour of a metropolis in the midst of political and cultural turmoil The Futures of the Present: New Directions in (American) Literature Danuta Fjellestad, David Watson, 2018-04-19 It has become a critical commonplace that postmodernism no longer serves as an adequate designation for contemporary literature But what comes after postmodernism What are the tendencies and directions within contemporary American literature that promise to shape its future The contributions to this book are written in the shadows of new media a turn towards the nonhuman in critical thinking and a surge in environmental and apocalyptic thought Engaging with such contemporary debates the authors map the rapidly changing ecosystem of contemporary literary genres and forms and attend to transformations in the production reception and circulation of books This book takes for granted that American literature does have a future although whatever this future holds it is unlikely to be what we expect At this historical juncture the American novel seems to carve its future though an engagement with issues at the forefront of our present thereby ensuring its own ongoing contemporaneity This book was originally published as a special issue of Studia Neophilologica The Experimental Book Object Sami Sjöberg, Mikko Keskinen, Arja Karhumaa, 2023-11-30 The Experimental Book Object shows why and how books matter in the 21st century Digital and audio platforms are commonplace and other fields of art beyond literature have increasingly embraced books and publication as their medium of choice Nevertheless the manifold book object persists and continues to inspire various types of experimentation This volume sets forth an unprecedented approach where literary and media theory are entangled with design practitioners artistic research and process descriptions By probing the paradigm of the codex this collection of essays focuses on historical and contemporary experimentation that has challenged what books are and could be from the perspectives of materiality mediation and visual and typographic design Investigations into less studied areas and cases of performativity demonstrate what experimental books do by interacting with their systemic and cultural environments The volume offers a multifaceted and multidisciplinary view of the book object the book design and publishing processes and their significance in the digital age Literary Impostors Rosmarin Heidenreich, 2018-07-30 In the first half of the twentieth century a number of Canadian authors were revealed to have faked the identities that made them famous What is extraordinary about these writers is that they actually became in everyday life characters they had themselves invented Many of their works were simultaneously fictional and autobiographical reflecting the duality of their identities In Literary Impostors Rosmarin Heidenreich tells the intriguing stories both the true and the fabricated versions of six Canadian authors who obliterated their pasts and re invented themselves Grey Owl was in fact an Englishman named Archie Belaney Will James the cowboy writer from the American West was the Quebec born francophone Ernest Dufault the prairie novelist Frederick Philip Grove turned out to be the German writer and translator Felix Paul Greve Chief Buffalo Child Long Lance Onoto Watanna and Sui Sin Far were the chosen identities of three mixed race writers whose given names were respectively Sylvester Long Winnifred Eaton and Edith Eaton Heidenreich argues that their imposture in some cases not discovered until long after their deaths was not fraudulent in the usual sense these writers forged new identities to become who they felt they really were In an age of proliferating cyber identities and controversial claims to ancestry Literary Impostors raises timely questions involving race migrancy and gender to illustrate the porousness of the line that is often drawn between an author s biography and the fiction he or she produces

Arthur Conan Doyle, Arthur Reeve, Edgar Allan Poe, Anton Chekov, Wilkie Collins, Thomas Hanshew, 2017-12-02 The honour of founding the modern detective story belongs to an American writer. Such tales as The Purloined Letter and The Murders in the Rue Morgue still stand unrivalled. We in America no more than the world of letters at large did not readily realize what Poe had done when he created Auguste Dupin, the prototype of Sherlock Holmes. Up to the present hour, on Poe's work is built the whole school of French detective story writers. Conan Doyle derived his inspiration from them in turn, and our American writers of today are helped from both French and English sources. It is rare enough to find the detective in fiction even today, however, who is not lacking in one supreme quality: scientific imagination. Auguste Dupin had it. Dickens had he lived a short time longer might have turned his genius in this direction. The last thing he wrote was The Mystery of Edwin Drood, the mystery of which is still unravelled. I have heard the opinion expressed by an eminent living writer that had Dickens' life been prolonged he would probably have become the greatest master of the detective story except Poe.
