The Globalized City Frank Moulaert, Arantxa Rodríguez, Erik Swyngedouw, 2003-03-27 This book explores the dynamics that have accompanied the implementation of large scale Urban Development Projects UDPs in nine European cities within the European Union EU It contributes to the analysis of the relationship between urban restructuring and social exclusion integration in the context of the emergence of the European wide new regimes of urban governance These regimes reflect the reawakening of neo liberal policy and the rise of a New Urban Policy favouring private investments and deregulation of property and labour markets The selected UDPs further reflect global pressures and changing systems of local regional and or national regulation and governance These projects while being decidedly local capture global trends and new national and local policies as they are expressed in particular institutional forms and strategic practices The large scale urban interventions were deliberately chosen as reflections of a particular hegemonic and dominant expression of urban policy as pursued during the 1990s The book provides a panoramic view of urban change in some of Europe s greatest cities The nine case studies include The Europeanization of Brussels The Guggenheim museum in Bilbao the new financial district in Dublin the science university technology complex Adlershof in Berlin the 1998 World Expo in Lisbon Athens s bid to stage the Olympic Games Vienna s Donau City Copenhagen s Oresund project and Naples new business district These case studies testify to the unshakable belief the city elites hold in the healing effects that the production of new urban mega projects and events has on their city s vitality and development potential The book also analyses the down side of this development in terms of social exclusion the formation of new urban elites and the consolidation of less democratic forms of urban governance The principal aim is to show how the production of these new urban spaces is actually also part of the production of a new polity a new economy and new forms of living urban life that are not very promising for a socially harmonious and just future for metropolitan urban Europe

The Making of Global City Regions Klaus Segbers, Simon Raiser, Krister Volkmann, 2007 Publisher description

Globalization and Urban Implosion Remo Dalla Longa, 2009-12-03 In the past twenty years globalization has rendered many economic and social urban functions obsolete Large cities face a form of implosion which necessitates a rethinking of both contents and containers This book will mainly concentrate on the latter aspect Thus the need to replace old functions with new ones is clear especially within complex urban areas where the connections between public and private assets are strongest In this context new forms of urban models Public Private Partnerships tools and drivers various decision makers who have to operate within complex urban areas have to be considered Hence the creation or destruction of values depends on how new functions replace old ones This also explains new and important forms of competitive advantage among large globalized cities This book presents a model of complex urban interventions Based on a literature review the model integrates different forms of Public Private Partnerships PPPs new tools and instruments associated with governance issues challenges and new profiles of public drivers By analyzing a number of European urban centers this book illustrates the implementation of the general model in specific case studies and furthermore shows the essential differences between post socialist and Western cities Can Neighbourhoods Save the City? Frank Moulaert,Erik Swyngedouw,Flavia Martinelli,Sara Gonzalez,2010-07-12 For decades neighbourhoods been pivotal sites of social economic and political exclusion processes and civil society initiatives attempting bottom up strategies of re development and regeneration In many cases these efforts resulted in the creation of socially innovative organizations seeking to satisfy the basic human needs of deprived population groups to increase their political capabilities and to improve social interaction both internally and between the local communities the wider urban society and political world SINGOCOM Social INnovation GOVERNance and COMmunity building is the acronym of the EU funded project on which this book is based Sixteen case studies of socially innovative initiatives at the neighbourhood level were carried out in nine European cities of which ten are analysed in depth and presented here The book compares these efforts and their results and shows how grass roots initiatives alternative local movements and self organizing urban collectives are reshaping the urban scene in dynamic creative innovative and empowering ways It argues that such grass roots initiatives are vital for generating a socially cohesive urban condition that exists alongside the official state organized forms of urban governance The book is thus a major contribution to socio political literature as it seeks to overcome the duality between community development studies and strategies and the solidarity based making of a diverse society based upon the recognising and maintaining of citizenship rights It will be of particular interest to both students and researchers in the fields of urban studies social geography and political science Many Urbanisms Martin J. Murray,2022-02-15 Winner 2023 Choice Outstanding Academic Title Now for the first time in history the majority of the world s population lives in cities But urbanization is accelerating in some places and slowing down in others The sprawling megacities of Asia and Africa as well as many other smaller and medium sized cities throughout the Global South are expected to continue growing At the same time older industrial cities in wealthier countries are experiencing protracted socioeconomic decline Nonetheless mainstream urban studies continues to treat a handful of superstar cities in Europe and North America as the exemplars of world urbanism even though current global growth and development represent a dramatic break with past patterns Martin J Murray offers a groundbreaking guide to the multiplicity heterogeneity and complexity of contemporary global urbanism He identifies and traces four distinct pathways that characterize cities today tourist entertainment cities with world class aspirations struggling postindustrial cities megacities experiencing hypergrowth and instant cities or master planned cities built from scratch Murray shows how these different types of cities respond to different pressures and logics rather than progressing through the stages of a predetermined linear path He highlights new spatial patterns of urbanization that have undermined conventional understandings of the city exploring the emergence of polycentric fragmented haphazard and unbounded metropolises Such cities he argues should not be seen as deviations from a norm but rather as alternatives within a constellation of urban possibility Innovative and wide ranging Many Urbanisms offers ways to understand the disparate forms of global cities today on their own terms

