Our Broad Present Hans Ulrich Gumbrecht, 2014-05-27

Considering a range of present day phenomena from the immediacy effects of literature to the impact of hypercommunication globalization and sports Hans Ulrich Gumbrecht notes an important shift in our relationship to history and the passage of time Although we continue to use concepts inherited from a historicist viewpoint a notion of time articulated in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries the actual construction of time in which we live in today which shapes our perceptions experiences and actions is no longer historicist Without fully realizing it we now inhabit a new unnamed space in which the closed future and ever available past a past we have not managed to leave behind converge to produce an ever broadening present of simultaneities This profound change to a key dimension of our existence has complex consequences for the way in which we think about ourselves and our relation to the material world At the same time the ubiquity of digital media has eliminated our tactile sense of physical space altering our perception of our world Gumbrecht draws on his mastery of the philosophy of language to enrich his everyday observations traveling to Disneyland a small town in Louisiana and the center of Vienna to produce striking sketches of our broad presence in the world