Amsterdam Zuidas European Space W. G. M. Salet, 2005 Until the beginning of the nineties the centre of Amsterdam was regarded as the obvious nucleus of urban and regional economic activity But since then issues of accessibility and scale have induced the development of multi nodal spatial networks on a regional scale In ten years time the spatial and economic configuration of the region has changed dramatically The development of the Zuidas in the coming thirty years offers a strategic chance to furnish this regionalization of urbanity with a new more appealing structure After all the Zuidas is not only emerging as a business centre of international significance its favourable position in the traffic and transport system provides it with optimum conditions for evolution into a varied urban centre environment

Environment and the City Joe Ravetz, Clive George, Joe Howe, 2004-07-15 For the first time at the beginning of the twenty first century urban dwellers outnumber rural residents and this trend is set to continue Consequently one of the most pressing issues of our time is how to square the social and economic development of cities with their environmental limits and those of the wider environment The theme of the environment and city is topical at every level from the politics of global trade to local community networks Environment and the City looks at the evolution of cities in the developed and the developing world and the implications for resource consumption and environmental impacts It takes a cross cutting approach with new thinking on multiple geographies the configuration of networks exclusion consumption risk and ecological footprint Urban environmental themes and their related social economic and political agendas are outlined In turn the environmental impacts and environmental agendas relating to key sectors of the urban economy are discussed The global context to such issues is then explored before the practical tools and methods of urban environmental management are investigated The theme of the sustainable city emerges from this not so much as a standard menu but as a learning process between all sections of society This book a valuable resource provides a concise accessible route map for all students interested in the environmental issues emanating from our urban society Written to aid student understanding the easily navigable text features boxed practical examples discussion points signposts to reading and websites and a glossary

Implosion Creating New Competitive Advantage by the same author serve as points of reference Debating the Neoliberal City Gilles Pinson,Christelle Morel Journal,2017-04-21 The concept of the neoliberal city has become a key structuring analytical framework in the field of urban studies It explains both the ongoing transformation of urban policies and the socio spatial effects of these policies within cities and highlights the prominent role of cities in the new geography of capitalism Bringing together a team of leading scholars this book challenges the neoliberal city thesis It argues that the definition of neoliberalization may be more complex than it seems resulting in over simplified explanations of some processes such as the rise of metropolitan governments or the importance given to urban economic development policies or gentrification As a structuralist and macro level theory the neoliberal city does not shed light upon micro level processes or identify and analyze actors logics and practices Finally the concept is profoundly influenced by the historical trajectories of the United Kingdom and the United States and the generalization of this experience to other contexts often leads to a kind of academic ethnocentrism This book argues that on its own the current conceptualizations of neoliberalization are insufficient Instead it should be analyzed alongside other transformative processes in order to provide an analytical framework to explain the variety of processes of change motivations and justifications too easily labelled as urban neoliberalism This unique and critical contribution will be essential reading for students and scholars alike working in Human Geography Urban Studies Economics Sociology and Public Policy
